Designed to Control . . .

Communism at first may have been a plan to improve the living standards of the people but it has become a power structure designed to control them.

Communist governments would not be so tyrannical and aggressive were it not for one simple fact—millions of their people would like to escape their "economic paradise" and take their chances in one of the free countries.

This the Communist governments cannot allow, so they must operate police states that prevent this migration. The Berlin wall was a result. Another result is the present situation in Czechoslovakia. When the Czechs were eager for a little freedom and set up a government to provide that freedom, the Russians moved in with armor and soldiers. The result was worse in Hungary a few years ago. Communists have no

Bloomington, Luke Have Dirtiest Air

The largest amount of suspended particulate matter revealed in the Allegany County Air Pollution survey has been reported in the Luke-Bloomington area as shown in a preliminary tabulation from a year of sampling.

The central Cumberland area had about 80 percent as much atmospheric dust as the Upper Potomac River area.

Suspended particulate matter is dust, smoke and fumes, which float about in the air. Greater amounts of particulate matter occur during the colder months when use of coal, oil and gas for heating buildings is greatest.

Discussion Set In Oakland On Area Freeway

A public hearing will be held Friday, September 20, at 2 p. m., in Oakland to hear views of persons concerning the proposed National Freeway from Keyser Ridge to the West Virginia state line.

The hearing is planned for the Community room of the First National Bank, on Second street, in Oakland.

The Freeway project on which the hearing is set will total 19 miles from Keyser Ridge at U. S. route 40 to the West Virginia line. A map showing the location of the project is on exhibit at the State roads commission office near Cumberland.

Notice of the hearing was given by Walter J. Addison, deputy chief engineer. Planning and Safety division of the SRC. The section in this county would be a new route and would intersect in the Keyser Ridge area with U. S. route 219.

The tie-in with the West Virginia portion has been agreed upon and the roadway will eventually reach Morgantown. Envisaged in a Freeway running from Cincinnati to Baltimore which would open up a large area of the Appalachian region to eastern points.

Part of the Freeway is the Cumberland Thruway and U. S. route 40 eastward to Hancock where it ties in with interstate 70, also part of the National Freeway project.

Columnist To Speak At Wisp Event Tonight

Jack Anderson, author and columnist, will be the speaker at the first annual "Friends of Garrett County" dinner this evening at 7 o'clock at the Wisp Ski area.

The speaker for the $50 a plate dinner has, in conjunction with Columnist Drew Pearson, brought about convictions of tax violators and embezzlers. His evidence helped convict three congressmen of taking "kickbacks" and his legwork on the underworld was instrumental in persuading the Senate to authorize the late Sen. Estes Kefauver's investigation of the underworld.

In March, 1963, angry congressmen challenged him to appear at a hearing to back up charges he made in a magazine article, "Congressmen Who Cheat". Had he been permitted to give his complete testimony Congress would have heard the first details of one of Bobby Baker's back door deals.

Now 40 years old Mr. Anderson is a native of Long Beach, Calif. At age 18 he worked on the city desk of the Salt Lake City Tribune. Since then he has served as a full time missionary in the South and as a cadet officer in the Merchant Marine. He joined Mr. Pearson's staff in 1947 and is considered that columnist's "heir apparent".

Mr. Anderson also is Washington editor of "Parade" magazine and does syndicated TV news commentaries.

His appearance in Oakland is in conjunction with the Autumn Glory Turkey Festival Oct. 10 to 13. The dinner is sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council as a means of raising money to finance the various activities planned for the festival.

Anderson's topic will be "Behind the Scenes in Washington, Moscow and Saigon". A question and answer session will follow. He also plans to touch on problems of Appalachia.

Guests holding $50 tickets are able to purchase guest tickets for $5 for their wife or friend.

Sandy Douglass Is Tied For 1st Place

J., and Franklin Bloomer, of Riverside, Conn., each with 2 and three-fourth points, after the first two sets of races in the North American Flying Scot class championship regatta were sailed Tuesday on Long Sound off Riverside Yacht Club.

The first three events in the five race regatta are sectional matches, after which the leading scorers will sail two more races in the same division. The title will go for aggregate low points in all five races.

Each of the co-leaders won one race and was second Tuesday on 7 and one-half mile olympic courses in a puffy northwest wind that rose as high as 18 miles per hour.

Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
President—National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

Inflation can kill America. A nation on an inflation binge is like a man on an alcoholic or narcotic fling: a synethic element has been introduced into the bloodstream, making everything "rosy" — until the hangover hits. In most cases, those who have been "charged up" or "high" on the stimulant suffer through the headache, the body debilitation, the "bird-cage" mouth, and the remorse of the hangover. But some treat the hangover with "some of the hair of the dog that bit us" — in other words they take some more liquor or narcotic, and the hangover is postponed.

This is the way addicts are made. In time addicts must "kick the habit" or face a deteriorating life and miserable death. A nation that permits itself to become a chronic inflation addict face the same sad future. And when a nation doesn't "kick the habit" everybody in the nation must pay the heavy penalty. It can mean the wiping out of all monetary values, national bankruptcy, economic chaos for all. This brings us to the point: our national government is addicted to inflation, and unless the habit is "kicked", we all face a dreadful future.

The United States News & World Report says: "Politicians in the United States for years have seemed to favor the hidden tax of inflation over more direct kinds of taxes that voters can see and understand". It puts off the day of reckoning. Because it cheapens the purchasing power of the dollar, the Government collects more units of dollars, can spend more units, and "pump prime" the economy. And this fools many people, at least for a while.

Economists agree (but the politicians never mention the fact) that steady substantial inflation such as we've had in the U. S. in recent years hits hardest at the lower-income families, retired people living on fixed pensions and investment incomes, and the thirfty who have saved "for a rainy day" only to see their dollars shrink. But it endangers severely the prosperity of all.

Inflation's most disruptive penalty hits the blue-collar workers in industry. Their jobs are the first to go when inflated prices begin to dry up the foreign markets for American-made goods. That's why union and non-union wage earners should recognize that in their own best interest inflationary wage increases should be avoided. They add to the inflationary push set in motion by Government deficit spending and bad management of the business affairs of Government. They defeat their purpose because the wage increase is eaten up quickly by rising prices across the board.

So long as wage increases are primarily based on increased productivity of workers due to better machine tools and mass production techniques, they are non-inflationary, because the price of goods is not increased; the dollar will retain its power in buying the goods. This is one of the greatest of the values of the private ownership, competitive market economy: it raises the living standards of all by producing goods at constantly lower costs in man hours of labor and rewards the workers in ratio to his improving productivity per man hour.

Your Federal Income Tax

The Republican, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, Baltimore District, will publish each week in this column, tax information that will enable taxpayers to become more familiar with the Federal income tax laws.

Questions and Answers

Q. I've been audited several times, but none of my friends have been audited once. Am I on a blacklist or something?

A. No, you are not. Computers screen all returns and identify those with certain characteristics for examination.

When your return, or the returns filed by your friends are processed, the computers are prepared to look for certain characteristics. There is no "blacklist" used by IRS to identify returns for examination.

Q. Can I have tax withholding reduced when I reach 65?

A. Yes, persons 65 and over may claim an additional exemption for income tax withholding purposes. To do this fill out a new Form W-4, Employees Withholding Exemption Certificate, and give it to your employer. He will tell you when the change will go into effect.

Q. Our apartment was rifled by burglars while we were away on vacation. Since we do not have insurance, can we deduct our losses for tax purposes?

A. Yes, a deduction for a theft can be taken on your return. However, only the loss in excess of $100 can be deducted.

To establish a theft loss you must be able to :(1) show the date the theft was discovered; (2) show the property was stolen and not lost or mislaid; (3) establish ownership; (4) show evidence of the cost or other basis of the property; (5) show any amount taken or allowable for depreciation; and (6) show the amount of insurance or other compensation for the loss received or recoverable.

Q. My mother gave me title to her home as a present. Will any tax be involved?

A. Gifts are not taxable to the person receiving them. However, the person making the gift may be liable for gift tax if the value of the gifts to one person is more than $3,000 in any one year.

The gift tax law also allows each person to make a total of $30,000 in tax free gifts which may be spread over a period of years or used in any one year in addition to the $3,000 annual exclusion. Your mother may be entitled to use this provision of the law in the situation you describe.

Q. Do I have to do anything with the stubs I receive when I deposit income and social security taxes I take out of my employees' wages?

A. The stub you receive when you make a deposit through the Federal tax deposit system is for your records only. It should not be filed with your quarterly Form 941 return.

Q. The place where I eat lunch was closed recently for failing to pay taxes. Where do you get the authority to do something like that?

A. Congress has authorized various legal steps that can be taken when taxpayers do not meet their obligations. Drastic steps such as closing a business or levying on wages are taken only as a last resort after the taxpayer has repeatedly failed to make satisfactory arrangements to pay the tax.

Cases like the one you mentioned usually involve employers who fail to turn over to the Government the money they have withheld from their employee' wages for income and social security taxes.

Q. My son is working part-time in a gas station this summer. If he earns over $600 will we lose our exemption for him?

A. If he is under 19 at year end or is a full-time student his earnings will not affect your dependency exemption. However, the other dependency tests such as furnishing over half his support must still be met.

Remind your son to keep records of the money he earns. If his total earnings reach $600 he will have to file a tax return. If his earnings are less than that but taxes were withheld from his wages, he will have to file a return to obtain a refund.

Q. My wife and I just sold our house and plan to move into a retirement community. Is it true that people 65 and over don't have to pay tax on profits from homes sales?

A. There are special tax benefits for those 65 and over on the profits from the sale of their home. In some circumstances the entire profit may be tax-free while in others only a portion of the profit is taxable.

For details on these and other tax benefits, a free copy of Tax Benefits for Older Americans, Document No. 5569, may be obtained at your local IRS office.

Q. My store has a booth at the county fair. Is the cost for this deductible

A. Yes, expenses connected with a fair exhibit may be deducted as a business expense.

Q. My maid doesn't want me to report Social Security taxes on her wages. What should I do?

A. As her employer, you are legally responsible for paying the Social Security taxes due if you pay her cash wages of $50 or more in any calendar quarter.

Explain to your maid that unless these taxes are paid she will not be receiving proper credit toward benefits provided under Social Security.

Q. I just bought a power boat and the man who sold it to me said I get a refund of 2c on every gallon of gas I buy for it. Is that right?

A. Yes. A credit of two cents for each gallon of gasoline you use in operating a motor boat, airplane or power lawn mower may be taken when you file your income tax return.

WASHINGTON AND Small Business

BY C. WILSON HARDER

Jet Age Emancipation

The American public, just getting accustomed to female mailmen instead of all-male mailmen, may soon have to adjust to a new breed of airline stewardess.

The U. S. Equal Opportunity Commission has ruled that airlines cannot, under the Civil Rights Act of 1964, discriminate by sex in hiring personnel to serve passengers. They must hire qualified male applicants, the Commission said.

So just when mini-skirts and stylish wardrobes have become airline essentials and businessmen are avidly competing for aisle seats, a rude awakening is in store for the jet traveller.

The airlines unsuccessfully argued that sex should be an occupational qualification for the stewardess job, but the Commission said duties "can be satisfactorily performed by members of both sexes." The Commission obviously didn't listen to any testimony from businessmen.

The issue was brought up by four disgruntled young men who were denied jobs as cabin stewards. Presumably, they will be the first of a "new breed"—something like the first boys to enroll in a girls' school.

The Commission also has pending more than 100 complaints from stewardesses who claim airlines have special rules for them alone, such as compulsory retirement when they marry or reach a certain age.

A new Federal law banning discrimination because of age, in hiring or promotion, became effective June 12. So it looks like only a matter of time until the airlines must hire fatherly and matronly oldtimers to ask "Coffee, tea or milk?"

Airlines may be forced to change their policies and allow present stewardesses to stay on the job until they are grandmothers.

It is doubtful that any of the Congressmen who voted for either the Civil Rights Act or the Age Discrimination Act envisioned that it would come to this. Laws of such sweeping nature are interpreted and implemented by agencies, bureaus, boards and commissions of government in ways which often astound the legislators who wrote the laws.

Job emancipation has been a reality in the Post Office Department for several years now. Many of the female carriers complain that routes are too long and the bags too heavy and most don't like the uniform.

The Wall Street Journal says that some male mailmen complain that mailwomen use their wiles to con men into doing some of their chores. "They just don't carry their share of the load,'" said one male carrier, who explained that if he helps a woman lift a heavy bag of mail he usually ends up sorting half of it for her.

It's getting hard enough to tell the boys from the girls without the government adding to the confusion.

End Summer Jobs In Social Field

Deborah Durst

Christine E. Umstot

Two students completed on Tuesday their participation in "Summer Jobs in Social Work", provided by the Garrett County Department of Social Services, it was announced by Robert W. Stemple, director. They were Miss Deborah Durst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne H. Durst, Grantsville; and Miss Christine E. Umstot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Umstot, South Third street. Miss Durst is entering her senior year at Fairmont State College and Miss Umstot will be a senior at West Virginia Wesleyan. Last year James Stanton, Oakland, did work in the Child Welfare area of the local department.

The summer job program is in its second year in the local department. It is sponsored by the Greater Baltimore Area Health and Welfare council, with the purpose to give college students an opportunity to experience "on the job" social service work. Students are selected on the basis of expressed interest in the field and in allied fields of psychiatric and medical social work, in the hope the student may choose some branch of social services.

Some 140 students worked for eight weeks this summer in Maryland agencies. Besides three field trips in the Baltimore area the local students had a wide range of duties in the local department. Miss Durst was primarily assigned to work with families with dependent children. Miss Umstot was assigned to Child Welfare, with the latter in the field of adoption, foster care and protective services. Miss Durst generally worked with parents and children in their own homes.

Students had an opportunity to learn about the workings of the Juvenile Court, Community Action agency, Department of Health, Department of Juvenile Services. Miss Durst and Miss Umstot interviewed persons at the office as well as working in the field making home visits.

Both students plan to enter the social work field upon graduation next June. Miss Umstot plans to work in Allegany county. Miss Durst is planning to return to this county as a case worker.

Question

I get a rash on my feet when I wear a certain pair of shoes. Is it possible to be allergic to leather?

Answer

While it's possible to be allergic to leather, a sensitivity to shoes usually stems from the rubber cement used in the adhesives attaching the lining to the sole. This allergy is known as rubber dermatitis and affects only the soles of the feet. Leather dermatitis, on the other hand, usually appears on the top of the feet. In this case—as in all others—you'll do best to consult your doctor if this skin condition continues to be a problem.

To Conduct Unique Service Sunday

A unique observance of Labor Day Sunday will be conducted at the Sunday School service 9:45 a. m., for those attending the Mt. Lake Independent Baptist Church, 1005 Broadford Road, Mt. Lake Park. Those who are employed are requested to come in their "work uniform" or usual "work dress." Now this does not mean that a farmer has to bring a pitchfork or cow, anymore than a welder would bring his torch. This is one Sunday men will not wear a tie unless they do so at work, said Rev. E. H. Wilt. The ladies are also included in this observance.

Eleven persons recently baptized will also be officially welcomed into church membership during the morning worship service at 10:30 a. m. These include Mrs. Virginia Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Fike, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart, Billy and Vivian Fike, Martha McRobie, and Lee and Robin Shaffer.

Change In Disability Insurance Is Made

A change in the federal disability insurance program, included in the 1967 Amendments to the Social Security Act, reduces the work requirements for workers disabled before age 31, announced Edward G. Phelps, District Manager for the Social Security Administration in Cumberland.

Mr. Phelps explained that all workers disabled before age 31 will benefit from an alternative work credit requirement previously available only to those young workers whose disability was based on blindness.

To get disability benefits under the regular rule a worker needs social security credits in 5 out of the 10 years before becoming disabled.

Now, anyone becoming disabled between ages 24 and 31 needs credits for only half the time between age 21 and the onset of the disability. If the disability starts before age 24, work credits are needed for only 1 and one-half years in the 3 year period ending when the disability begins.

While the work credit requirements have been eased for younger workers, there is no change in the general definition of disability.

choice because they know that, as long as there are free countries to which their captive citizens can run, this problem will continue. It naturally follows, therefore, that every free nation is their enemy.

Communism can never relax its discipline over its peoples until every part of the world is equally unattractive, and there are no better places where their people may run. To accomplish this, Communism must cover the globe. Although world conquest is an unrealistic objective, the Communists have no choice but to try.

The Republican Party asked recently, "Have the Soviets really mellowed?"

GOP Presidential nominee, Richard M. Nixon, called the invasion of Czechoslovakia an "outrage against the conscience of the world". Said Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, "Once again, Red Russia has been exposed as an enemy of freedom and an enslaver of peoples". Rep. Bob Wilson, California, said the invasion "should serve as an object lesson to those who keep saying that Communism is mellowing".

Continued Wilson, "Those who know Communism know that force is its only ultimate course and that is why the U. S. has been forced to meet the Red threat in Vietnam".

Russia mellowing? That is a lot of baloney.

FHA Makes Small Loans Available

Some low-income rural families residing in Garrett County have increased buying power as a result of Federal Economic Opportunity Loans, according to William H. Poffenbarger, Farmers Home Administration local representative. Mr. Poffenbarger said that the borrowers have used the loans to develop small businesses and improve their farming operation.

The opportunity loans are part of the Federal anti-poverty program which Congress enacted a few years ago. The loan program is administered by the Farmers Home Administration for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Low-income rural people, through the local Farmers Home Administration office, may receive loans up to $3,500 to develop income producing business or to enlarge their farming operation. Borrowers may take up to 15 years to repay the loan. In all cases, Poffenbarger added, the enterprise whether it's farming or business, must have a reasonable chance of success. Throughout the State, Economic opportunity loans have been made for such non-farm enterprises as pulpwood cutting, commercial photography, barber shops carpentry and painting, and other types of small businesses. In addition to loans to individuals, a loan to establish a small cooperative wherein three or four or more rural people can market their products or perform service together, is possible under this loan program.

Applications for loans are made through the Farmers Home Administration office on U. S. Route 219 North, Oakland.

Lots of things can hang you up if you still dry clothes the old fashioned way. Like rain, snow, kids, pets, dust and dirt. But a flameless electric dryer dries beautifully any time, gently tossing out wrinkles to eliminate ironing. It's perfect for permanent press. Electric drying is economical, too. Plans And Reality...

"There will, of course be a certain number of relief cases where work will not furnish that answer, but it is my thought that in these cases all of the relief expenditures should once more be borne by the states and localities as they used to be".

No, that is not Governor Reagan speaking. Nor were those lines penned by Barry Goldwater. The quotation is from a letter that Franklin D. Roosevelt wrote to Colonel Edward M. House on November 27, 1934.

The lessons of history, he continued, "confirmed by the evidence immediately before me, show conclusively that continued dependence upon relief induces a moral and spiritual disintegration fundamentally destructive to the national fibre".

Still later, in a message to Congress in 1935, President Roosevelt declared: "The Federal Government must and shall quit this business of relief . . To dole out relief in this way is to administer a narcotic, a subtle destroyer of the human spirit".

Congress passed the Social Security Act on August 14, 1935. The original act levied, "in addition to other taxes" and "income tax" of one percent for each of three years beginning in 1937 on the first $3,000 of the employee's income. The tax rate was increased one-half of one percent each three years, and was fixed at three percent after 1948. Equal amounts for each employee, designated "an excise tax", were required to be paid by the employer. "The taxes imposed by this title shall be collected by the Bureau of Internal Revenue . . . and shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States as internal revenue collections".

Those were the provisions of the original act. Section 1104 provided: "The right to alter, amend, or repeal any provision of this Act is hereby reserved to the Congress". Many amendments and alternative have been made, seemingly in election years, and pricipally in the direction of increasing the number of "covered employees", and increasing payments in not-too-successful efforts to keep pace with inflation.

Presently, the tax rate for both employer and employee is 4.4 percent on the first $7,800 of pay—schedules to increase to 5.9 percent for 1987 and after.

Such is the law, and a brief record of growth.

It hasn't abolished the relief roles. They are still growing And FDR was probably right about the evils that ensue. —U. S. Press Association, Inc.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Counter - Movement To Anarchy

Ever since the Franklin Roosevelt era, with the exception of the Eisenhower years when a war hero won the Presidency, American political life has been dominated by a powerful coalition of union chiefs, minority bloc voters and radical elements drawn from the universities. Time and again it has been a winning combination. While basically unrepresentative of the nation as a whole, it nevertheless has been able to capture the White House and many state houses as well.

This year, however, a new coalition seems to be emerging. The successive waves of riots in urban centers, agitation by Vietniks, the spread of civil disobedience resulting in widespread anarchy — all have produced a strong reaction among responsible citizens who know that the nation must have law and order to achieve further progress.

The counter-movement to anarchy is a true grassroots movement. Americans have had to put up with many humiliating reverses at home and abroad. The Johnson administration's "no-win" policy in Vietnam has angered great numbers of citizens who believe that victory always should be the American goal when war breaks out. There also is intense bitterness that the humiliation of the United States should reach the point where little North Korea would dare snatch an American warship off the high seas and hold its crew prisoner. At home, the American people have seen their capital invaded by an army of vagrants and thugs who were allowed by the Johnson administration to establish an encampment on the banks of the Potomac. Other good citizens are outraged at the chaos on the campus and at the entrenchment of leftists in college and university faculties. Still others are alarmed at the decline of the U. S. dollar as result of the inflationary spending policies of the "liberal" regime in charge in Washington.

Property owners across the nation are shocked and furious that in many communities police have not been allowed to shoot looters and arsonists and that the Attorney General of the United States, Ramsey Clark, seems more interested in giving privileges to disorderly elements than he is in helping create a climate of law and order in the nation.

In short, great numbers of Americans have had enough. They don't want the Great Society's ruinous policies continued under a successor administration. They are properly concerned that a new defeatist administration dominated by "liberals" will abandon the cold war struggle against communist tyranny and thereby lead the United States to disaster.

Out of this widening public concern has come the countermovement of responsible Americans manifesting determination that realistic, forceful policies prevail in the next four years. At the heart of the new, emerging political coalition are the two principal streams of American conservatism — the conservatism of the South and the West. What is most significant, however, is that the countermovement is strongly attracting the industrial working people of the North and the small businessmen of that region. For the first time in decades, the northern industrial worker is rejecting sterotyped "liberal" ideas. They see their neighborhood and their local schools threatened with ruin by anarchists in the street and by social reconstructionists in the White House and the universities who want to shatter established patterns of living.

The industrial worker, who has scored great economic gains through the growth of U. S. free enterprise, suddenly realizes that these gains will be taken away if militant leftists have their way in refashioning American society along radical lines. They know that American cities can't be improved by subjecting the suburbs to a new form of compulsory association or by agreeing to permissiveness in handling of protestors. "Law and order" is a theme that touches the deepest concerns of the average American in all parts of the country, South and North, East and West. That's why the new political coalition is forming. Once established, it should result in a new orientation of American life and politics and, in the process, save the Republic.

To be sure, the "liberals" want to kill the new coalition in its cradle. It already is apparent they will resort to smear tactics against the leaders who stand for domestic tranquility and victory in Vietnam. What is imperative, therefore, is that the "stay at home" conservative vote turn out for once and give the American government back to the American people in November.

Teachers' Group Honors New Supt. At Dinner Meeting

A dinner honoring Dr. Raymond O. McCullough, superintendent of Garrett County Schools, and Board of Education members was held by the executive board and committee chairmen of the Garrett County Teachers' Association at Cornish Manor, Tuesday evening, August 27.

In addition to Dr. McCullough, other guests were George D. Edwards, president of the Board of Education; Clinton W. Englander, vice-president; and Mrs. Diane Thayer, associate member.

Following the dinner, Richard Travis, President of the Garrett County Teachers' Association, enumerated various problems confronting teachers not only in Garrett County, but throughout the United States. Mr. Travis and his wife Delaine attended the NEA Convention in Dallas, Tex., as delegates of the Maryland and County Teachers' Associations and heard these problems discussed, originally.

In addition to problems discussed at the NEA Convention, Mr. Travis explained the specific problems concerning education in this County, emphasizing teacher welfare, desire for increased communication, cooperation, and understanding between teachers and administration.

A question and answer period ended the meeting:

Other GCTA officers present were Wayne Johnson, First Vice President; Lawrence M. Myers, second vice president; Mrs. Joan Lambert, secretary; and Earl Savage, treasurer.

Commiteee chairmen attending were Foster A. Riggs, legislative; Eugene Flinn, welfare; Miss Pat Filsinger, social; Carl Everly, professional negotiations; Ralph Buckel, auditing; Mrs. Ethel Boltz, membership; Mrs. Delaine Travis, nominating; Kenneth Keplinger, constitutional revision; Mrs. Mary Riggs, budget; Miss Martha DeBerry, Future Teachers of America; and Darrell Malone, parliamentarian.

Land Ho!...

Land Ho. The promised land is in sight. The Great Society has arrived.

Some months ago, a certain Miss Juanita Sith, 24, an unwed mother of five children, moved to Philadelphia from Delaware. She applied for relief, and was told that Pennsylvania required a year of residence. This displeased her. She brought suit and a three-judge court then ordered the Pennsylvania Department of Public Welfare to pay her. Thereupon the State called upon Justice William J. Brennan Jr., who has jurisdiction over Federal courts in Pennsylvania, to delay the effect of the ruling pending an appeal to the Supreme Court. The jurist denied the plea. Without comment.

More recently, the US Supreme Court has sanctioned "free love". The Court ruled that a woman and her lover of the moment may engage in a continuing affair without fear of losing the Aid to Dependent Children payments.

Now, it appears, no fevered female needs worry about getting carried away some day and marrying the man of the moment. Another judge has opened a third gate. In Brooklyn, New York, a Supreme Court Justice has ruled that the city must pay all expenses involved in procuring a divorce.

In New York State, a necessary step in procuring a divorce is the publication of legal notices. That's expensive business. A woman who could not afford to pay for such legal notices applied to the City Finance Department. The department refused to pick up the tab.

An enterprising attorney took her case "to establish a precedent for others".

As a consequence of his effort, the Great Society is now complete. If the precedent stands, the partner to marriage who can't afford the price of a divorce can send the bill to the local government—city, or county—and save the trip to Mexico or Las Vegas.

The understanding judge suggested that poor people who want a divorce, and who can prove that they don't have the wherewithal to pay the tab, can trot down to City Hall and deliver the bill.

And that completes the possibilities: The taxpayer supports those who don't marry, it supports those who live as if they were married, but aren't; and it finances those who did marry and want a divorce.

Take your choice. You can't lose. —U. S. Press Association, Inc.

State Takes Mine Case to Hi Court

Maryland took to the U. S. Supreme Court on Tuesday its case against a coal company which claims it has strip mining rights in the Savage River State forest.

The State Department of Forests and Parks twice has lost the case in state courts and Attorney General Francis B. Burch has been quoted as saying chances of getting the high tribunal to review it are slim.

Involved are mineral rights retained by the Georges Creek Coal and Land company when the state purchased the tract for state forest purposes.

The court's past policy has been one of non-intervention in so-called "broad form" mineral deed controversies such as the Maryland case.

Under such deeds, legal experts say, landowners become little more than temporary occupants of the surface. They have no power to prevent or to demand compensation for the destruction of their land by strip mine operators.

The Department of Forests and Parks inherited records from the defunct Farm Resettlement Administration showing the contested mineral rights could have been purchased in the 1930s for token amounts. The former federal agency which purchased many such tracts in depression years, could have bought mineral rights for the entire 5,800 acres for as little as $1,000, the records show.

The tract, which sold for $1 an acre when the Federal government acquired it in 1936, was part of 33,000 acres of forest land that the state of Maryland was given twelve years ago for park purposes.

William H. Johnson, state superintendent, confirmed that although the deeds do not all contain such broad mineral reservations, the public still does not own the minerals under an estimated one-fourth of the 80,000 acres of state land in this county. Clinton Irwin, regional director, added that the coal operator's recent court victories have generated a noticeable amount of speculation in mineral rights.

From available tax and land records, it appears that the cost of purchasing the minerals under the entire 20,000 acres may range from a low of $1 million to $1.5 million.

Maryland enacted its forest comprehensive strip mining regulatory law in 1966. A Kentucky mining engineer has said that such laws are beginning to make the business unprofitable.

Cycle Helmet Law Effective Sunday

Enforcement of the motor cycle helmet law which became effective July 1, will begin this Sunday.

The law, delayed in application by the Department of Motor Vehicles to allow for setting of standards, requires all motorcycle operators and passengers to wear approved safety helmets and also approved goggles with headbands, or face shields with visor snaps to affix them to helmets.

Another law affecting motorcycles which took effect July 1, forbids operators of two-wheel motor vehicles from riding abreast of other vehicles, whether cycles or automobiles.

A violation of any of these is a misdemeanor punishable upon conviction by a fine of not less than $10 or more than $100.

Property Owners at Lake Backing Utility's Efforts

The Deep Creek Property Owners' association, meeting last Saturday, voted to support the Pennsylvania Electric Company in its efforts for a rehearing before the Federal Power Commission on its license for its hydroelectric plant.

Concern was expressed at the meeting in the Blue Barn on Beckman's peninsula at the lake over an article in the FPC order affecting the lake.

One was the FPC order requiring Penelec to maintain a minimum stream flow of 75 cubic feet per second into the Youghiogheny river below its Deep Creek power house.

Penelec spokesman said it would seek changes only on the provision over the release of water.

W. W. Grant, attorney for the Deep Creek Property Owners' association, said the membership discussed its role as an intervenor in the forthcoming hearing. Penelec said it realized an obligation to property owners because the required release would cause a draw-down in some areas. It also had a responsibility to the Maryland Water Pollution Control commission in keeping certain amount of water in the lake and to the Maryland Game and Inland Fish commission which leases the lake from the utility.

Mr. Grant said under the terms of the FPC order the fish commission and the utility, along with property owners, would develop a recreation plan for the lake within the next year.

Booklet Tells Of Old National Road

Reprints of an article, "The Great Road West", by the late Felix G. Robinson of Oakland, are being distributed by the Roads Committee of the Western Maryland Chamber of Commerce and the Potomac Edison Company.

The article first appeared in the Valleys of History, a quarterly publication of the Potomac Edison Company.

Copies have been sent to area hotels and motels which hold memberships in the Chamber.

Supplies will be forwarded to the Maryland Department of Economic Development for distribution to people in the Baltimore-Washington area who are interested in westbound travel and to agencies in the Uniontown-Washington, Pa., area for distribution to eastbound motorists.

The Chamber will also send copies of the publication to those who are interested in visiting western Maryland.

The front cover lists The Narrows, Fort Necessity, the restored toll houses and old stone bridges on Route 40, Youghiogheny Lake and Deep Creek Lake among the tourist attractions of the area.

Those who are confined to their bed and unable to go to the polls on primary election day may vote by absentee ballot but their applications must be accompanied by a doctor's certificate.

A member of the defense department for the past twenty years he has been assigned to Turkey since July, 1967 and plans to return there in September. Barley To Be Included In Feed Grain Program

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has announced that barley will be included in the 1969 feed grain program, according to I. William Umbel, Chairman, Garrett County ASC Committee.

The decision to include barley in the 1969 program was made because of the sharply changed barley supply situation in the last few weeks and from a year ago it was stated. Better than average yields pushed 1968 production up to nearly 15 percent above last year's crop, Mr. Umbel said.

The 1969 Feed Grain Program will include corn and grain sorghum as well as barley. It will provide payments to farmers for diverting land from the production of these grains to conservation uses. Further details of the program will be announced later, Mr. Umbel said.

August 20, 1968...

On August 20, 1968, the dream bridge between Washington and Moscow fell down.

The issue of the Soviet newspaper Pravda for that date, published prior to the invasion of Czechoslovakia said: "Marxist-Leninists are not and can never be indifferent to the fate of socialist construction in other countries and the general cause of socialism and Communism on earth . . . no one will ever be allowed to drive a wedge between the socialist states or undermine the foundation of the socialist structure. The fraternal parties consider it their obligation to insure that imperialist interigues are nipped in the bud and to strengthen the unity of socialist commonweath, and all revoutionary forces".

Only hours after that appeared in print, Radio Prague was announcing that "troops of the Soviet Union, Polish People's Republic, the G.D.R. (East Germany), the Hungarian People's Republic and the Bulgarian People's Republic (have) crossed the frontiers of the Czechoslovak Socialist Republic".

Another few hours and Radio Moscow was being quoted around the world as saying that "the country was invaded to save it from the enemies of Communism".

The Soviet-watchers in Washington were taken completely by surprise. Said The New York Times in its issue of August 21, on the streets only hours after the invasion began: "Only last week, the State Department disbanded a special unit that had been set up to keep an eye on the developments in Czechoslovakia. Sources in the department said the disbanding was ordered after tensions between Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union seemed to ease".

The message from the Moscow end of the bridge is clarion-clear. It is precisely as Pravda stated it: the enslaved will be kept in chains, imperialist intrigues will be "nipped in the bud," and the "unity of . . . all revolutionary forces" is paramount.

That means Moscow, and Peking, as well as Poland, East Germany, Hungary, Bulgaria—and blood-stained Czecholslovakia. It also means Hanoi.

Does anyone really believe that Moscow will permit Hanoi to negotiate an honorable peace in Paris?—U. S. Press Association, Inc.

She completed courses in the secretarial sciences as well as training in the terminology of the medical profession and basic medical courses such as anatomy, diseases, medical office practice, and laboratory techniques. Miss Griffith was graduated from Northern High School in 1967. At the secretarial school she was a member and officer of Alpa Iota International Honorary Business Sorority. She was graduated Cum Laude and received the Scholastic Award from the school.

Punt, Pass, Kick Competition Opens

Boys age 8 through 13 in the Oakland area may begin registering for the eighth annual Punt, Pass & Kick Competition on Tuesday, September 3rd with trophies and trips awarded football-minded youths for skills in punting, passing and kicking.

Headquarters for registration in Oakland is Shaffer Ford Sales, Inc., where entries will be accepted from September 3rd through October 4th. Entrants must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. There is no charge. All equipment is provided. No body contact is involved in PP & K competitions, it was said.

When they register, boys receive a free booklet of competition tips. The booklet includes exercises for better physical fitness oriented to boys of PP & K's competition ages.

The basic principle of PP & K underlines fairness in competition to give every boy an equal chance to win, pitting contestants only against those their own age. Points are awarded for each foot of distance the ball travels on the fly, with points substracted for each foot the ball lands to right or left of a center line.

Eighteen trophies will be awarded locally.

Winners of Zone competitions will move to District competitions and on to compete for Area championships. Area champs travel to division events in NFL stadiums in St. Louis or Atlanta where twelve finalists are chosen.

The twelve Division winners go, with both parents, to the Orange Bowl in Miami, Florida, for the National Finals during the annual NFL Play-Off Game. Then all 12 National finalists and their parents will go on a "Tour of Champions" to Washington, D. C.

The Punt, Pass and Kick competition is sponsored nationally by Ford Dealers and the National Football League. Co-sponsors in Oakland are Shaffer Ford Sales and Knights of Columbus Council 1771.

Twenty-One Killed On State Highways

Twenty-one persons were killed on Maryland highways last week, according to the weekly survey published by the State Police. Eight of those killed were drivers, seven were passengers, and six were pedestrians.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in four of the deaths, speed in eleven, and "driver error" in all but two.

"As each day passes, the number of miles traveled on high speed roads increases", noted Lt. Col. George E. Davidson, Deputy Superintendent of the State Police, "and operating a vehicle on such roads requires a change of driving pattern from that found in ordinary urban driving.

"One of the most hazardous areas is entering the high speed road from the ramp. It is the responsibility of the driver who is leaving the ramp to yield to vehicles already on the highway. Failure to do so resulted in the loss of two lives last week.

RACKY

Copyright 1968 Keister Advertising Service, Inc., Strasburg, Va.

Frightened, its wing broken, the bird was clinging to a rail when Tod found it. He brought it home, and "Racky" became its name.

Days passed and the bird mended quickly.

"Racky's getting well," the six-year old informed me one day. "Will he fly away?" I nodded.

"But I want him to stay here! I'll feed him, and let him sleep in his box-house, and take care of him—an' everything!"

"But he might want to be with his friends." I said. There was silence as the boy pondered the idea.

"All right," he finally said. "I'll let him go. But I bet he'd be happier here with me!"

We, too, would be happier if we knew where we belong in the complex pattern of life. God helps us discover ourselves and our place in His universe through His Church.

The child didn't know any better.

Do you?

THE IMPOSSIBLE

Lesson for September 1, 1968

Background Scripture: Nehemiah 1 through 6.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 122.

It would be interesting some time to go through the history books and make a list of the things that "can't be done" but were done! History has often turned on the accomplishment of what someone has called "impossible."

Rev. Althouse

"Abraham, you're not going to leave the security of your home for some half-baked vision of a Promised Land at the other end of the world? Impossible!"

"Lead the Israelites out of Egypt and through the wilderness to Canaan? Impossible!"

"Unite the twelve tribe of Israel into one nation? Impossible!"

"Carry the Christian Gospel beyond Jerusalem, Judea, Samaria, and into the rest of the world? Impossible!"

"Print the Bible in the languages of the common people so that all may read it? Impossible!"

"Raise millions of dollars for missions? Impossible!"

An inspiring heritage

Christianity, it seems, has been the story of "impossibles." It has thrived on tasks too difficult for the capacities of mere men. Perhaps when we throw up our hands in the face of "impossible" tasks that confront the church today, we ought to recall Christianity's great heritage of "impossible" accomplishments.

Nor is this heritage limited to the New Testament. The returned exiles from Chaldea were confronted with such a situation. Their neightbors, the people of Samaria under Sanballat, saw how weak was the position of Jerusalem. There had long been hostility between these two peoples and now that the defenses of Jerusalem were so weak, they intended to take advantage of the situation. Even when Nehemiah, the former cupbearer (a position of great trust) to the King of Persia, arrived in Jerusalem to rebuild the walls, Sanballat was confident. The Jews would never be able to rebuild the walls, of that he was quite confident.

What a joke!

Why was he so confident? For one thing, the Jewish community was too weak ("these feeble Jews", Ezra 4:2). For another, the wall was broken beyond repair ("Will they restore things?"). Furthermore, the job would require more work and time than the Jews could give ("Will they finish up in a day?"). Besides, the materials they needed, the huge stones, were unobtainable in the quantity needed ("Will they revive the stones...?") Even if they did get the wall rebuilt, it would be so weak that prowling animals would knock it over in their curiosity. What a joke!

The laughter, however, faded into undisguised anger when the reports of Nehemiah's progress began to come back. The work had progressed much faster than they had imagined possible and the large, gaping holes in the wall were being closed up. So Sanballat went into action: they would prevent the Jews from completing he wall by constantly harassing the work.

A mind to work

It was a good plan but it overlooked some factors. It failed to take into account the strong leadership of Nehemiah, who not only was backed by the authority of the King of Persia, but who also had a way of inspiring men to try the "impossible." Then too, Sanballat had failed to consider the ready response of the people of Jerusalem: "So we built the wall...For the people had a mind to work." (Nehemiah 4:6 RSV) He had forgotten also that they were a praying people: "And we prayed to our God . . . " (Nehemiah 4:9)

A leadership to challenge us, a people who will respond and accept the challenge, and recourse to the power of God with whom everything is possible: Combine these and it will be amazing how the "impossible" tasks fall before us!

Events Above The Mountain Top

August 29 - September 4

The moon passes through its first quarter phase at 7:53 p. m. on Friday. At 10:00 p. m. on Friday the moon will be at a perigee of 229,800 miles from the earth. During the week the moon rises in the afternoon and sets after midnight.

Three planets may be observed this week. Venus is found very close to the western horizon for about one-half hour after sunset. Saturn rises in the middle of the evening and is visible for the rest of the night. It is in the constellation of Pisces, the Fishes. Mars rises shortly before sunrise in the constellation of Leo, the Lion.

We lose fourteen minutes of daylight in the course of the coming week. Sunrise today is at 6:43 a. m. while it is at 6:48 a. m. next Wednesday. Sunset comes to us at 7:54 p. m. today and at 7:45 p. m. on the fourth.

High in the western sky at sunset can be found the fourth brightest star, Arcturus. It is thirty-six light years away from us. This star is almost one hundred times as bright as our Sun. It is a cool star with a temperature about two-thirds that of the Sun, although its diameter is twenty-three times the Sun's diameter. As you have guessed, Archturus is a giant star.

Arcturus means "Watcher of the Bear". It is the brighest star in the constellation, Bootes. Bootes is known as a herdsman, a bear hunter, or a wagoner. In each case the big dipper or Ursa Major, the great bear, is involved in the mythology of Bootes.

Bootes looks like a kite and can be found by following the arc of the handle of the big dipper, to Arcturus, its brightest star. This constellation follows the great bear as it moves around Polaris, the North Star.

Engineering studies have okayed a site in the bend of the West Fork River adjacent to the community of Haywood, as suitable for construction of a new power station by Allegheny Power System estimated to cost in excess of $175,000,000. Final approval of the site hinges upon the provision of auxiliary water storage upstream from the plant to replace evaporation loss from the recirculating cooling towers. If this site is finally selected, construction would start in 1969. An average of 600 skilled workmen—with employment ranging upward over 1,000—would be employed at the site until the plant is finished in 1974.

Power Company Plans New Station

The next to the last step in locating Allegheny Power System's new 1,300,000 kilowatt power station was taken last week, when Gibbs and Hill, Inc., engineers and constructors for the station, certified a site adjacent to Haywood, near Shinnston, W. Va., as having satisfactory sub-soil and foundation conditions for construction of the station which will be built at a cost estimated to be in excess of $175,000,000.

Final approval of the site depends on finding a proper water supply for the station. Studies are underway to provide supplementation of the water supply from the West Fork River.

Coal for the new station would be supplied under a long-term contract by Mountaineer Coal Company, a division of Consolidation Coal Company. Some 3,500,000 tons of coal will be used annually when both generating units are in operation.

The Fort Martin Power Station, to be completed by the end of this year, will consume 3,000,000 tons of coal a year, providing employment for 500 miners.

The new station, if built on the recommended site, would be named "Harrison Power Station" from the county in which it may be located.

The new station will resemble somewhat the Fort Martin Power Station, located on the Monongahela River just south of the West Virginia-Pennsylvania border.

Fort Martin, now the "show-station" of the Allegheny Power System, is unique in being flanked by two giant cooling towers. These cooling towers at present among the largest in the world, are 370 feet high. It is anticipated that Harrison Power Station, too, will have cooling towers of the similar design.

The cooling towers would be used to recirculate the cooling water taken from the West Fork River. These cooling towers prevent the thermal pollution of the river and use only enough water from the river to place that lost through evaporation in the recirculating process.

A side benefit of the location of the plant at the proposed site will be the reclamation of an area defaced by stripmining operation.

Construction of the plant will probably begin in 1969. Gibbs and Hill, Inc., a subsidiary of the Dravo Corporation, will be the constructor and engineer for the project.

The station will have two 650,000 kilowatt generating units—scheduled for commercial operation in 1973 and 1974.

By 1974, when the second unit of the new power station is complete, the Allegheny Power System's net capability will be about 5,800,000 kilowatts.

Monongahela Power Company will operate Harrison Power Station. Allegheny Power System serves about 875,000 electric customers in a five-state area of West Virginia, Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Virginia. The three-station construction program has been made necessary by the growing demand for electric power—a demand that doubles nearly every ten years.

CONGRESSMAN MATHIAS has some pleasant words for Smokey the Bear who spent last week at the County Fair at McHenry. Smokey was an employe of the Department of Forests and Parks. Officials at first were unable to determine just who the man was behind the disguise, but was later identified as Roy Sweitzer, Mt. Lake Park. However, he was getting his message across loud and clear. "Prevent Forest Fires."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

August 27, 1968

Dear Mr. Editor,

The Girl Scouts of Garrett County and their leaders would like to attempt an answer to the many questions they have received from local citizens in regard to the Clean-up Program they were sponsoring and in particular to the placement of litter barrels along county highways.

Last spring the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, and other local youth groups sponsored a 4 point Clean-up Campaign. This consisted of a slogan campaign, a poster contest, a roadside litter pick-up day, and donation and placement of litter barrels. With the encouragement and support of many local citizens including the County Commissioners, local mayors, banks, WMSG radio station, etc., the slogan and poster contest was termed a success. Due to the cold rainy weather the roadside litter pick-up day had to be postponed in many areas, although scout groups attempted to cover their routes at a later date.

The County Commissioners were again consulted and the donation of barrels began with future intentions that once the barrels were pained that they were to be placed and maintained by the Garrett County Roads Department wherever they felt the need was greatest.

Over 35 barrels were promised and donated by local oil distributors and the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. The Garrett County Roads Department generously donated orange paint and the Community Action Program employes sprayed paint over 28 barrels. Many of the barrels had previously contained chemicals and were unsafe for children to handle. The lettering was completed by Girl Scout Leaders the first week of June with the hope of early placement on the busy route of the County.

Many calls were made these last 2 months to the County Roads Department in regard to placement of the barrels. The controversy now seems to be that the department is unwilling to empty and maintain these barrels even though at the present time it does not have a suitable program to clean up roadside litter.

Two weeks ago some 10 to 12 litter barrels donated by the Girl Scouts were placed on a trial basis along Route 38, near Sand Flat area, by one of the County Commissioners. The barrels were an immediate success and very little litter ending up on the roadside. The barrels were emptied and the sites were maintained by this same Commissioner for a 2 week period. He now feels that only a minimum amount of effort would be required by the Roads Department to continue this program.

Surrounding counties and states have found it advantageous to place roadside litter barrels. They have learned by experience that it is easier to maintain these sites rather than spend thousands of dollars and man hours in picking up trash along the highways. We have to question the logic of highway signs warning of littering fines if we do not provide a place for this trash and litter. Shouldn't we attempt to use these free barrels for this purpose? Surely we can support our young people in their efforts to clean up and to conserve our beautiful Garrett County.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Jackie Brady, G. S. Troop 197, Kitzmiller; Mrs. Beverly Spiker, G. S. Troop 196, Kitzmiller; Mrs. Dorothy Knotts, Brownie Troop 194, Kitzmiller; Mrs. Robt. Wotring, G. S. Letter To The Editor:

I am writing with concern of the so called main issue of the G.O.P. convention, Pledge of Peace in Vietnam.

How can we expect to have an equitable settlement in Vietnam when we do not have valid existing laws in America? We should sincerely pursue negotiations with crime and race problems in the United States.

I realize foreign policy plays an important part in a nation, because a nation can not stand alone in this day and age. A nation that needs help can not expect to rid Vietnam or any other nation of war.

A pledge is a promise and a promise for peace should be clarified before it is promised.

BAND INSTRUMENT rental and purchase plan—It is true, Barbera Music Center does not have a representative calling on your school to sell or rent an instrument, but we do have a plan which is even better. If you come to our store in Keyser for a band instrument purchase, will give you more than a commission of the amount (20%) normally given to a salesman. Be your own salesman and save money. We have seven major brand names of band instruments: Conn, Bach, Olds, Buescher, Holton, LeBlanc and Slingerland drums. We also carry instruments of lesser priced brands for the beginning band students. Instrument prices start at $89.95 less 20%. Rental Plan: We give you an instrument for 60 days ($15.00) option to keep or return. Rental fee applies to cost. (No discount on time.) —Adv. 24-tf.

Garrett Is Second In Bond Sales

Garrett County is ranked as a forerunner in the sale of Series E and H bonds for July, according to a report published monthly. With a 64.3 percent of its 1968 quota filled, Garrett is ranked as number two, a jump of 13 places from last month's 15 slot.

Special mention was made of the county in a letter accompanying the report, which congratulated the top-ranking counties and their chairmen. George K. Littman is chairman for this county.

Total sales during July amounted to $62,247, which brought the total to date to $230,144. The goal set for the year is $358,000.

Queen Anne's county with 64.5 percent is currently in first place, followed by Garrett, Charles, Baltimore, and Montgomery counties.

Her animal, 975 pounds of it, was sold to Blaine Friend Stockyard for 45 cents per pound. In the center of the photo is Henry Eugene Schmidt, while at right is Harry P. Bloomington Trash Situation Discussed

A delegation from the Bloomington area met with the Board of County Commissioners at their August 19 meeting to discuss the Bloomington trash dump situation.

It was stated during the discussion that Garrett County residents are expected to pay $1.00 per capita per year plus handling for use of the Allegany County Sanitary land-fill facilities. The Bloomington people feel that there is no satisfactory way of assessing and collecting charges for Allegany County, and requested help from the Board.

The possibility of acquiring a suitable site for a new dump near Bloomington is being investigated, according to the delegation, which also lodged a complaint regarding swimming in the Savage River dam.

In other matters before the Commissioners, the Penn Point Association of property owners asked that the Penn Point Road be hardtopped and maintained by the County Roads System. The representatives of the Association said they feel entitled to a road because of the money that said property owners have spent plus a pledged additional $500.

A question of required right of way necessary for a county road brought out the fact that the property owners feel any additional right of way would reduce property value and interfere with or make necessary removal of shrubbery. The Board will furnish the Association with a copy of requirements necessary to take a road into the county system.

Ronald Stemple requested additional maintenance work on the old Crellin Road. He has been advised that considerable work has been accomplished in that area, and that the road will be kept in passable condition.

Vergil Sines asked that hardtopping of Savage River Road be considered, while Ted Russell requested clearing of right of way on Russell Road.

Runner-ups were Clyde Calhoun, Irving Wolf and Arthur Wolf, all of Oakland. Baity Ridder, in charge of the event, said there was good improvement in pitching skill displayed and that a number of young men showed championship potential.

Twenty-six pitchers were entered in competition throughout the week.

ENEMAS ARE NOT HARMFUL

According to Dr. Walter Alvarez, Emeritus Consultant to the Mayo Clinic, in his half century of a busy practice, he has never seen a person harmed by enemas. When taking an enema, put a tablespoon of salt into the bagful of water. This lessens any irritation.

Daily bowel movements are not essential to better health, except for people with a so-called mucous colitis. Some have a large bowel which is too sensitive for comfort, without a daily evacuation. We have a complete variety of enema bags and cans.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 92. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., SEPTEMBER 5, 1968 PER COPY 10c NUMBER 27.

Citizenship Day . . .

The opportunity to vote once more is being provided.

"The good citizen is the man who, whatever his wealth or his poverty, strives manfully to do his duty to himself, to his family, to his neighbor, to the State; who is incapable of the baseness which manifests itself either in arrogance or in envy, but who while demanding justice for himself is no less scrupulous to do justice to others", said President Theodore Roosevelt.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower put it in another way: "Patriotism means equipped forces and a prepared citizenry. Moral stamina means more energy and more productivity, on the farm and in the factory. Love of liberty means the guarding of every resource that makes freedom possible — from the sanctity of our families and the wealth of our soil to the genius of our scientists. And so each citizen plays an indispensible role".

The advice Andrew Johnson gave in 1866 holds true today: "The time has come to take the Constitution down, to enroll it, to reread it, and to understand its provisions thoroughly".

And one way in which every American adult can publicly demonstrate his citizenship is to vote in the primary election next Tuesday, September 10, and the general election in November. This is the fundamental test of a good citizen. The citizen who doesn't vote is the number one dropout.

Few Suggestions Of Grand Jury Carried Out

Jurors Are "Distressed" At Commissioners' Failure To Act

The grand jurors for the March Term of the Circuit Court, called back last Thursday morning to determine whether or not the recommendations made had been carried out, reported that the members were "distressed to find that few of our recommendations have been acted upon".

In explaining further the jurors declared they felt the Court House "should be the show place for all citizens and businesses of the county, and also visitors". They found on August 29 that the Court House was in a "filthy condition".

After interviewing Sheriff James E. Frantz the jurors also stated "we find that very few of the recommendations have been carried out, and that the jail state inspector theatens to close the jail, if it is not renovated".

They declared further: "It is public knowledge that the County has a surplus of money and it is our recommendation that funds be used to carry out the necessary recommendations immediately. If these recommendations are ignored this county will have to meet major expenses of building a new jail and renovating the court house". The jury appointed a committee of five of its members to meet with the September grand jury to reemphasize the importance of these recommendations. The report was submitted by Ralph E. Cross, foreman, Charles L. Briner, and Ethel V. Kelly, clerks.

Bring Rape Charge

Before adjourning the jurors examined three witnesses and returned an indictment against Harry Francis Skidmore, of the Bloomington area, for rape. The man will be tried in the Circuit Court this morning. Clarence Penman and W. Dwight Stover were named as court-appointed attorneys to defend him. Skidmore was apprehended on May 2nd, and shortly after his attorneys asked for a psychiatric examination to determine whether or not the man was insane at the time of the alleged perpetration of the crime. A report from officials of the Clifton T. Perkins hospital showed the man was able to understand the nature of the charge and that at the time there was no mental disease or defect. The report acknowledg-

Action Taken In Juvenile Cases

Action was taken in several juvenile cases coming before Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill sitting as juvenile judge in the court house last Friday.

A fifteen-year-old male from a forestry camp was sent to the Maryland Training School for Boys after being heard on several offenses. He had stolen $94.25 and credit cards from Jack Blair home and was charged with malicious destruction of property. He had been sent earlier to the Maryland Children's center for a psychiatric examination. He also was accused of breaking and entering the home of the assistant superintendent of the forestry camp but nothing was reported stolen there.

A 13-year-old male was accused of breaking and entering the Farmers Market near Oakland, on two occasions, one last August 16 and one on August 20, of 1967, and stealing $3.30 in cash and nine cans of soft drinks. On the second entrance he took 75 cents. This youth also was sent to the Maryland Training School for Boys.

A colored 17-year-old male, of Baltimore, a member of the forestry camp near Grantsville, had refused to cooperate with forestry officials and refusing to be sent to the Maryland Training School. He was ordered by Judge Hamill to be sent to the training school but sentence was suspended upon condition he be of good behavior. He was returned to his parents in Baltimore and placed under the supervision of the Department

Anderson Gives Critical Views, Current Topics

Is Principal Speaker At $50 Plate Dinner Given By Promotion Council

Some $4,500 was raised last Thursday evening when residents of the county and nearby areas attended the "Friends of Garrett County" dinner with Jack Anderson, author and columnist, of Washington, as guest speaker.

Some 170 persons turned out for the $50 per plate dinner which was held to raise funds for the Autumn Glory Turkey festival set for October 10-13, and was sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake - Garrett County Promotion council.

Mr. Anderson justified his career by declaring that "controversy is essential to democracy and we must stand against the massive machinery of government.

Anderson complained that extremists and demagogue were leading people down a garden path with easy answers to the nation's ills. He pointed particularly to George Wallace who claims he can stop the riots, but Anderson pointed out that he couldn't do so without usurping police powers and the constitution.

He pointed out that the TV industry was upset at the $3 million expense necessary in covering the Democratic convention and that it was pledged to seek out every dissident group to embarrass the Democratic party. He said he saw hippies waving communist and North Vietnamese flags, heard them shouting obscenities to guard and police. He said hippy leaders had bullhorns directing the mob and explained that Tom Hayden, who recently visited Hanoi, had shaved his beard to get into Chicago unrecognized, then donned a false beard and joined the demonstrators. Donal Haverquist, he said, an active member of the Communist party, had coordinated hippy demonstrations.

He dwelt on the difficult situation in Vietnam from which he recently returned. He said every U. S. weapon in terms of firepower and quality was matched by a North Vietnam weapon, that escalation could be matched, rocket for rocket, nuclear bomb for nuclear bomb; that the Commies could sink much of the 7th fleet if they

Co. Participants Do Well At State Fair Last Week

Garrett County 4-H'ers did well in representing their county in activities at the Maryland State Fair at Timonium, last Friday and Saturday, it was revealed by Miss Alice Hevner, extension agent for 4-H and Youth.

Linda Schmidt, North Glade Club was named Western Maryland District Champion Demonstrator on her Bread demonstration. Rodney Glotfelty, Robert Custer and Dianna Fitzwater all received blue ribbons on their demonstrations. All four 4-H'ers were winners in the District Contest in July, which made them eligible to participate.

Mike Bittinger, Bittinger Boys 4-H Club, placed 12th in the State Tractor Operators Contest held on Friday. Mike was named County representative during the County Fair at McHenry.

Friday evening Donna Haenftling and Dianna Fitzwater modeled the garments with which they won the County Dress Revue Contest. Both made an excellent representation of Garrett County, although neither placed at the State Fair, Miss Hevner said.

Garrett County had four judging teams representing them in the state contests. The Junior Livestock team placed 7th in state competition. Nancy Teets of the Bittinger Girls club placed 6th in judging beef cattle. Other team members consisted of Linda Custer, Carl Fike, and Pauline Hanft.

The Senior Livestock team ranked third in Beef Cattle with William Fitzwater III, placing 11th, Dorothy Hanft 10th, and Robert Custer 7th.

WEIGHTY PROBLEMS—Jack Anderson, Washington columnist, discusses a weighty national problem in a serious vein in his talk before some 170 persons last Thursday night at the Wisp ski area. The occasion was the dinner for "Friends of Garrett County." Seated beside him is R. Thomas Thayer, master of ceremonies.

5,305 Enroll In Public Schools For First Day

Southern Has 1,381; 815 At Northern; Total Tops Last Year

Garrett County public schools opened for the 1968-69 term with an enrollment of 5,305 up 42 from the opening day enrollment of last year. The increase was not as great as the previous year when children from St. Peter's Parochial school entered the public schools. There were 89 kindergarten children in the Oakland school this year compared to 91 at the start of last year. This was the second year of public support at the state level for the kindergarten program.

Enrollment on Wednesday had increased to 5,332, the Board of Education office reported.

Schools opened for the first day with all teaching vacancies filled but with one of the teachers unable to report because of immigration difficulties.

The Board of Education has employed a Canadian individual to teach French at Southern High school, but he is awaiting official sanction through various employment channels and the State Department. Albert Ringer, supervisor of instruction for the Board of Education said this morning he felt that Victor J. Bishop, of Toronto, would be here by next week.

He is a graduate of Rocky Mount college at Billings, Montana, and took additional work at the Ontario College of Education. Mr. Ringer said the instructor needed an Alien Employment certification and an immigrant visa which was being sought through Congressman Mathias, the State Department and the American consul in Toronto. Numerous forms were being filled out before final O. K. is given, but all details are expected to be completed within a few days.

Mr. Bishop is 25 years old, an honor student, blond and six feet tall, Mr. Ringer said.

Subscription Rate Goes Up October 1

The subscription rate for The Republican will be increased beginning October 1, it was announced this week. The new rate will be $4.50 with $5.00 being charged for beyond mailing zone 2.

It was explained that the increase is due to the increase in postal rates which became effective in July, with two more jumps in cost through January of 1970.

Historical Tour Is Well Attended

The annual historical tour attracted a record number of persons last Saturday with 38 joining in the all-day visit to historical points in the Grantsville area. The weather was considered perfect.

At the first stop at the Harbison-Walker Refractories plant at Jennings, Elmer L. Pugh, manager, and his foremen, Michael Duda, John W. Wisor and Charles F. Snelson, conducted the tour through the plant each taking a portion of the group.

Paul Calderwood, historical society president, said referring to the installation as a brick plant was a misnomer as very few bricks are manufactured here. He said much of the production was of intricate shapes used in handling molten steel in steel mills. The industry is one of the largest in the county.

Second stop was the site of the original town of Grantsville where George Diefenbach gave historical highlights. A picnic lunch was held at the Casselman Bridge park with tables arranged by Perry B. Edmiston, Jr., supervisor of the New Germany Recreation area for the Department of Forests and Parks.

The group continued east on route 40 to the Stone House farm where Mrs. Henry T. Wilson permitted the group to enter the first floor of the historic house, a well known inn in the days of stage coaches. At the house Robert Garrett spoke of the historical significance of the area which was the location of camps at Little Meadaws of Washington and General Braddock in their campaigns.

The Voting Age

In urging that 18-year-olds be allowed to vote, President Johnson has made a proposal that has a superficial appeal but little wisdom.

Those who advocate lowering the voting age from 21 to 18 might be grouped into two classifications: (1) those who are swayed by the emotional appeal, and haven't given the question much serious thought; and (2) self-seeking politicians who think they would gain votes — and these politicians are not confined to either political party.

The only thing that can be done with the politicians is to convince them that this is not a popular movement — whereupon they would drop the idea very quickly — but common sense and reason should appeal to the first group.

Before the people generally are led to vote for such a change, therefore, it would be in order to consider some aspects of the situation that might have escaped our attention and at least give the matter some serious thought and not be misled by the emotional appeal of some catch phrase or other.

The catch phrase that has really set in motion this appeal to lower the voting age is that "if our boys are old enough to fight, they are old enough to vote". This situation, of course, has been brought dramatically to the attention of the nation during the past two decades, when thousands of boys under 21 fought in the Korean War and in the Vietnam War, and when still more thousands have been, and are being, drafted.

It would be dangerous, however, to let an emotional appeal and a catch phrase cause us to tamper with so vital a matter as the voting franchase.

So let's consider this "old enough to fight, old enough to vote" argument. And in doing so, we might well remember that there were American boys much younger even than 18 who fought in the Revolutionary War and in the War between the States. There were American boys — and girls, too, for that matter — who fought the Indians and other enemies all through the era when our nation was being settled.

There is no question of the bravery of our American boys or their ability to fight. The question is that of deciding on a voting age, because so long as the right to vote is determined by age there must be a dividing line. We must either retain the dividing line based on age or drop the question of age altogether. And as a matter of fact, that is where the whole argument of lowering the voting age falls flat. The advocates of such change are basing their arguments on something besides age, but they are still using age as a determinant. Actually, there are plenty of boys 18 years old — and younger — who are much more capable of casting an intelligent vote than many men 28 years old or 78 years old. There are individuals who will never be able to cast intelligent votes, no matter how long they live. But the right of franchise is based on age. It could be based on something else, but it isn't. It might not be a bad idea if it were based on something else.

And if the age limit is lowered because boys of 18 can fight, it will also have to be lowered for the girls. Remember, we have woman suffrage! The argument that girls should also be drafted would therefore be just as valid as the argument that the voting age should be lowered. And we should remember, too, that a large percentage of our youth are not drafted at all, because of physical or other reasons.

Moreover, would not the argument for lowering the voting age also hold good in arguing that teen agers be allowed to purchase alcoholic beverages? And if a person 18 years old is old enough to vote, is he also old enough to serve on juries, to execute wills and other legal documents? Many other valid analogies could be cited.

Another fact to remember is that an 18-year-old in uniform is under the command of someone who tells him what to do; when he votes, he is on his own and his personal judgment is his guide. There are exceptions, but generally speaking, good judgment comes with maturity.

And finally, let's hope and pray that we shall not always be at war — either hot or cold. Let's therefore be wary of passing legislation based on a sentimental appeal nurtured in the atmosphere of war. Voting requirements are supposedly permanent; war is supposedly temporary.

Foreign Drunks Favored

Drunken communist Poles are apparently a great threat to the peace of the world. Just why apparently sober communist Poles are no threat, but become one when they have had a couple too many, is not clear.

It especially was not clear to Congressman Richard Roudebush of Indiana when he discovered that some of the funds for the billion dollar a year Food for Peace program were financing sobering up stations for Polish alcoholics.

As a matter of fact the House Agricultural Committee failed to see just what connection there is between giving food to help starvation and extending aid and comfort to Polish, or any other foreign drunks.

The committee went on record with the statement "in the opinion of the committee, projects of this kind tend to precipitate ridicule and criticism, which impede the effectiveness and diminish support for the whole program. This committee does not support this project and recommends its immediate abandonment."

Actually, the House Agricultural Committee went even further in digging into the situation. As is well known, the Food for Peace program is based on the fact that the American farmer is plagued with surpluses that cannot be sold yet there are people in the world going hungry. Therefore, to aid the American farmer, and also build better relations in the world, which presumably could be a step to maintaining peace. Food for Peace was launched.

This program involves huge sums of money which under the law as passed by Congress is supposed to be used primarily for buying American farm surpluses and shipping them abroad where needed.

But so loose is the control of funds that moneys appropriated for the Food for Peace program, besides being used to sober up Poles, is also being used for such diverse projects as archeological studies in Europe, excavations in Poland, studying elephants in Ceylon, and studying the disappearing metal crafts in Pakistan and Ceylon.

In the meantime, back on the farm, the American farm that is, wheat and corn are priced at their lowest level in years.

The strange aspect of all this is the ability of bureaucrats to get money earmarked for one project, then spend part of it in some other direction. In most cases in private business this would often be considered embezzlement.

PHARMACY PHACTS

Question

I'm using an antibiotic prescription that seems to have cured the condition for which it was prescribed before all of the prescription has been used up. Is there any reason to take all of the rest of the prescription

Answer

Please do be certain to take all of any antibiotic medication your doctor has prescribed for you. Why? Because there is good reason to believe that resistance developed by bacteria to once-potent antibiotics can be attributed to the fact that many people stop taking all of their medication before the infection has been either completely cured or at least controlled. This is why you are told to take all of your prescription. Your doctor prescribes the antibiotic in the amount he knows will be necessary for the best possible results. So why short-change yourself by taking only a part of the antibiotic your doctor says will be necessary?

Registration Books To Reopen Sept. 23

Registration books will reopen September 23 for persons who would like to register to be eligible to vote at the November general election, and not September 31, as stated erroneously in last week's issue.

Actually the date legally is September 21, but since this date falls on Saturday and the office of the Board of Supervisors of Election is closed on that day, the books will not reopen until Monday of the following week.

This will allow a few more days for voters who are not now registered and who would like to become eligible to vote in the presidential election may do so.

Four male youths, two 16, one 17, and one 18, were before the court for disturbing the peace by cursing a Deer Park couple, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Clark. Two of them allegedly had threatened the woman with bodily harm.

All four pleaded not guilty to the charge of being delinquent. All four were declared not guilty by Judge Hamill of cutting automobile tires, because of insufficient evidence. One 16-year-old was found not guilty of delinquency but warned not to bother the couple in the future. The other 16-year-old was given probation without verdict and placed under supervision of the Department of Juvenile services. The 17-year-old was found to be delinquent and was placed under probation without verdict. The charge of malicious destruction of property against the 18-year-old was dismissed.

wanted to. And he pointed out that 700 million Chinese were waiting to stream into South Vietnam if the U. S. invaded North Vietnam. He emphasized that we could do nothing to them that they could not return to us.

He said Vietnam was the mistake of not one but several presidents, not one party, but both. "How we got in is no longer a question, but rather how to get out", he said. Up to now the politicians have no answer. However, he pointed out, in a democracy the people speak. If they speak long enough and loud enough, the people in Washington will do as we want them to do.

He also told of the enormous pressures upon the president and how he is assisted at arriving at decisions through the use of the National Intelligence estimate which has proved right over 80 percent of the time.

He asserted soap box oratory did not save China or Cuba. Taking a jab at Wallace along the soapbox lines, he said that those who vote for him will get exactly what they deserve.

Thomas Thayer, chairman of the dinner and master of ceremonies, declared the event which was held at the Wisp Ski area, at McHenry, was successful. There were brief remarks also by Lynn Beckman, executive director of the council; Arthur Naylor Jr., president; and Thomas B. Butscher, chairman of the Autumn Glory Turkey festival.

At the time of the last grand jury report numerous recommendations were made in regard to the K. of P. building housing county offices; the jail, sheriff's residence, Court House, roads garages at Accident and Oakland, and the hospital.

Concerning the jail and sheriff's residence it pointed out the need of a men's shower in the jail, repairs to ladies' quarters, a gas fired steam boiler with heat regulations for first and second floors, papering and painting, repairs to linoleum, wall coverings, toilet facilities.

Concerning the court house, outward appearance fair, inside unclean, sidewalks in need of repair, more emphasis on snow removal. A resolution for detention quarters for juveniles was made and stricter enforcement relating to ordinance on junk yards recommended.

Warrants Issued For 2 Utterbacks

Two warrants for the arrest of Robert B. Uutterback, Sr., and Robert B. Utterback, Jr., of Long Beach, California, were issued from the office of Robert M. Maroney, Oakland trial magistrate, last Friday.

The two are charged with grand larceny of goods valued over $100 on or about July 14, at Mt. Lake Park. The warrants were issued at the request of Mrs. Bette Sue Thomasson, (Mrs. Nelson Thomasson), who told State's Attorney Fred A. Thayer that a diamond ring and a diamond pendant had been stolen from her Mt. Lake Park home. They are valued at approximately $3,500.

The Utterbacks visited in this area last July. Mr. Uutterback, Sr., is a former Mt. Lake Park resident.

Mr. Thayer said the warrants had been sent to California, and no doubt already had been served. He said the two would be held by California police pending the waiving of extradition when they would be returned to Garrett county for trial. The case has been under investigation by Trooper Donald Smith of the State Police, for severa weeks.

Area Temperatures Rise During Week

Jack Frost has apparently retreated from the area for the time being, according to the steady rise in temperatures noted during the past week. However, it might be well to keep those vegetable coverings handy, just in case.

The mercury reached a high of 72 last Thursday, following an overnight low in the upper 30's. Friday had a continuation of the previous day's sunshine, with the mercury again rising to the lower 70's.

Saturday was sunny and breezy with a high in the 70's, while Sunday brought more of the same. Rain showers early Monday morning threatened picnickers and water enthusiasts with the chill air left behind, although the sun managed to warm the atmosphere to more suitable temperatures.

It was 50 degrees and sunny Tuesday morning at 8, with a high during the day of 75. Wednesday had a high of 84 under sunny skies, with some cloud cover noted during the afternoon. Shower activity was noted before dawn Thursday, although skies were only partly cloudy at 8 a. m., when the mercury read 65 degrees.

Rams Face Kingwood

Southern High School's Rams face the Kingwood Stags in their opening game this Friday evening on Southern's field.

The Rams, under the direction of coach Leroy Bolding, will field an experienced team, as they have fifteen returning lettermen. However, because last year's quarterback, Jack Alvarez, has transferred to another school, the team lacks a seasoned starter to fill that position.

The Stags will journey to Oakland with one victory already scored this season with a 20 to 13 win over Valley of Masontown.

The Rams chocked up a 4-5 record last year, whereas the Stags were undefeated. However, Southern is seeking revenge for last year's defeat at the hands of Kingwood. This year's Ram squad is comprised mainly of experienced juniors. Coach Bolding is looking for a winning season.

Sixteen Killed On State Highways

Sixteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week, according to the weekly survey published by the State Police. Five of those killed were drivers, three were passengers, and eight were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in eight of the cases, speed in eight, and "driver error" in ten.

"Last week eight pedestrians were killed on Maryland highways — half the total number killed", commented Lt. Col. George E. Davidson, Chief of Operations of the State Police. "All of the pedestrians killed were adults, and in six of the eight cases the pedestrian was at fault.

"To cope effectively with today's heavy, fast-moving traffic, a pedestrian must be continually alert and must adhere to all regulations. The pedestrian, as well as the operator, plays a very important role in the promotion of highway safety".

MATHIAS VOTES FOR CREDIT TO COMMUNIST GOVERNMENTS

A recommittal motion, H.R. 14929, barring credit sales to Communist governments was voted on in the House of Representatives on June 9, 1966. 95% of his Republican colleagues voted for the motion to bar credit sales to Communist governments. Rep. Charles Mathias, of Maryland, voted against barring credit to Communist governments.

Harry Simms, Republican candidate for the United States Senate in Maryland, who is opposing Mathias in the Sept. 10 primary, stated that Mathias' record should be examined by all Republicans before casting their vote on September 10. The Czechoslovakian invasion to enforce Russion will on foreign soil proves Communists have not changed. "It's time for a change," Simms said.

Simms Says Full U. S. Power Should Back Up Fighting Men

Republican U. S. Senate candidate Harry Simms said last week that no administration should commit an American to battle unless it is prepared to utilize the complete power of the United States to back him up.

Neither, he told the Men's Republican Club of Montgomery County, should the U. S. fight a war on the enemy's terms and neither should this nation attempt to police the world.

Mr. Simms, who is challenging Congressman Charles McC. Mathias in the Republican primary for the right to face Maryland Democratic U. S. Senator Daniel Brewster in the November general election, didn't think that "military power is the total answer" to this country's external problems. He suggested the United States, a great market for products manufactured by other countries, should make greater use of its economic power.

Despite America's problems overseas, the speaker said, top priority should be given to bringing about "law and order here at home."

Guaranteed Wage

When asked about his position on public welfare, the candidate said the suggested "guaranteed annual wage is repulsive to me." He explained that he is opposed to taking money from people who work to give it to those who don't want to work.

As for people in genuine need of assistance, he commented, "I don't know of anyone who would not open his door to feed someone who is hungry."

On the other hand, he said participants in the "poor people's march" are on "the wrong track." "They aren't asking," he stated, "They're demanding, and there's a big difference."

Land of Opportunity

Mr. Simms made the point that "this is the land of opportunity, not a land where everything is free."

Mr. Simms classified Congressman Mathias and Senator Brewster as "big spenders," and he said further that the big spenders were polluting our society.

It's Time For a Change

The candidate said, "It's time for a change. The time has come to restore this government to Americans who believe in law and order 24 hours a day, every day; Americans who believe in the full protection of life and property, Americans who believe in swift justice for those charged with crimes against women, against the laws of our land; Americans who believe that taxes collected from working men and women should be spent with great prudence, Americans who are proud to be Americans.

We Must Not Forget

Simms said, "Americans are still fighting to sustain freedom and while we are enjoying this festive occasion, our American teenage soldiers are involved in a more solemn duty in Viet Nam. While we are here at this moment, American teenage soldiers are involved in a life and death struggle and though many of us disagree with the policies that put them in that struggle, we must not forget for a moment their plight and their struggle for survival.

"They are just as much heroes to me as any in our history books and when they return home, they should be treated as heroes. There is no land in the entire world as grand and beautiful as ours and don't forget it."

SCHOOL DAYS WILL SOON BE HERE

Mothers now are busy preparing their children for school. Many will take them to a physician for a physical check-up to make certain they have the physical vigor to fight off an invading germ or virus. Exposure to many other children increases the possibility of catching something.

The older children going off to college need help to make certain they do not suffer nutritional dangers. They are apt to eat hurried meals that do not contain sufficient amounts of the vitamins and minerals their body needs. We can help you select a good product, made by a dependable manufacturer, which will insure minimum requirements.

Raps Administration For Its Failures

J. Glenn Beall Jr., Republican Congressional Candidate for the Sixth District seat being vacated by Charles McC. Mathias, called for a four count indictment of the National Administration in a speech Tuesday before the Republican Club of Taneytown.

Beall said, "The Johnson - Humphrey administration has failed in four key areas — (1) world peace and foreign policy; (2) crime and lawlessness; (3) credibility; and (4) fiscal responsibility".

"Only a change in the Administration in Washington, accompanied by a Republican Congress, can turn our Country toward the proper direction so that our problems can be solved in an orderly manner within the framework of the law and the fiscal means available to us", Beall added.

In expanding on world peace, Mr. Beall scored the Democrat Administration for neglecting the research and development programs vital to the maintenance of our strength and respect throughout the world.

Where the Fish Are

Granddad loves to fish. Secretly, I think he likes to talk about it equally as well. He spends hours with his friends arguing the pros and cons of "angling." The other day I overheard a lengthy controversy about the best place to fish. Granddad ended the whole matter with these words of wit and wisdom, "If you ask me, the best spot to fish is out there where the fish are—so let's get going!"

This special brand of humor greatly appealed to all of his friends and it remained in my mind long after they had left. It seemed to answer those nature lovers who claim that they can worship God out of doors as well as in church. For certainly, the best spot to worship God is where God is.

Worship means not only moments of adoration and praise but also thoughts channeled toward God. The Church has the living presence of the Lord and inspires spiritual thoughts through hymn, prayer and litany.

Yes, the best place to lift up the heart is in the house of God.

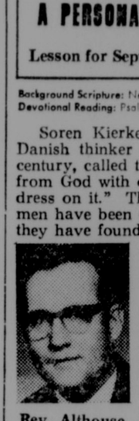
THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons



BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

A PERSONAL MESSAGE

Lesson for September 8, 1968

Background Scripture: Nehemiah 8 through 10. Devotional Reading: Psalms III.

Soren Kierkegaard, the great Danish thinker of the nineteenth century, called the Bible "a letter from God with our personal address on it." The lives of many men have been changed because they have found some portion of the Bible to be a personal message from God.

Rev. Althouse

One of these was a young man who many centuries ago lived in Milan, Italy. Despite his mother's deep concern for his soul, the young man had lived a fairly uproarious life. Yet he was concerned with the search for truth and had sampled many of the world's great philosophies and studied under some of the finest teachers in Italy and, for that matter, in the world. Still he had not found what his restless heart was seeking.

Take up and read!

One day he heard from an adjoining garden the voices of some children at play. Over and over again they sang two Latin words as part of their game: "Tolle, lege," which means "Take up and read." Acting impulsively, he picked up a New Testament lying close by and let it fall open to Paul's letter to the Romans. He began to read and as he did there settled over him the peace for which he had so long sought.

Not only did the scriptures bring him peace, however, but they also changed his life's vocation. He entered the church and later became the bishop of the church in North Africa. He is still known to us as one of the most profound thinkers of the Christian faith . . . today we call him St. Augustine.

The singing of children had caused him to take up the Bible and read and in so doing he felt convicted of his many sins. Asking God's mercy and forgiveness, he made a new commitment of his life. This was hardly a new phenomenon, but an experience which Augustine shared with many who had come before him and also many who have followed him.

Several centuries later, for example, a German theology professor made a serious study of Romans in preparing some lectures. His study changed his whole concept of the faith and when he declared these convictions, they revolutionized the Church. The Reformation began because Martin Luther found in the scriptures something that seemed personally addressed to him.

A renovated people

Nor was this the first reformation that took place because someone discovered the scriptures. In the seventh century B.C. the Temple had fallen into disrepair because of a succession of evil kings on the throne of Judah. When Josiah became king, however, he gave orders for the temple to be restored and as the renovations were being made, Hilkiah, the priest, found some ancient scrolls that comprised much of what we know as Deuteronomy. When the contents of the scrolls were revealed to the king, he proclaimed that they should be read to the whole nation. Hearing the long-lost law, the people repented and the reformation of Josiah began. The result was more than a renovated temple; they became a renovated people.

Our name and address

Something of the same nature happened three centuries later when, in the re-establishment of Jerusalem, Ezra read the Hebrew law to those who had been denied it during the Babylonian exile. Once again, shown what God required of them, the people repented and entered into a covenant with God, pledging themselves to live henceforth as his people.

This is what can happen when people turn to the scriptures. They find that something God has said to someone else at some other time has also their name and address on it. It has a personal message and if we take it seriously, it is likely that we too will be led to repent, renew our covenant with the Lord, and live new lives.

Today the sun rose at 6:49 a. m. It will set at 7:43 p. m. Next Wednesday sunrise is at 6:55 a. m. while sunset is at 7:33 p. m. By the end of the week we lose sixteen minutes of daylight.

Tomorrow, September 6, at 6:26 p. m. the moon passes through its full phase. During the week the moon will rise early in the evening.

Three planets may be seen in the sky during the week. Venus is low in the western sky. It sets just after sunset. Saturn rises early in the evening and sets early in the morning before sunrise. Mars is low in the east shortly before sunrise. The visible planets may be found among the stars of these constellations. Venus is in Virgo, the maiden. Saturn is in Pisces, the fishes; while Mars is in Leo, the lion.

As we stand and gaze into the heavens, we see the stars of our galaxy. The light our eyes perceive is, however, only a part of the total energy emitted by those stars. For many years man's knowledge of the universe depended on this slight bit of information from the stars.

In 1932 a man named Karl G. Jansky accidently discovered radio interference, which came from the Milky Way. This was the beginning of radio astronomy. Since that time some 3,000 sources of radio wave lengths have been found in the sky. Some of the familiar objects emitting radio radiation are the sun, the moon, some planets, and the Milky Way.

In order to observe this radiation, radio telescopes were developed. Radio telescopes consist of an antenna, an amplifier, and a recorder. The information gathered by radio telescopes can be used to add to our knowledge of the life cycles of stars and galaxies. Radio Astronomy has also provided more knowledge about the sun and its relation to the earth, our home.

It is thereupon this 20th day of August, 1968, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, ORDERED that the complainant, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 13th day of September, 1968, giving notice to the said absent respondent, Margaret June Pratt, of the object and substance of the Bill of Complaint, and warning her to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 14th day of October, 1968, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

BAND INSTRUMENT rental and purchase plan—It is true, Barbera Music Center does not have a representative calling on your school to sell or rent an instrument, but we do have a plan which is even better. If you come to our store in Keyser for a band instrument purchase, will give you more than a commission of the amount (20%) normally given to a salesman. Be your own salesman and save money. We have seven major brand names of band instruments: Conn, Bach, Olds, Buescher, Holton, LeBlanc and Slingerland drums. We also carry instruments of lesser priced brands for the beginning band students. Instrument prices start at $89.95 less 20%. Cares For 14,000 Females -- Hens, That Is

In the midst of flying feathers, Garrett County farmer Clark Schlossnagle demonstrates his hen-feeding machine to Earl Clark, left, chairman of Garrett County's Farming for Better Living Council, and, right, L. Bush Swisher, agricultural representative for Monongahela Power Co. Schlossnagle can feed 14,700 hens from the feeder in a very short time.

Keeping up with over 14,000 females would keep any man busy, but Garrett County's Clark Schlossnagle handles the problem excellently.

Schlossnagle manages some 14,700 laying hens in his recently built hen house. Under contract with an egg-distributing company, Schlossnagle maintains the hens from the time they are 13 weeks old for about 13 months.

Schlossnagle's hens average producing 250 eggs per hen per year. Total production for the hens averages 9,100 eggs per day or 63,700 eggs per week.

Using semi-automatic feeding and cleaning equipment, Schlossnagle handles the hens by himself in the 42,000 square foot hen house.

Schlossnagle, a past sweepstakes winner in the Farming For Better Living program, is an excellent example of better living through farming in Garrett County.

The farming program is sponsored jointly by Monongahela Power Company and the University of Maryland Extension Service, in cooperation with local businessmen of the county.

Miners Learn In Schools, Not Pits

The coal miners of the future will depend on brains rather than brawn to bring out the mineral from the pits.

Schools are being provided by the industry to train the new breed of coal worker, since the shovel and pick have been replaced by highly mechanical means of extricating the coal.

At both North Branch and Alpine mines at Bayard, W. Va., coal is dug by machinery, taken to the mine mouth by conveyer, and finds it way into power plants without a single miner's hand touching it.

At the request of coal miners and the United Mine Workers, the U. S. Office of Education is providing manpower training grants to all coal producing states to help give men the skills necessary for the new system of operations.

Mine mechanics courses have been held for quite a few employees at the Maust Coal and Coke Corporations Alpine and North Branch mines.

North Branch supplies the units at the Mt. Storm Power Station, while Alpine produces coal for the big steam generating plants in the eastern cities.

For the highly mechanized North Branch and Alpine mines, a mechanics' and electricians' course was conducted from last September to April by the Mining and Industrial Extension Service of the West Virginia Center for Appalachian Development from the West Virginia University School of Mines.

Starting September 9 another extension course in coal mining will be conducted at the North Branch mine rescue building at Bayard. Donald Bondurant will instruct the class in ventilation, mine safety laws, safety lamp assembly and gas testing. This course will be for miners aiming for certification.

U. S. Education Commissioner Harold Howe II says the industry tells him 49,000 new trained men will be needed for an assortment of coal-mine connected jobs in the next five years. Of these, 30,000 will be needed to replace retired personnel and 19,000 will be required to staff newly-opened mines.

The Mine Workers Union has a welfare and retirement program that permits a man to retire at age 55 after 20 years of service.

The projected training of 49,000 men is in addition to training programs already in progress, which cover such vocations as mine safety, operations of earth-moving equipment, and mine machinery maintenance and repair. Mine education courses are currently in operation in Kentucky, Virginia, Oklahoma, and Ohio in addition to West Virginia.

The industry estimates the bituminous coal consumption in the United States, plus exports, will reach 556 million tons this year, the highest in 20 years, and may go to 595 million tons in 1970.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. John Tichinel and family wish to thank all the relatives and friends for all the nice cards and gifts they received for their 50th wedding anniversary.

John Sanders Loses Life In Auto Accident

One Of Two Mount St. Mary's College Students Killed Wednesday

John N. Sanders

John Neil Sanders, 20-year-old Oakland youth, and another youth from Temple Hills, were killed early Wednesday when their automobile careened 300 feet off Interstate 70, three miles south of Frederick.

Also killed in the one-car crash was James F. Burroughs, 20, of Temple Hills, Prince Georges county. In critical condition at Memorial hospital in Frederick was James A. Morris, 20, of Washington, D. C. All were students at Mount St. Mary's college in Emmittsburg.

State Police said the students were northbound toward the college when the car ran into a drainage ditch in the median strip, struck a guard rail, bounced through the air into a bridge abutment and dropped through a ravine through some wires next to some railroad tracks before coming to a halt.

A Baltimore and Ohio railroad crew, investigating switching difficulties discovered the car about 2 a. m., more than an hour after the accident. The car, owned by Sanders, was being driven by one of the other students. It was completely demoblished.

Born in Cumberland May 9, 1948, Sanders was the son of Neil G. and Virginia M. Henry Sanders, 517 South Third Street. Besides his parents he is survived by one sister, Mrs. Glenn Dale (Roberta) Unger, Hancock; the paternal grandfather, William F. Sanders, Oakland; and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Robert Henry, Morgantown, W. Va.

Sanders was a junior student at the college, studying broadcasting. He was a member of St. Mark's Lutheran church, Oakland, where he had been active in the Luther League and Youth choir.

He was a part time employe of radio station WMSG, Oakland, working as an announcer and disc jockey under the name of "Farmer John". He had been employed at the radio station since his junior year in high school and conducted the record hops at Southern High school and the national guard armory in Oakland.

He was graduated from Southern High in 1966 as an honor student, and received the band award in his senior year. He played basketball and baseball in the school, was a member of both junior and senior

Mercury Lower As Fall Nears

The nip of fail is beginning to make itself felt around the area, as temperatures become moderate to chilly, ranging from 55 to 75 degrees during the daytime.

Last Thursday had rain showers nearly all day, with only a brief period without shower activity. High for the day was 71. Friday's high was also in the low 70's, with mostly sunny skies.

Clearing and warmer weather was noted during the week-end, with the high Saturday approximately 70 and Sunday around 75.

Monday also was sunny, with a high again in the lower 70's. Tuesday was perhaps discouraging to voters, with showers nearly the entire day, and a high once more of 71. Wednesday had a 55 degree temperature reading at 8 a. m., under rain-laden skies. The damp weather, which kept rain falling most of the day, allowed the mercury to rise only two degrees during the morning, and lowered it to 55 where it remained the greatest part of the day.

It was 52 degrees at 8 a. m. Thursday, with cloudy skies and some windiness.

Grand Jurors Are Charged By Judge Hamill

Points Out The Duties Of Jurors; Calls Attention To Special Items

Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill Jr., delievered the charge to the September Term grand jurors when they convened Monday morning in the Court house in Oakland. He pointed out in general terms the duties of the jurors and stressed the fact that law and public order were basic conditions of a satisfactory social organization and that criminal law is the most fundamental of all brands of the law.

He called attention to an item about special sums for supplementation of expenses for operation and maintenance of law enforcement agencies.

The item was brought to his attention by James E. Frantz, sheriff and others. He pointed out that during the previous fiscal year the county had received from the state $17,500 for supplementation of base expenses for the operation and maintenance of law enforcement agencies. Sheriff Frantz advised that none of this money was used for supplementation but rather for the base expenses for the operation of the sheriff's office formerly obtained by levy.

Judge Hamill told the jurors, "If this is correct and the money is not being used to supplement the base expenss of the sheriff's office but for base expenses, then it would appear that this money is not being properly expended.

He told the jurors he also was advised that for the 1968-69 fiscal year the county would receive $21,400 from the state for aid to police, which apparently should be used to supplement the base expenses for the oper-

Boy Improves After Wreck In County

A fifteen-year-old passenger in a car that wrecked and rolled over on to U. S. Rt. 40 in this county last Friday afternoon, was reported in fair condition in Miners hospital in Frostburg.

Robert E. Cutter, of Mt. Savage, was the right front seat passenger in a car driven by Leslie J. Cutter, 21, Route 1, Frostburg. Trooper Charles E. Loeber, of the Maryland State police, said the car was headed west at Long Stretch when a car to the front suddenly stopped. When the older Cutter youth applied brakes to avoid a collision the car veered off the roadway onto a gravel shoulder, bounced off the bank and rolled completely over, landing again on its wheels.

Robert Cutter reportedly suffered a fracture of the clavicle and ribs.

Leslie Cutter was treated and released at Miners hospital after the 3 p. m. accident. A front center seat passenger, Kenneth L. Platter, 21, Mt. Savage, was admitted for observation but was released Saturday. The trooper said the investigation was continuing.

Mrs. Frantz Resigns As County Jail Cook

The prisoners at the county jail are still getting fed, although Mrs. James Frantz, cook at the County jail for nearly 14 years, resigned that position effective last Sunday.

Mrs. Frantz was also warden for female prisoners at the jail.

As yet, Sheriff Frantz has no idea who her replacement will be.

Springs Festival Planning Its 11th Season Oct. 4, 5

October 4 and 5 are the dates set for the Springs Folk Festival, or Dutch Mountain Festival, now in its eleventh year. Again, as in former years, this occasion is expected to draw capacity crowds to Springs, near Grantsville.

Again a huge tent will house scores of demonstrators intent on entertaining those attending. If weaher permits seasoned "old-timers" will ply their ancient arts in rustic shelters.

Plans call for pioneer demonstrations, as in former years, such as the following: the splitting of rails; hewing of timbers; dressing breams with a broadaxe; hollowing out wooden troughs with an adze; splitting shingle blocks with froe and mallet; shaving shingles, brooms, and axe and tool handles on a shaving horse ("schnitzelbank") with a drawing knife; making old-time whistles and maple sap spiles; shoeing horses and boring wooden water pipes.

Traditionally, a two-horse treadmill will be clanking rhythmically and grain flails will whistle in the autumn air as a handful of pioneers thresh

Oakland Receives Grants For Park

A grant of $10,485.40 has been awarded to the town of Oakland for the "Little Youghiogheny Community Recreation area", Rep. Charles McC. Mathias, congressman from the district, announced last weekend.

The grant, provided by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation of the Department of Interior, will be matched by the town of Oakland and the Appalachian Regional commission.

The project is for the acquisition by the town of Oakland of about 160 acres of land for the creation of a new park. The site is located less than two miles east of Oakland and is adjacent to a larger acreage being acquired and developed for recreational purposes with the aid of Soil Conservation Public Law 566 and Appalachian Regional Commission funds for the Broadford dam impoundment.

Recreational activities to be provided in the project area will include opportunities for hiking and nature enjoyment which will complement more extensive activities being planned for the larger area.

Jurors Return 9 Indictments; Meet Two Days

Twenty - Two Witnesses Examined, Recommendations Numerous

The September Term grand jurors completed their work on Wednesday evening after being in session two days, September 9 and 11. They returned nine indictments after examining 22 witnesses. Names of those indicted may not be made public until they are either in jail or under bond.

Gordon K. Douglass served as foreman of the grand jury while Mrs. Catherine Eggers and Ralph H. Beachley served as clerks. George M. Browning was doorkeeper.

Recommendations Made

Numerous recommendations were made concerning the court house, sheriff's residence and jail, county roads garages and in addition made some general recommendations concerning county funds. The jurors in their report declared that "from our interview with the Commissioners it became abundantly clear that the Commissioners pay little or no attention to the past recommendations of grand juries. We feel that at least respect be shown by considering these recommendations at a regular meeting and that action thereon be recorded among the minutes of the county".

As a result of their interview with the three county commissioners the jurors recommended the appointment of a county planning commission by the commissioners who in turn can project plans for renovation and improvement of county buildings, especially court house and jail. They added that financial and fiscal planning and advice was needed.

They felt more cooperation was necessary between the Community Action Group and the commissioners to accomplish county objectives.

Concerning apparent discrimination in the work load and fringe benefits of various county employes they suggested all county employes be treated alike. They recommended that a new Addressograph machine operator be hired for the Assessment department.

After special instructions from Judge Stuart Hamill with reference to the county's financial surplus and application of the supplemental police protection fund, the jurors found that the county began the fiscal year with approximately $600,000 of which $400,000 was put back into the year's levy. The anticipated surplus at the year end

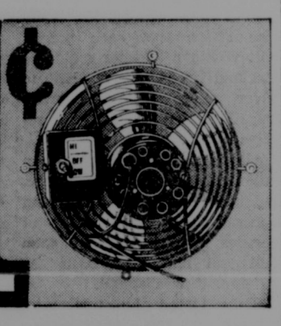
Study of Fawns Is Being Made

A study of fawns is being undertaken in Garrett and Allegany counties by the Maryland Department of Game and Inland Fish to determine whether a heavy burden of parasites could be responsible for poor deer reproduction.

It was noted for some years that the fawn crop in Allegany county is uniformly poor, while in this county deer reproduction is fairly good, according to Bernard Halla, forest wildlife biologist for the department.



The study of two counties is to be made by Dr. Frank Hayes, biologist, University of Georgia's school of veterinary medicine.

Dr. Hayes who will spend the week of September 15, at the Billmeyer Wildlife Management area in Allegany county, will conduct postmortems on fawns, possibly five each from Allegany and Garrett counties. A comparison of the parasite level of the animals from the two counties may shed some light on the problem.

Halla pointed out that deer, much like human beings, become susceptible to attack by parasites or inroads of disease when their general condition declines because of malnutrition.

Southern Bus Drivers Meet

Principal Robert F. Rodeheaver and vice-principal Carl Everly met with the bus drivers on September 9 to discuss the arrival and dismissal of the students. School policies were also included in the format of the meeting.

Another meeting is planned with Doctor Jenkins, Bus Drivers' Executive Secretary, as guest speaker.

Seniors will order graduation material at a later date.

The proofs will be returned to the students in a few days, and a representative of the studio will return to the school to take orders.

PTA To Meet Monday

The first PTA meeting this year will be Monday, September 16, in the cafetorium with President Courtney Tusing presiding.

The program will be presented by Robert F. Rodeheaver, principal, who will discuss scheduling, comments of evaluation held last year, and objectives for the year. New teachers will be introduced.

Band Boosters Raise Funds

Puts Forth Blossoms

A Fallowater apple tree in Deer Park, on the property of Carl Mayle, has put forth blossoms for the second time this year. Mr. Mayle brought a sample to The Republican office on Tuesday for verification.

Old timers say that a tree which acts in this manner is about ready to die and will probably do so the following year.

WASHINGTON AND Small Business

BY C. WILSON HARDER

Riots and Taxes

"Take snapshots along the way to preserve those pleasant moments" was at one time the thrust of an advertising appeal to sell cameras and film.

But now the Internal Revenue Service advises business enterprises to take snapshots if they want to take income tax deductions for riot losses.

While every other governmental agency apparently seems helpless in devising ways of stopping riots, the IRS has come up with a program for claiming losses after a riot. This is contained in a booklet, Document 5174, available free at any IRS office.

As to be expected, it is complicated, comprising some eleven steps to be taken. One is to be sure that before a riot the proprietor has photos of the property, including those showing improvements, and then to be sure to have photos after the looters and fire bombing have been controlled.

In addition, the owner must give such details as the nature of the losses suffered such as fire bombing, looting, et al, and the date of the happening.

If looting occurred, the owner must state when he discovered the loss of goods, supported by police records and other documentary evidence. The owner must also prove through deeds, bills of sale and other papers, ownership of the property.

Documentary evidence is also required to establish the basis for the cost of the property as well as for any improvements made. In addition there must be established by appraisals the value of the property before destruction and the value of the property following destruction. Included must be the details on the insurance payment anticipated and applied against the cost of repairs, restoration, clean up and other operations.

Thus, while business owners may feel that their biggest headache is over after the last looter has been rounded up, the flames from the last Molotov cocktail extinguished, and the last sniper apprehended, this is far from the case.

Although press coverage of such events is most comprehensive, he must assume that no government people ever read the newspapers, and laboriously build up the evidence needed to establish his losses.

* * *

While the IRS is due for congratulations in issuing such a guide for victims of future rioting, there is a large element of irony here. After all, while most segments of the present governmental structure say they cannot control business being victimized by rioters, and some even condone the situation, another government branch draws up elaborate rules to forestall any possible attempt by the victims of rioting to victimize government.

Southern Hi Snaps Stags Win Streak

Southern High school cracked the two-year 11-game winning streak of Kingwood High school by defeating the Stags from Preston County last Friday night at Oakland by the score of 12 to 7.

After the teams had battled to a scoreless tie the first half Coach LeRoy Bolding's gridders broke the ice in the third period when Pat Flanagan tallied on a five-yard run.

Richard Skipper, Southern's 5-foot-8 quarterback, caught halfback Richard Browning's 15 yard pass and sprinted 15 yards for the final six-pointer.

Kingwood averted a shutout in the final quarter when halfback Boeins hit Howard, an end, with a 15-yard pass in the end zone. Wilson kicked the extra point.

Kingwood attempted a field goal in the second period but the ball struck the crossbar.

from Clinton W. Englander

Question

I'm taking sleeping pills. All of the continual, bad publicity about them is beginning to make me nervous. Just how dangerous are they?

Answer

There is no reason for being nervous about taking sleeping pills—IF you carefully follow your doctor's instructions. The old truism for any medication "use it only as instructed by your doctor" is the rule to absolutely follow with sleeping pills, as with all prescription drug medications. Please do be careful not to use sleeping pills when alcohol has been consumed because alcohol is a depressant. Adding its effect to that of sleeping pills is the same as increasing the dosage . . . and this has been known to be fatal. Also, using antihistamines, tranquilizers and even some cough medicines, can have a sedative action which amounts to increasing the sleeping pill dosage. So, (1) please stay in close consultation with your doctor when taking sleeping pills, and please (2) never try self-diagnosis (being your own "doctor") where the correct dosage of these pills is concerned.

Jurors Return

will be approximately $180,000, they were told. They found the police protection fund would amount to about $21,400 and that this was being placed in the general fund, mainly to replace the regular county budget rather than to supplement.

Sheriff James E. Frantz reported to them that his budget for operating expenses of his office had been cut in half. They recommended that the two deputies be granted a raise of $600 each and that commissioners use state funds to supplement local expenditures rather than to replace them.

The jurors found the hospital and its facilities in excellent condition.

Among the various recommendations were suggested repairs to Court House such as side walks, roof balustrade, repairing and painting of walls, broken floor tile, cleaning up entrances, hall ways, stairs, rest rooms; cleaning and waxing of floors, stoker for the furnace, an assistant for the janitor;

Sheriff's residence and jail, repainting and repapering, front porch paint, general rundown condition and needing repair, storm windows for jail, shower repair, general painting and repair to jail, more heat in women's jail quarters, jail office in rundown condition; needed repairs in jail basement including automatic stoker.

There were also recommendations for the county garages at Grantsville, Accident and Oakland, including more storage space at Accident, painting and general repair.

The specific recommendations of the present jurors included: storage yard at county garage, generally untidy but Roads engineer promised to put it in proper order; plans for new roof on main garage building; a way to dispose of unused, obsolete materials; construction of a planned storage building near present county roads garage. The jurors commended the roads engineer and staff for the commendable job of erection, installation and operation of the reconditioned hot mix bituminous concrete plant as well as the fine job of snow removal.

The report of the grand jury was one of the longest on record, containing six 8 and one-half by 14 size pages.

The petit jury will meet, Monday, September 23.

grain like their ancestors did. A hot air engine, a miniature steam engine and a miniature sawmill, as well as an early traction engine will add interest to the Festival Grounds. Again there will be hay-rides for children.

Man-and-woman-teams will be boiling down apple cider to make applebutter in a copper kettle, and boiling maple syrup to produce the "spotza", famous in this mountain area. The aroma of boiling piccalilli will rise from the pioneer kitchen, where loaves of home-baked bread and Dutch cook-books will also be on sale.

In the center tent craftsmen will be demonstrating the wool story—including pulling, carding, spinning, reeling and weaving. Potters will be demonstrating their ancient art on the wheel, artists will work in wool, metal, stone and fabrics. Cornhusk doll makers; basket-weavers; cloth weavers working on 2-harness, 4-harness and 8 harness looms; rug-hookers, braiders and weavers and a handful of pioneer quilters will exhibit. The arts of tatting, knitting and cross-stitch, will be demonstrated. Bonnet-making and doll-dressing will be done.

Pennsylvania Dutch smoked sausage dinners will be served both days, and concession stands will serve those who prefer lighter fare or quicker service. Three historic-scenic tours, two into Pennsylvania and one into Maryland will serve guests who wish to round out their day with a trip thru the countryside. The Springs Museum will be open to visitors with a collection of early artifacts of the Casselman Valley, as well as an extensive rock and fossil collection.

Most demonstrations will close about 5 p. m. but an evening program of song and folklore will be presented at 7:30 p. m. at the "Town Square" Friday evening.

ation of the sheriff's office for that year".

He suggested that the sheriff and county commissioners be called before the grand jurors to hear details and to conduct such investigation as required to "resolve this situation".

It was further revealed that Deputy John Evans and Deputy Delbert Swartzentruber, whose salaries are $3,900, had asked for $600 per annum raise which was denied by two of the County Commissioners. Both have tendered their resignations effective September 15. Judge Hamill said he considered these men two of the finest police enforcement officers that the county has ever had and added that the "loss of these two fine police officers would most seriously impair the operation of the sheriff's office".

It was also pointed out that the sheriff had asked for an increase of $25 per month in operation of the county jail which would bring his total expenses for operation of the jail to $100 per month. This too, he said, had been refused by two of the county commissioners.

The judge also suggested that the grand jury make a determination of the status of the county's reserve fund. He said that some six months ago it was approaching the one-half million dollar mark and he pointed out the jurors had a right to ascertain the amount of this reserve fund, and for what purposes, if any, it was being used.

Fourteen Killed On State Highways

Fourteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week, according to the weekly survey published by the State Police. Seven of those killed were drivers, two were passengers, and five were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in three of the deaths, speed in three, and "driver error" in nine.

"In reviewing the highway fatality figures for last week, we cannot help but be disturbed by the proportionately large number of pedestrians who have lost their lives in recent weeks", commented Lt. Col. George E. Davidson, Deputy Superintendent of the State Police. "In the last two weeks alone a total of thirteen pedestrians have been killed on Maryland roads.

"Three of the pedestrians last week were killed at night, and it is normally the hours of darkness that are particularly hazardous for persons walking on or near a roadway. It is the responsibility of the pedestrian to wear light-colored clothing, to walk facing traffic, and to be sure that alcohol has not reduced his physical or mental coordination to walk safely".

Lt. Col. Davidson concluded: "It must be remembered, also, that operators have a responsibility to be alert for pedestrians. TOTAL responsibility is necessary in the interest of reducing accidents".

Motorists Last Year Killed 932 Deer

Maryland motorists accounted for 932 of the deer killed in the entire state during 1967, according to a recent survey by the State Game and Inland Fish commission. This is slightly more than 10 percent of all the deer harvested by hunters in bow and arrow season, the regular firearms season, and the antlerless deer season. Hunters killed 9,017 deer in 1967.

Motorists using Maryland roads stand to lose more than a quarter of a million dollars through collisions with deer during 1968, if the year follows the pattern of the last five.

Deer killed by collision with a vehicle, dropped almost 150 animals from the 1966 total of 1,078, it was pointed out.

Crown Prince Harald and his commoner bride left for a honeymoon voyage aboard the royal yacht.

IN MEMORIAM

A tribute of love to the memory of Cora D. Marley, who passed away September 14, 1967.
One year has passed since that sad day
When the one we loved was called away;
God took her home—it was His will;
Within our hearts she liveth still.

Porches

There is a kind of sadness in my mind as I pass a development of new houses and note the absence of porches on them. In modern days, when visiting is not the ordinary custom as it once was, perhaps families do not consider a porch as necessary as a carport. But to an old-fashioned mind there is nothing like a porch, perhaps one with a swing where the newspaper was a quiet delight, or in other days, when an adoring swain was happy to push the swing. The calm hours of solitude in a place where folks would not bother us are seldom enjoyed in a house not equipped with a nook or outside haven where it is away from voices.

Grandmother's porch on the farmhouse was a haven for tired and industrious people. Many are the hours that she, being a hard-working country lady, shelled peas or snapped beans while enjoying summer smells of flowers blossoming or the breezes from nearby trees. There also we sat as children, making paper cut-outs, reading the funnies, or blowing soap bubbles with spools. But the time that was best at this relaxing location was just after the noon meal when Grandfaher, wise farmer that he was, spent twenty minutes to a half hour talking to his hired hands or his grandchildren before he returned to work. In the hustle-bustle of our day, when farming takes so much machinery to provide the leisure that no one takes, I think of the moments of rest, so well deserved and so prudently observed. Such minutes on the porch may have prevented many ulcers.

Seldom do you miss the arrival of good friends when there is a porch where sounds of their tread herald a greeting. The mother knows that a child is safe because "I heard him on the porch". And we must not forget the happy good-byes and waves to guests as they depart and you think of the highlights of their visit. Brief seems a bit lessened if you sit outside, just away from the ones so sorrowful, to talk in quiet tones of the departed one. Each one looks in retrospect, and may find consolation from conversation on the porch, removed from the main scene but still respectful.

Who from the country does not recall those lingering goodnights on porches where hidden doorways or friendly thick vines provided a hidden retreat from neighborly watchful eyes? The difficulty of leaving was in part assuaged by the privacy of one's own porch.

I like to think of your smile as a porch, linking the outside and the interior of your being, showing forth the thoughts within. The heart is touched and out comes kindness in a smile, even as one anticipating comes out to the porch for a greeting as we arrive. How fortunate is anyone who has this quick smile, enough to evoke a response in the person he contacts, so that real communication is there. Perhaps our mental porches can be widened to envelop a larger scheme of living.

No Antlerless Deer Season Scheduled

The Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, in announcing that a public hearing on proposed game and fish regulations had been changed to Saturday, September 28, also reported there would be no antlerless deer season in this area this year.

The public hearing date was changed from October 5 in defrenre to squirrel hunters. The change will allow squirrel hunters to submit ideas on proposed regulations.

The commission makes decisions on various hunting and fishing seasons and regulation following the formal hearing held every fall.

A number of changes are being considered but none is likely to cause more comment than the deer season, particularly that part of the regulations dealing with the antlerless season.

The regular firearms season for deer already has been set as November 30, to December 7, inclusive, except Sunday. Bow and arrow hunters may hunt September 16 through November 29, December 9 through December 20, and December 23 through January 4.

The commission also is considering several changes in fishing regulations. One proposal is for a year-round trout season, eliminating the one month closed season that has been in effect for years. Another proposal is to eliminate the seven-inch size limit on trout. A change in trout stream designations also is suggested.

The project was reconstruction of slightly more than half a mile of the Old Deer Park road from Third street, to the town limits of Oakland, to the east. The work was done by the Phoenix Construction company of Cumberland.

Angus Steer Brings 33 Cents At Sale

Jack Rodeheaver and David Durst were major attractions in the first annual Northern Agriculture Project Show and Sale held at Friends Stockyard on Sept. 9.

The top Angus Steer sold at thirty three cents per pound and was grown and sold by Jack Rodeheaver for a total of $275.55. Second place was won by David Durst with a Shorthorn steer at $265.00. Rodeheaver came back in third place with another Angus selling for $273.

Successful bidders in the sale were Northern Cafeteria, Casselman Motor Company and the Northern High faculty.

Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Rodeheaver of the Bishoff Road near Friendsville. David lives with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Baker at Grantsville.

Steers were judged by the Official FFA Livestock Judging Team of Sam Michaels, Gary Sines, and Ronald Frazee. This team will visit the packing plant after the animals are slaughtered to check their live placings against the dressed carcasses.

According to the Agriculture Instructor at Northern High it is hoped that this small beginning will grow into a show and sale that will motivate all agriculture students to produce a higher quantity and quality of projects with a reasonable net income at near normal market prices.

Miss Wilson Weds Richard L. Cropp

On Sunday, September 8, Miss Diana Virginia Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. Wilson, Kitzmiller, became the bride of Mr. Richard Lowell Cropp, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Cropp of Mt. Lake Park.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Reverend Joseph Gerstell at the United Mt. Bethel Methodist Church in Kitzmiller. The bride's father served as vocalist, singing "Somewhere a Voice is Calling" and "The Lord's Prayer", and was accompanied by Mrs. Harold Sharpless, aunt of the bride, who also provided traditional wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown with lace bodice trimmed in seed pearls and French sequins. The graceful skirt and chapel length train were of white organza highlighted by sequined lace. The white illusion veil was accented by handmade headpiece of delicate lace, pearls and sequins. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations. The church was decorated with arrangements of white carnations and palms.

The bride was attended by the maid of honor, Miss Mary Jane Sharpless, her cousin, and the flower girl, Miss Harriet Myers, both of whom wore floor length gowns of blue chiffon over taffeta.

The mother of the bride wore a jacket dress of pink rib knit and a corsage of pink and white carnations. The groom's mother wore a dress of light blue brocade accented by a corsage of blue and white carnations.

JUST WHAT IS A SLIPPED DISC?

It is really a ruptured disk. The spinal cord is a column of nerves running through the vertabrae. Between each pair of vertabrae is a aasoft spongy disk to allow the spine to bend and curve. It acts as a shock absorber. If sufficient strain occurs, this disk tears. The softer material oozes out into the spinal canal and presses against the spinal cord, causing severe pain.

A ruptured disk more often occurs after age 25. As one ages, the sturdy, elastic tissue, that gives the disk the support to sustain the vertabrae weakens. Usually bed rest, traction, or a support will help. A physician should be consulted.

Mayor and Council Meet September 9

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland held a routine meeting Monday evening at City Hall, at which time several subjects were discussed, complaints were aired, and financial reports studied.

The meeting first heard Rudolph Cvetnick, who complained of the condition of Fairway Drive and requested installation of a street light, which was approved.

Carroll Miller asked that sewer charges be reduced for the Starlite Motel north of Oakland. No action was taken at the time.

The group authorized purchase of 12 new parking meters, some of which will be installed along the section of new sidewalk on Second Street. Also authorized was installation of a new street light on Water, Poplar and Center Streets.

Among the topics up for discussion was the opening of Yough bridge, erection of a wall on Pennington Street, storage of the recreation program supplies, and the deeds for the Broadford dam.

A complaint was relayed by a council member concerning lid not being replaced on garbage cans.

Rev. Walter Leake, of the Assembly of God church, requested permission to hold a street-side gospel sing Friday night. The council denied permission.

It was decided to ask the Community Action Committee to restore Washington Spring, located between Oakland and Rosedale, adjacent to the Little Youghiogheny river.

August collections totaled $13,131.09, according to the financial report for the month. That amount included $129.05 for water miscellaneous and penalty; $1,347.05 total water collections; $105 for water deposits; $8,039.67 from parking meters; and $2,513.18 interest from Treasury Bills.

Expenditures for the month, which amounted to $13,723.43, included $2,264.50 for street supplies; $716.78 for water supplies; $250 for Mt. City Band; $479.73 for recreation.

The balance August 1 was $2,379.78, which brought total funds to $15,510.87. Some $1,787.44 remained after expenditures were substracted.

A letter was received from Bettervision Systems, Inc., in regard to complaints about local cable service. The letter asserted that the poor service is caused by arcing of defective insulators belonging to the Monongahela Power Company, and that the antenna will again be relocated in an attempt to improve service.

One new building permit was issued during the month, for Herbert Ritchie, who plans to erect a 26 by 49 foot dwelling on 826 E. High Street. The building, to cost an approximate $15,000, will have a basement, alumninum siding, and asphalt roof.

A permit was issued to A. D. Naylor and Co., Inc., canceling a previous permit for an advertising sign and asking permission to erect a 10 by 21 L-shaped rotating advertising sign.

Cemetery Balance Sheet

The balance sheet for the Oakland cemetery listed assets at $53,826.78 with accounts payable at $3,585.18. Income for the past fiscal year was listed at $5,568.11, while expenses totaled $6,838.98. Net loss was $1,270.87.

An audit prepared for the Town of Oakland by George McLaughlin, CPA, listed total assets at $2,549,611.35; total liabilities at $407,850.32. Fund balances amounted to $2,140,760.83. The operating expenses, including salaries and capital outlay, amounted to $200,106.12.

Listed in a comparison of figures for 1967 and 1968, tax revenue increased from $59,420.26 to $61,239.99, while licenses and permits increased from $11,292.57 to $13,223.50.

Yates-Strawser Wedding Held

Miss Emma Strawser, daughter of Mrs. Hazel R. Strawser, of Ravenna, Ohio, and the late Earl L. Strawser, became the bride of Robert T. Yates Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Yates, Warren, Ohio, in St. Paul's Lutheran church, Warren, on Saturday afternoon, August 3.

The church was decorated with vases of white gladioli, pale yellow and aqua carnations. Wedding music was presented by Donald Longworth who gave Aria in F Major by Handel for the processional and Psalm XIX by Bennadetta Marcello for the recessional. The Rev. Carl Coad, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Charley Paugh, was attired in an A-line linen gown with empire waist and scoop neckline, with Kabuki sleeves trimmed in Venise lace. Venise lace also trimmed the hemline and circular train. She had an elbow length veil with a double Dior bow of matching linen. Her flowers were a cascade of white miniature carnations centered with a white cattleya orchid, surrounded by stephanotis and ivy. She wore a solitaire diamond necklace, a gift of the groom.

Miss Thelma Strawser, served as her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jean Adgate Wagner and Mrs. Ann Koon Flueckiger.

Best man was Dennis Hales while Gregg Zuccher and Philip Godfrey served as ushers.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church fellowship hall for 150 guests. A table with a three-tiered cake trimmed with aqua roses centered the fellowship hall. Other decorations included two large candlelabra of flowers matching those of the bridal party.

The couple honeymooned in Las Vegas, Nevada. For traveling the bride wore a light blue slubbed linen suit with navy patent accessories. She wore an orchid taken from the bridal bouquet.

The bride is employed as a fifth grade teacher for the Warren City schools. She was graduated from Howland High school and Kent State university in 1968. She is a niece of Allen S. Paugh, of Deer Park, member of the County Comrissioners of here.

The groom is employed in the offices of C. Tennant and Sons and was scheduled to leave for Army Officers' candidate school on September 12. He was graduated from Howland High school and Muskingum college where he was affiliated with the Kappa Sigma social fraternity.

Guests attending the wedding and reception were from Pennsylvania, Illinois, New York, New Jersey, West Virginia and Maryland.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents at the Trumbull Country club for some 20 persons. A miscellaneous shower was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adgate by Mrs. Jean Adgate Wagner and Miss Kathleen Irwin on July 21. A luncheon was given July 24 at the home of Mrs. James Ballantyne by Mrs. Ballantyne, Mrs. Richard Wolschlag and Mrs. John O'Hea. A picnic luncheon also was given at the Davey farm by the bride's co-workers of Kent State university placement bureau on July 27.

The couple, Mr. and Mrs. Yates are residing at 707 North Road, S. E., Warren.

Hunters Advised They Must Display Licenses

Hunters were being reminded this week they must wear tags bearing their license numbers on an outer garment the entire time they are in the field.

The law now says that every hunter must have a valid license on his person while hunting and "every licensee, with the exception of those hunting wild waterfowl, shall display a tag bearing his license number in figures at least one inch in height fastened upon his outer garment in such manner that the figures are visible at all times while hunting".

The license itself must be produced for inspection of any law officer or landowner or his representative who demands to see it.

THE LAND AND THE PEOPLE

Jim has a college degree in agriculture—Helen, a diploma from junior college. And they're back on the land.

Less than five miles from the farm where they'll start their married life is a church. They'll be part of it.

For they know the greatness of the nation in which they were born; a greatness rooted in the land and the people.

It's the same land their forefathers tilled.

It's got to be the same kind of people.

That's why there's a church less than five miles away . . . and why they'll be part of it.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE SIN OF SILENCE

Lesson for September 15, 1968

Background Scripture: Esther 1 through 8. Devotional Reading: Psalms 46.

Rev. Althouse

For the Christian there are few books in the Bible more troubling than Esther. It is an interesting story, but the follower of Christ can hardly help but be appalled at the bloody conclusion in which 75,000 of the Jews' enemies are slain in a single day's vengeance.

Still, Maimonides, the medieval Jewish philosopher, said that if all the rest of the scriptures passed away, the Torah and Esther would remain. Today it remains one of the favorite books in the synagogue and is read at every celebration of the Feast of Purim. Even an important Jewish women's society is named in honor of Esther (Hadassah).

An epic of survival

To the non-Jew it may not seem at all a religious book—the name of God is not even mentioned in it. Martin Luther was quite outspoken in his derogatory opinion: "I am so hostile to this book that I wish it did not exist. . ." Why, then, is it so important to our Jewish brothers?

The answer should be obvious to the sensitive reader: it is a stirring story of deliverance from the evil of anti-Semitism. Its story helps to remind the Jew that, though captive to the Egyptians, harassed by the Canaanites and Phillistines, carried into exile by the Assyrians and Babylonians, persecuted by the Persians, the Macedonians, the Romans, the Christians, and systematically exterminated by the Nazis, they have nevertheless survived and it is a celebration of that triumphant survival!

It is also appeal for self-sacrificing courage and perseverance. Esther's uncle, Mordecai, does not assure her that everything will come out all right—as often it does not—but instead says: "And who knows whether you have not come to the kingdom for such a time as this?" Her response is still an inspiration for the Jew today: ". . .if I perish, I perish". (Esther 4: 14-16 RSV)

Roots of prejudice

There is, however, something else in Esther for the non-Jew. None of us should be able to read this book without some stabbing of conscience and the haunting realization that the greatest of evils in this book, anti-Semitism, is still with us today, an evil for which we cannot quite escape some collective if not individual responsibility. Haman's route to prejudice is not unlike our own. He begins by hating an individual Jew, Mordecai, and goes on to despising all Jews. He hates the Jew because his culture refuses to be swallowed up by his own. The Jews are different and that difference becomes both a cause and a symbol of his hatred.

Instead of Haman, perhaps we identify with the king. He has no particular dislike for the Jews. He allows Haman to persecute them simply because he is too preoccupied with other things! Though he has the power to do something about it, he manages to regard it as none of his affair. How many Jews have grievously suffered, not only because of the Haman's, but because of men like the king who are too preoccupied with other concerns?

Guilty bystanders

There are others in the story, minor characters who merely carry out the orders of the Haman's. They are men who build scaffolds (or ovens) for someone else's victims. They are soldiers obeying their superiors and guilty bystanders who go blithely about their "business as usual."

That is how monstrous crimes take place: not only because of the Haman's, the very visible villians, but also because of the others who let it happen by their silence. Queen Esther could have been one of these. Her own position was secure. No wonder our Jewish brothers admire this woman who risked everything rather than commit the sin of silence!

Events Above The Mountain Top

By Paul S. Frank Jr.

September 12 - 18

Today the sun rose at 6:56 a. m. The day lasts twelve hours and thirty-five minutes ending at 7:31 p. m. when the sun sets. On September 18 the day lasts twelve hours and nineteen minutes with sunrise at 7:02 a. m. and sunset at 7:21 p. m.

Tomorrow at 5:00 p. m. the moon will be 251,300 miles from the earth. This apogee is the only one during the month. On Saturday, at 3:50 p. m., the moon passes through its last quarter phase. During the week it rises after midnight.

Three planets may be visible to the unaided eye. In the early evening Venus can be seen just above the western horizon in the constellation of Virgo. It sets about one hour after the sun. Saturn, which is in the constellation of Pisces, rises soon after the sun sets and is visible until sunrise. Mars rises about two hours before the sun. It is visible in the constellation Leo.

Just 100 miles south of Garrett County there is a major radio astronomy observatory. Located in Green Bank, West Virginia, this observatory includes the largest movable reflecting radio telescope, the first radio telescope, and the most precise radio telescope. There are more than a dozen radio telescopes at this observatory. Research including the detection, measurement, and identification of radio waves from outer space is the major work carried on at the National Radio Astronomy Observatory.

At this observatory men work at the frontiers of science, investigating, describing, and trying to understand just a little bit more about our world. This observatory, located in Deer Creek Valley is separated from large population centers by a circle of 4,000 foot peaks. In this setting, the radio telescopes of the National Radio Astronomy Observatory can seek the faint radio signals from space, which are so easily lost in man-made radio noise from automobile engines, radio transmitters, and other electrical devices.

Why is it a national observatory? Radio telescopes are too expensive for most private institutions to build and operate large radio astronomy observatories. The National Radio Astronomy Observatory is operated by a group of nine universities. The research projects are funded by the National Science Foundation. Any radio astronomer may apply to the NSF for funds to carry out his project at the National Radio Astronomy Observatory.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a divorce and custody of two minor children.

The Bill of Complaint recites the complainant and respondent were married February 25, 1952 by a minister; that two children were born of this marriage; that the complainant is a resident of Garrett County; that the respondent is guilty of adultery and is presently living with another man and secreting the two children from the complainant; and the said Bill of Complaint request a final decree of divorce granting him custody of the two minor children.

It is thereupon this 20th day of August, 1968, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, ORDERED that the complainant, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 13th day of September, 1968, giving notice to the said absent respondent, Margaret June Pratt, of the object and substance of the Bill of Complaint, and warning her to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 14th day of October, 1968, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

WELDING CLINIC!

'Here's a rare opportunity . . . a chance for farmers and others to learn how to save valuable time and money by doing their own welding.'

With improved new Twentieth Century equipment, it's easy. We'll demonstrate it. Then we'll let you try your hand. You'll see how easily you can do a multitude of repair jobs with a versatile new Twentieth Century heavy-duty welder. Remember, it's the handy, low-cost welder with these 7 exclusive features:

1. A new 350 AMP cutting ground for faster and cleaner cutting, piercing and gouging.
2. Voltage control for offsetting line voltage drops — it works where other welders can't.
3. Spot welding without attachments, with settings built in, for faster, stronger welds.
4. Soldering, also without attachments, with settings built in, for faster soldering without surface preparation.
5. Battery charging with an inexpensive attachment for fast and slow charging of 6, 8, 12 and 24 volt batteries.
6. Heavier construction — more copper and sturdier electrical steel protect against voltage loss, let you weld better, strike and hold an arc easier.
7. You get a "continuous welding" service guarantee — five years on parts, labor and repairs; twenty years on labor and repairs.

Trip To Baltimore To Take Less Time

The approximately 19 mile section of Interstate 70 betweent Hagerstown and Frederick will be opened to traffic about November 15, according to John D. Bushby, district engineer for the State Roads commission.

It is the last highway link between Cumberland and Baltimore and Washington which remained to be modernized.

Interstate 70 project runs parallel and slightly north of U. S. Route 40 to South Mountain where it will cross beneath Rt. 40 to Frederick.

More than $32 million is being spent on the section. The new section will eliminate the outmoded U. S. route 40 stretch which had hills and dips, and the new route will allow speed up to 60 miles per hour.

The completion will make the journey from Oakland to Baltimore about an hour faster than was required eight or nine years ago.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 92. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., SEPTEMBER 19, 1968 PER COPY 10c NUMBER 29.

Must Solve Problem . . .

Federal bureaucracy gives words a new meaning, we are told in an article in the Industrial Press Service. For example, "temporary" is synonomous with "forever"; "emergency" becomes "a way of life"; "failure" becomes "an incentive for expansion".

While private business will drop an ineffective project after a short trial run, government is more likely to expand it on the theory that a little more money will assure its success.

So, old federal programs continue to pile up. New ones are added. In 1955, the Hoover commission deplored the fact that 25 federal agencies had water resource development programs; in 1967 40 agencies were involved. In 1964 there were 239 programs of grants-in-aid to state and local governments; now there are more than 500.

Ten cabinet departments and more than 15 other agencies are involved in education; 8 departments and 4 agencies operate major credit programs. There are between 15 and 30 separate manpower programs administered by public and private agencies, supported by public funds, in each major metropolitan area.

A privately published, 1,000-page encyclopedia of government programs, not limited to assistance, lists more than 5,000 services — from "aerial photographs" to "zoological parks" provided by the national government in its 1968 edition.

Congress should take a long, hard look at the many overlapping and conflicting agencies and take the necessary action for consolidation and elimination, the Press service recommends. We'll say amen to that and also recommend that the voters take a real close look at our top leadership in government and make your decision to change that leadership in the general election in November, by casting your vote for Richard M. Nixon and Spiro Agnew.

Auto Dealers Plan Display Of New Models

County automobile dealers are arranging for displays of their new models beginning this week and continuing for additional weeks.

Visitors to the various garages will receive favors, etc., for stopping in to see the new automobiles.

Displays for Chrysler, Plymouth and Dodge were arranged for this week, while dealerships for Chevrolet, Oldsmobile and Ford are planning their displays for next week. The showing of the Rambler is set for October 1. Displays for Pontiac are scheduled for September 25, while the Buick will be displayed starting September 26.

In previous years parades have been scheduled but nothing like this is planned for this year.

Dodge: Ralph Pritts garage, Oakland; Grantsville garage, Grantsville.

Chrysler - Plymouth: Ray Teets garage, Oakland; Spoerlein's garage, Accident.

Chevrolet: Sharps Motor, Oakland; Casselman Motor, Grantsville.

Buick: Leighton Brothers, Oakland.

Ford: Shaffer Ford Sales, Oakland; Motor Service company, Grantsville.

Oldsmobile and Rambler: Sanders and Hershman, Oakland.

Pontiac: C. and M. Pontiac Sales, Oakland.

Make Plans For Christmas Season

At a meeting of the Merchants Committee of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday noon, members began making plans for a parade which would usher in the Christmas shopping season in the town of Oakland.

The date of the parade was set for Friday, November 29, the day after Thanksgiving. Details are to be worked out by the committee.

Insurance Money Taken At Dennett Road Elementary

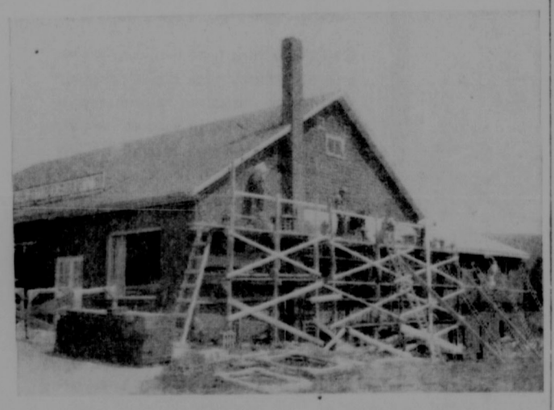
The theft of $103.78 in cash and other currency from the Dennett Road School was discovered Monday morning when teachers returned from the week-end.

According to Foster Riggs, principal of the elementary school which has 615 pupils, the thieves gained entry to the building by breaking through a plywood division between the old and new sections of the building.

Apparently the youths then went from desk to desk, helping themselves to money youngsters had turned in for school insurance. The thieves also took a watch belonging to one of the teachers.

Tfc. R. S. Lewis of the Maryland State Police, is conducting the investigation.

Freeway Meeting Set For Friday In Oakland



The public hearing to hear views of persons concerning the proposed National Freeway from Keyser Ridge to the West Virginia state line near Bruceton Mills, will be held tomorrow afternoon, September 20, at 2 o'clock.

The hearing will be held in the Community room of the First National bank, Second street, in Oakland.

Notice of the hearing was given over three weeks ago by Walter J. Addison, deputy chief engineer, Planning and Safety division, State Roads Commission.

The section in this county would be a new route and would intersect U. S. 219 in the Keyser Ridge area. A map showing the location of the project is to be on display in the bank.

The tie-in with the West Virginia portion of the freeway has been agreed upon and the roadway will eventually reach Morgantown. In the plan is a highway from Cincinnati to Baltimore.

NEARS COMPLETION—Construction work on the Accident Fire Hall-Community Building is nearing completion. Besides brick veneering the old 40'x60' structure, a new 32'x60' section has been added. The building will provide a firemen's room, an engine room for two trucks, and office rooms for the Town Council, Boy Scouts and American Legion. There are also two large rooms in which community meetings and activities may be held. Material costs for the construction are being furnished by the Accident Fire Department and community with the labor being donated by the Community Action Agency through its Operation Mainstream Program.

Absentee Ballots Make No Changes In Primary Results

Absentee ballots counted last Thursday by the Board of Election Supervisors made no changes in primary results but did increase the percentage of citizens going to the polls slightly.

Seventy-three ballots were received but three were incorrectly marked, according to board's attorney, thus only seventy were counted.

Charles Mathias, J. Glenn Beall Jr., got the majority of the absentee votes from the Republican absentees while Daniel Brewster and Goodloe Byron received the majority on the Democratic ticket.

The absentee voting gave For Senate, Mathias, 33; Simms, 5; and Wattay, 2; For Congress, Beall, 30; Berkson, 4; Burns, 1; Marsh, 2; and Sheets, 2; For Senate, Democratic, Brewster, 25; Finch, 1; Howes, 2; and Pierpont, 2; For Congress, Burgess, 8; and Byron, 20.

There were no errors in the unofficial returns, so official totals, including absentee ballots, were as follows:

Republican

For U. S. Senate: Mathias, 1284; Simms, 191; Wattay, 22.

For Congress: Beall, 1275; Berkson, 75; Burns, 39; Marsh, 17; and Sheets, 80.

For U. S. Senate: Brewster, 405; Finch, 100; Howes, 32; and Pierpont, 56.

For Congress: Burgess, 128; Byron, 438.

Percentage Still Low

The percentage of those casting their ballots was still low but improved slightly with the absentee ballots. Some 1,500 Republicans voted out of a total of 5245 for a percentage of 28.6. Some 593 Democrats voted out of a total of 3396 for a percentage of 17.4.

The percentage for Republicans and Democrats combined was 24.2 percent of a total of 8641. Total registration was 9712 but 71 were listed as declining to state their affiliation which made them ineligible to vote in the primary.

Seven Juveniles To Be Heard On Larceny Charges

Nine cases are set for a hearing in the juvenile court on Tuesday, October 8, according to records in the office of Richard L. Davis, clerk of the circuit court.

One of the individuals is an adult charged with contributing to the delinquency of the seven youths and allowing his automobile to be used to hide the soft drinks and furnishing transportation to them.

The ninth case involves a youth listed in the larceny of the 1965 Dodge automobile owned by James McHenry. An adult involved in this case was tried last week. One of the youths also is charged with larceny of a State road sign in the Friendsville area in May of this year.

The ages of the youth are 15, 3; 16, 3; and seventeen, 2.

The cases will be heard before Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill, sitting as a juvenile judge.

Electronic Board Is Now In Use On Southern Gridiron

An electronic scoreboard, for use at the Southern High School football gridiron, has been made available through contributions from the three service clubs of Oakland, the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club, the Oakland Rotary club, and the Oakland Optimist club. The cost of the board and its erection, will approximately cost $2,200, it was learned from Dick Travis, athletic director at Southern.

A check covering the expense involved was presented to Mr. Travis on Monday afternoon at the athletic field in the presence of Robert Rodeheaver, principal, Mr. Travis, Wayne Johnson and Gerald Minnich, representatives of two of the clubs. Herbert McCrobie, president of the Optimist club, was unable to attend the brief ceremonies.

The board is designed to show the score of the game, the time left in each period, the number of downs and the yards needed for a first down. The board can be operated from the press box and from the ground.

The next project to be undertaken by the athletic department is the erection of additional bleachers on both sides of the playing field and a new press box. Mr. Travis said it was his desire to obtain the erection of at least 3,000 seats. Bleachers at present, both the concrete and wooden ones, will seat no more than 800, he said.

The new gymnasium being erected at the Dennett road school, when completed will furnish a place for both teams to rest between halves of the game, and will also provide toilet facilities for the spectators. The building, however, may not be completed in time for any use this fall.

BPW Spearheading Drive For County Recreation Center

The Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club is spearheading a drive to raise funds to construct a proposed recreational building for the county.

The building will be located on the new site of ground that is planned to be acquired by the Town of Oakland for the "Little Youghiogheny Community Recreation Area". The area is located about two miles east of Oakland, in the Broadford section.

Mayor H. D. Swartzentruber has given his nod of approval for the project.

If the Nelson Amendment Program, a part of the Community Action program, is still in operation when construction can begin, the trainees from this program can provide the labor.

The only major costs involved would be for building materials, games, furniture and equipment. Actual cost cannot

W. Va. Woman's Cause Of Death Still Unknown

Frank Earl Browne Held In Weirton, W. Va. For Auto Theft

The cause of death of a 27-year-old Chester, W. Va., woman who was found last Friday evening in a stolen car in a dense patch of woods in Garrett County, across the Potomac river from Shaw, W. Va., was still unsolved this week.

Fred A. Thayer, state's attorney, said nothing additional had developed in the mysterious death of Inez Marie Bambling. Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, deputy medical examiner, of Cumberland, performed an autopsy on the dead woman who had been missing from her home since August 23.

The newest information available is that a Frank Earl Browne, 43, of Weston, W. Va., was arrested September 6 at the Weston State Hospital and charged with grand larceny in the theft of the automobile in which the body of Miss Bambling was found.

This information was furnished by a West Virginia state trooper at Weirton, W. Va. James E. Frantz, sheriff, said the car in which the body was found was the one Browne was accused of stealing.

The trooper said Browne made a statement in which the Steps to establish a merit system for Garrett County employes were discussed at a meeting of members of a study commission authorized by legislative action at the last session, on Tuesday afternoon in the office of the Department of Employment Security.

This was the third meeting of a group of seven persons named to the commission to study the feasibility of establishing such a merit system and they agreed to ask Wayne W. Ransom, assistant to the commissioner of personnel for the state of Maryland, to come to Oakland later this fall to describe in detail the working of such a merit system.

Maryland Deficit Nearly $3 Million

Maryland's 1968 fiscal deficit reached nearly $3 million dollars, a figure less than anticipated last summer. The deficit for the year ending June 30 amounted to $2,834,076, according to Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein. The amount must be made up in fiscal 1969. The amount is equivalent to the cost of operating the state for one day.

Earlier it had been estimated the deficit could go as high as $30 million. The final figures will not be ready until December.

The state based its budget on estimated monetary returns of $655,465,510. Gov. Agnew said the state would not "relax any of its economics now", and would continue cost-cutting steps he imposed earlier including a freeze on most hiring and purchasing by state agencies.

Observe 50th Anniversary

Keeping Up With The Jones—Rev. and Mrs. Eric Jones of 813 Davis ave., Takoma Park, and Thousand Acres, Deep Creek Lake, recently celebrated their Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary and were honored at a reception held in the men's dormitory at Columbia Union College, Takoma Park. Next to the reception room is located the Dean Eric Jones Chapel, named in honor of Mr. Jones for his contribution to the college when he served for ten years as dean of men and professor of physics. Highlighting the reception was the appearance of Massachusetts Congressman Philip J. Philbin, senior statesman and an old friend of the Jones, who is shown here with the honored couple and their four sons and wives at the reception—left to right: Gerry and Joyce and daughter, DeAnn, Chicago; Lorne and Elaine, Los Angeles; Eric Jr., and Charlene, Adelphi and Deep Creek Lake; and Orville, wife not shown, Boston. Also in attendance were former students under Professor Jones's presidency of Atlantic Union College, Lancaster, Mass., and who now are well known educators: Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Douglass, current president and first lady of Atlantic Union College; and President and Mrs. Winton Beaven of Columbia Union College. Following the reception, the Jones tribe spent several days together on the shores of Deep Creek Lake for a gala vacation-reunion at their Chalet.

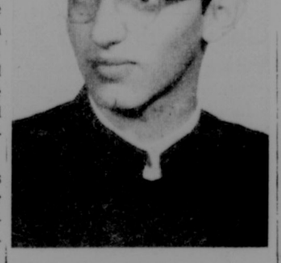
Plan Open House For Highway Week

An "open house" at the State Roads Commission's District 6 headquarters at LaVale, near Cumberland, will be held Thursday, September 26, as a featured event of Maryland Highway Week.

The LaVale district office is located on Braddock Road (Maryland Route 49), a few miles northwest of Cumberland.

An invitation to all Western Maryland citizens to attend the "open house" was extended by John J. McMullen, Commissioner for Western Maryland. He also said a map of part of the planned National Freeway project will be displayed all week at the First National Bank in Oakland, Garrett County.

The map shows the 8-mile section between Maryland Route 219 and the West Virginia line, part of the $100 million freeway being built west of Cumberland.



Highlighting LaVale's "open house" will be guided tours of the highway engineering sections and maintenance shops, every hour on the hour from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. There will be a special exhibit on Western Maryland's highway program. Construction, maintenance and snow removal equipment will be shown. Commission personnel will be on hand to answer questions.

Maryland Highway Week has been proclaimed by Governor Agnew as the week of September 22-28. Its theme is "Highways Are for People".

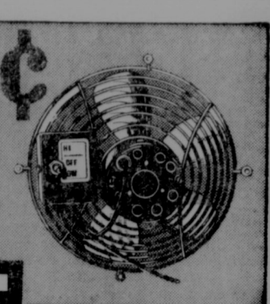
Scrubber Units Are Installed At Luke

The installation and operation of three additional scrubber units to control clay dust in the air has been announced by William M. Thompson, manager of West Virginia Pulp and Paper's Luke Mill, as another step in the improvement of air quality.

The units are high energy, wet scrubbers purchased and installed at a cost of some $65,000. They prevent dust from coating and filler clay conveying systems from reaching the atmosphere.

The new units supplement three bag filters already in use in the area which are 99 per cent efficent in the removal of clay and starch as small as two microns.



The Defense Department figures it cost $1,376,501 to finance use of federal troops during the Chicago convention.

Question

I had the mumps when I was a child and can still remember that siege. Is there any way my children can be protected from this disease?

Answer

You'll be glad to learn there is now a mumps vaccine that has proved highly effective in the prevention of this disease. Please do consult your doctor concerning this vaccine because mumps have become recognized as much more serious than originally understood. "The mumps" is no respector of age, and, when a male adult contracts this disease, there is always the possibility it can cause sterility. Many older people sometimes forget whether or not they have had the mumps. It's important to know that a skin test now exists which gives this evidence. Anyone, young or old, can contract the mumps. The new vaccine assures safety where this often thought to be only a children's disease is concerned.

Cause Of Death

woman's death was not mentioned but in which he did say she had left Chester with him voluntarily.

On August 28 newspapers carried a story of a police report that West Virginia police were looking for a car stolen August 23 and that they believed the thief had abducted a woman. Police at the time tentatively identified the man involved as Frank Earl Browne who had a grand larceny charge facing him in Weirton. The stolen car was first reported abandoned in Keyser on August 26 but officers failed to locate it.

Later, Trooper R. L. Johnson, Keyser detachment, West Virginia state police, received a call from a Chester woman who told him she had information the car had been wrecked and left near Mt. Zion.

The woman had been missing since August 23 from her foster home. From the state of decomposition of the body, authorities said she had been dead some time. The body of the woman who had been partially paralyzed, was taken to the Minnich Funeral home in Oakland.

Trooper F. S. Null, of the Weirton detachment, said Browne had worked for a race-track near Chester and at one time roomed at the foster home where Miss Bambling lived.

The man was tried in the Garrett County Circuit in February of 1964 on a charge of rape involving an 11-year-old girl. He was found guilty of the last two counts of a five count indictment, the charges of assault an assault with intent to rape. He was later sentenced to five years in the Maryland penitentiary. At the time he was tried here he was listed as residing across the Potomac river from Shaw, W. Va. The car was found in an isolated section near a church on Mt. Zion road near the Potomac river.

On the scene when the body was found were Cpl. Milton G. Hart, criminal investigator at LaVale barracks of State Police, Mr. Thayer, Dr. James Feaster, deputy medical examiner, Oakland; Cpl. Thomas E. Ruppert, Tfc. Robert Lashley and Tfc. Donald Smith of the county detachment of State Police; Deputies Sheriff John Evans Jr., and Delbert Swartzentruber and two West Virginia state troopers.

Mr. Thayer said no one in this area was being held in connection with the incident and Mr. Browne was in the hands of West Virginia authorities on the grand larceny charge.

Miss Bambling was born in Somerset, Pa., the daughter of the late Matthew and Margaret Miller Bambling. Surviving is her foster mother, Mrs. Hazel Michaels.

A graveside service was conducted Monday at Garrett County Memorial Gardens by Rev. W. Shelby Walthall, Episcopal rector.

Volkswagen leaps into the present.

With a fully automatic transmission.

If you bet a friend we never would, we almost didn't.

10 years ago the decision was made. To design a fully automatic transmission. The kind you put in drive and forget.

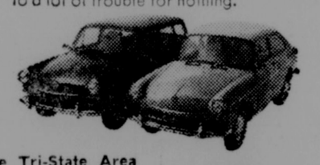
Our aim was to make things easy, but for us changes aren't easy to make.

Especially in this case. There were certain things we just didn't want to lose.

Like horsepower, and our reputation for being economical.

What we've ended up with is a 3-speed automatic transmission that's pure Volkswagen—designed from scratch to get the most out of the VW with the least expenditure of effort.

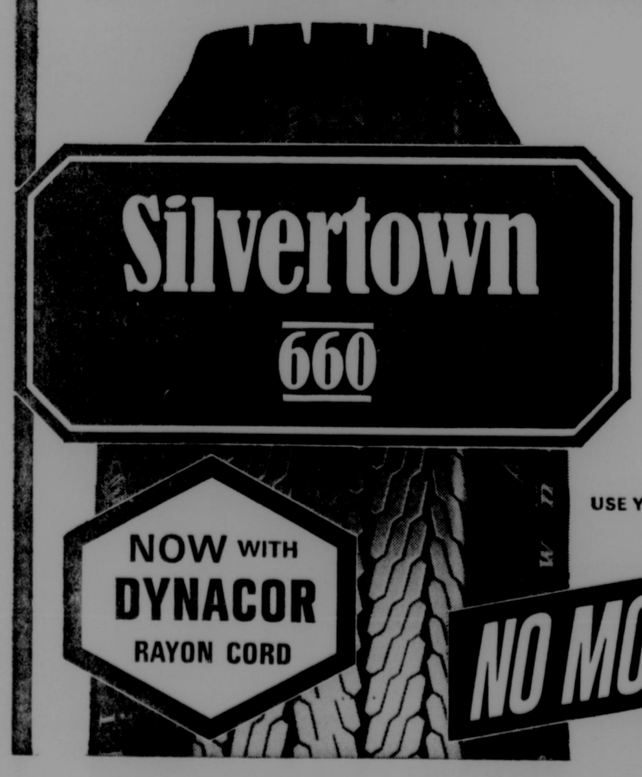
It has the fewest moving parts.



It's the lightest per horsepower output. And it's incredibly sensitive. (A model airplane engine is powerful enough to turn it.)

So come see how far Volkswagen has come.

The Squareback and Fastback. Both have disk brakes, an electronically controlled fuel injection system, and now, a fully automatic transmission.



If you're interested, it's available as an option on our '69 models.

If you're not interested, we sure went to a lot of trouble for nothing.

Holler-Cummings Nuptials Held

Underwood EUB church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Neomia Ann Cummings, daughter of Alonzo Cummings, Gormania, W. Va., and the late Rosala Cummings, to Thomas Clayton Holler, of Oakland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holler.

Performing the double ring ceremony on Saturday, June 29, was Rev. Charles Teets. Traditional music at the organ was furnished by Earl Foster, Oakland, with Brenda Phillippi, Oakland, as soloist. Vases of rhododendron adorned the altar.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her brother, Keith Cummings, was attired in a floor length gown of satin and imported Chantilly lace. The bodice of the gown had a scoop neckline and long tapered sleeves and was accented with moon pearls. The full skirt styled with ruffled Chantilly lace fell into a chapel train. Her shoulder length veil of illusion fell from a crown of moon pearls and lace. The bride carried a white Bible, a gift of the groom, with carnations centered with an orchid, and streamers of love knots.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Ervin Shreve, Table Rock, sister of the bride, as matron of honor. Miss Erma Cummings, Red House, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Gary Watson, Oakland, sister of the groom, served as bridesmaids. Mrs. Shreve was attired in a floor length gown of mint green crepe, styled with an empire bodice. Her headpiece was a green bow and a matching veil of illusion. She carried a cascading bouquet of rhododendron with streamers of rosebuds.

Miss Cummings was attired in a pink floor length gown of lace over taffeta. Her headpiece was a green bow and matching veil of illusion. Mrs. Watson had a floor length gown of pink satin. The empire bodice was accented with Chantilly lace and a pink bow. Her headpiece was a pink bow with flowers and matching veil of illusion. The bouquets of the two maids of honor were identical to that of the matron of honor.

Sharon Ann Fike, niece of the groom, served as flower girl. She wore a white dress trimmed in Chantilly lace with matching headpiece. She carried a basket of rose petals.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing

Southern States Industrial Council

Whatever the immediate outcome of the Czechoslovakia situation, it should be clear from a reading of recent news that Communism has not changed its character. Hopefully, American "liberals" who have been saying that the Russia of today is vastly different from the Russia of Stalinist times will acknowledge to themselves and to others that they were wrong.

A few years ago Walt Whitman Rostow, then head of the State Department Policy Planning Council and now a top White House adviser, was the author of the thesis that Communism is "mellowing". The Czechs, however, have discovered that there is nothing mellow about the thinking or actions of the Soviet Union. As soon as the Soviets saw that their power position in Czechoslovakia was even slightly threatened, they began to display their military muscle. They demanded that the Czechs fall into line.

One of the pet phrases of recent years has been "polycentricism", meaning a variety of centers. The "liberals" showed that Communism no longer has a single center, Moscow, but is decentralized and developed in a variety of independent ways. From the Czech situation, however, we can see that the Russians hold that they are the one and only source of policy for the Communist world. They demand that their Central European satellites toe the mark and respect the authority of Communism in the Soviet Union.

The end result of these developments on the international scene is that Communism can be viewed as having the same face it had under Dictator Joseph Stalin. It is still an armed doctrine representing the Soviet dictatorship and utterly opposed to the slightest breath of personal or economic freedom.

It is instructive that the Czech situation should develop in this period before the American presidential election. The future of the cold war is still the chief issue facing the American people. If the U. S. fails to actively strive for victory in the cold war, it will continue to lose ground in the worldwide conflict between capitalism and Communism.

The Lesson of Czechoslovakia

A new generation of Americans has grown up with no memory of the Communist record of tyranny and betrayal. Young Americans in their twenties aren't old enough to remember the soft-on-Communism outlook of the Roosevelt New Deal, the giveaway of lend lease supplies to the USSR, the surrender of Eastern Europe to the Russians at the end of World War II. These young Americans don't have personal recollections of the Soviet spy cases which showed that the Russians built their first atomic weapons on the basis of information stolen from the U. S. or supplied by traitors. They don't recall the case of Alger Hiss, the high-ranking State Department official who served as a Soviet agent.

Older Americans need to help educate younger Americans and explain to them how the interests of the U. S. were sacrificed by disloyal elements and appeasement types in our midst. The young also need to know about the struggle of anti-Communists in this country over a 20-year period. They should be informed as to who stood for firmness against Communism and who had an ignorant or sentimental view of the Communist threat to freedom. Young voters should ask themselves where the leaders and candidates of today stood in the decisive struggles involving Communism and the cold war. For example, what was Hubert Humphrey's view of the Hiss case when it was the raging issue of the moment? Or, looking at more recent events, what was Mr. Humphrey's view when President Kennedy ordered withdrawal of U. S. missiles from Turkey in exchange for the alleged removal of Soviet rockets from Cuba?

These questions aren't ancient history. They are living questions that pertain to basic attitudes regarding the cold war, the struggle between the forces of freedom and the forces of tyranny.

The record will show that America's "liberals" have been consistently wrong about Communism for 20 years. They have laughed at anti-Communists, saying they "see Reds under beds". Meanwhile, the Soviets have swept on from success to success, capturing Cuba and penetrating Africa, the Middle East and Southeast Asia. The "liberals" have been determined to see Communism as containing reforming elements, whereas Communism is as brutal and ambitious as ever. The United States is in danger today because "liberals" have guided American foreign policy. It is imperative that there be a change in leadership in Washington, in foreign policy thinking as well as in the handling of demestic strife, which also stems from Communist agitation.

America hasn't much time to adopt a new, vigorous posture toward the Communist threat. The people need to act in 1968.

Evaluation Report Discussed at P-TA

The needs of the community which serve Southern High School were stressed in the report from the Middle States Association for Secondary Schools and Colleges following the evaluation of the school last year by that organization.

The report on the school was received recently according to Principal Robert F. Rodeheaver. The report from the Philosophy and Objectives division and the School and Community evaluation were discussed by Mr. Rodeheaver at the recent PTA meeting.

The committee commended the community for supporting a fine comprehensive school, the holding power of the school, and the health and hospital services. They took note of recreational parks and tourist attractions, and the service clubs.

However, the report makes several recommendations to the community. It suggested that more relevant community activities be provided for youth, e. g. there is no theatre except the out-door drive-in. They said that youth centers should be developed for youths to congregate and or refresh themselves.

The evaluation committee said that youth clubs should be established which are attractive to teen-age activties such as regular dances, bowling, and other indoor activities.

The report further pointed out that the greatest lack in the community is that of teen-age activities pointing up social and cultural advantages. It is recognized that the churches in the community and the clergy offer their aid and facilities on a very cooperative basis.

It should be emphasized that in spite of the economics of the area, the community, school board, and administrators have brought about a fine accomplishment in the creation of this comprehensive high school, it added.

Philosophy and Objectives Report

The committee said that the philosophy of the Southern Garrett County High School elicits admirable goals for a comprehensive public high school. It seems to agree with the broadest general purposes of education to meet the present needs of students as well as prepare them to meet their adult responsibiliies.

They stated that the need for the combined efforts of the community officials, the business people, the churches, and parents as a whole is of extreme importance and becomes more apparent as the broad aims of the school are fulfilled.

List Committees For Southern P-TA

PTA president Courtney R. Tusing announced the theme for this year, "The Value of an Education", at the Southern P-TA meeting Monday evening, September 16.

The chairmen for the standing committees were named as follows:

Character and Spiritual Life, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers Fike; Nominating, Nordeck Shaffer; Health and Safety, Mrs. Joseph Alvarez and Mrs. Genevieve Henderson; Homeroom Representatives, Mrs. Lawrence Sines and Mrs. Sam Meyers; Membership, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Browning and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kight; Legislation, Mrs. Herbert Leighton; Education, Dr. H. R. Gibson; PTA Magazine, Mrs. Willis Shaffer; Hospitality, Mrs. Clara Graham, chairman; Mrs. Ross Crowe, Mrs. Lois Mosser, Mrs. George O'Brien, Mrs. Charles Gosnell.

Faculty Representative, Mrs. Bessie Price.

Mrs. Gene Liller, treasurer, was in charge of taking a collection to raise funds to pay expenses of the delegates to the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers meeting to be held in Baltimore. The sum of $48.48 was received.

Principal Robert Rodeheaver thanked the local Lions, Rotary and Optimist clubs for their donations which purchased the new football scoreboard. It was used for the first time at the game with Valley last Friday night.

Mr. Rodeheaver welcomed the parents and introduced the faculty. Among those introduced were thirteen new teachers. There are seventy-two on the faculty this year.

The needs of Southern, which included organization for instruction, cooperation, and discipline were stressed. He noted that, "We have good citizens graduating from our school". He went on to note that parents want good instruction, good organization, and good discipline.

The new sequence relation schedule was discussed and explained by Mr. Rodeheaver. He noted the need for change and flexibility. He felt that the change from having the same subject at the same time every day would help eliminate boredom. The new schedule makes it possible for every subject to be taught during prime time in the morning at least part of the time.

Mr. Ernest Spoerlein, guidance counselor, reported on the follow-up of last year's graduates. He said that sixty-five out of one hundred and sixty-seven graduates were taking some kind of additional training which comes to about forty percent. The department has plans to work more with the group that goes directly into industry.

The next PTA meeting will have Dr. Raymond McCullough, Superintendent of Garrett County Schools, as the speaker on October 21.

Atoms and Apple Cores

Mark will be fourteen years old this month. He is very thoughtful these days. Many an hour is spent on the back lawn with watercolors and pad, mostly thinking or dreaming.

Boundless curiosity is his, and "why," a certain response to every answer he receives. Besides painting, he likes to hunt, swim, golf, read, and putter in the basement with test tubes. Only recently, girls have been included with rifles and missile shots as a favored topic of conversation.

He talks about God, too. In his pursuit of answers to the universe, he instigates family discussions that range from ethics to eternity, from atoms to apple cores.

It's small wonder that I thank God daily for His Church and its teachings. Its truths help me answer with assurance the questions Mark asks in his search for understanding.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

ALL WRONG, BUT...!

Background Scripture: Jonah 1 through 4. Devotional Reading: Psalms 67.

Bishop Gerald Kennedy of the United Methodist Church tells of a stubborn Scottish elder who many years ago bitterly fought against the proposed union of the Church of Scotland with the Scottish Presbyterian Church. In time, the proposed union received the necessary majority of votes and it was consummated. Someone heard the old elder muttering to himself: "It's all wrong, I tell you, it's all wrong. But evidently it is the will of God."

Rev. Althouse

He didn't like it!

Jonah was like that old elder. His problem was not that he did not know the will of God, but that he knew it and didn't like it! God told him to go to the people of Nineveh and call them to repent of their sinfulness. Why should Jonah object to that?

First,we must remember that Nineveh is an Assyrian city and the Assyrians are Israel's greatest, most bitter enemies. The Jews hated Assyria with a great passion. So, for one thing, Jonah did not want to preach repentance to these Assyrians whom he despised.

Secondly, he was sure that it would be a waste of time, for they would not respond. These people were utterly depraved in their evil ways, he thought. Why waste time on people for whom there is no hope, no possibility of saving? God was making a mistake in thinking that there was any possibility in redeeming that black city!

God's mistake

Third, Jonah found it impossible to believe that God would have any concern for these people. Israel was his chosen nation. If he was going to love anyone it would be the Jews. Besides, how could God love or be concerned about people who were so evil and pagan? It was almost an insult to think that God would show some of the same concern for Nineveh that he demonstrated for Jerusalem.

We can almost hear Jonah protesting, "It's all wrong, I tell you, it's all wrong!" Yet the persistance of God made something else evident too: "But evidently it is the will of God." Pursued by God until at last he gave in, Jonah accepted the task and went to the Assyrian city. It was not something he desired to do, but evidently it is the will of God and he has no choice, though he is quite sure that God is making a big mistake.

It is then that, from Jonah's point of view, the very worst thing happens: the people of Nineveh, these hopeless, godless Assyrians, take seriously his reluctant warning and repent! And how does he respond to this marvelous turn of events? Is he overjoyed at his unexpected success? HE IS NOT! It may be the will of God for these heathens to share with Israel the mercy of God, but it is still all wrong! Angry, the petulant prophet sulks under a vine that God has graciously provided to protect him from the Sun.

Not just one man

What was the writer of Jonah trying to say to his people with this story? He was trying to show them that God is Lord of all the world, and not just one special nation. He is trying to demonstrate that God is concerned about all men, not just a few. He is attempting to help his readers to see that, though Jonah was a Jew and a prophet, the sailors on the ship, though heathens, were more humane and compassionate. The people of Nineveh, Assyrians though they were, nevertheless were more responsive to the word of God and more obedient to his will than Jonah.

Thus, Jonah is not just one man. He is all Israelites who would rather defeat their enemies than live with them in peace. He is all men who find it impossible to fit the will of God into their little minds and lives. He is all of us who are convinced that God's plan for universal brotherhood in one world must be "all wrong".

Thus, he who laughs disdainfully at Jonah may, in reality, be deriding himself.

Twenty Are Killed On State Highways

Twenty persons were killed on Maryland highways last week, according to the weekly survey published by the State Police. Thirteen of those killed were drivers, six were passengers, and one was a pedestrian. Alcohol was a contributing factor in eight of the deaths, speed in eight, and "driver error" in eighteen.

"A review of the highway fatalities for last week", according to Lt. Col. George E. Davidson, Deputy Superintendent of the State Police, "reflects a very disturbing fact: driver irresponsibility caused the loss of eighteen lives during the past seven days. Driver behavior included driving too fast; running off the road; crossing center line, crossing center grass strip, and driving in wrong lane; turning in path of approaching traffic; operator asleep; operating while drinking; and failing to SEE pedestrians. In short, failing to keep car under control".

A 35-year-old mother killed her five children with nylon stockings in Germany.

Rope the real one Sunbeam Range Bread

A brand new bread made from old-fashioned Western vittles

If you like corn flour, soya grits, a little honey and molasses, you'll go plumb crazy over Sunbeam Range Bread. A bread straight out of the old West because it's made that way. With old time care and the natural mixings of chuck wagon style cooking. Means wide open texture and campfire flavor. Round up some loaves for your buckaroos. It's the real one . . . from the bakers of Blue Ribbon Sunbeam Bread.

Look for the Sunbeam loaf with the cowboy brands on the tail.

Events Above The Mountain Top

By Paul S. Frank Jr.

September 19 - 25, 1968

Tomorrow the planet Mercury will be at its farthest angular distance from the sun. Even at this distance Mercury will be too close to the sun to be easily seen, but this is the best time of this month to observe the planet. Venus may also be seen for a short time after sunset. Both of these planets will be very low in the west.

Saturn is visible in the east shortly after sunset and is easily found since it is the brightest object in the eastern sky. Mars is also visible in the east for a short time before sunrise. These planets are the most easily found of the four planets that might be observed this week with the unaided eye.

On Sunday at 7:27 a. m. the moon will be passing through its new phase. As it moves through this phase, it will pass directly between the sun and the earth. During this period the shadow of the moon will fall on the earth in Siberia. Of course, this is an eclipse of the sun. Although the eclipse may not be observed in Garrett County, it will be interesting to watch the sun rise on Sunday.

Wednesday, the moon passes 227,800 miles from the earth. This is the closest that the moon will pass the earth during the month of September. This perigee occurs at 4:18 p. m.

Sunrise today at 7:03 a. m. The day ends at 7:20 p. m. this evening. Next Wednesday day dawns at 7:08 a. m. and ends at 7:10 p. m. Fifteen minutes of daylight are lost during the week. It might be pointed out that after this week the daylight hours are fewer than the hours of darkness each day. This is because at 7:34 p. m., September 22, the sun appears to cross the equator moving towards the south. This instant is the Autumnal Equinox. We call this the first day of Autumn.

Today the Allegany County Outdoor School will visit the planetarium to study the sky. Last Thursday this school made its initial visit to the Garrett County Science Center.

Lengthy Cucumber

Mrs. Aubrey Savage, of Mt. Lake Park, exhibited a lengthy cucumber one day last week which had been grown in her garden.

It measured 14 and one-half inches in length. It had grown on a vine which was in her corn patch and which had attached itself to one of the corn—stalks.

Knits Make News This Fall For All

Knits are making news this fall for men, women, and children, according to Mrs. Freda Denison, Extension Agent. They are creating excitement in sportswear and dress wear; setting track records for new color and texture effects in new fiber combinations; setting new standards for comfort, fit, wrinkle resistance, and easy-care — which means that practically all are washable, either by hand or machine, and that many are machine dryable, Mrs. Denison pointed out.

The backbone of knitwear excitement comes from fiber news: no longer is "100 percent pure wool" the ultimate criterion of knitwear quality. Wool is still around and cashmere will never be replaced, but Orlon is commanding a considerable share of the market and nylon is important in textured effects and in way-out psychedelic prints. Dacron has now invaded the knit field — standing alone in double knits, mingling with other fibers, and textured or bonded. Acrilan also plays a role in the knit story. FGortunately, all of the synethetic knits are intended to be wonderfully washable.

Patterns and textures help to make knit-news. Italians are setting the pace with a very contemporary design effect created by special kniting machinery. It might be an all-over marblized effect, a zigzag or chevron pattern, or a stylized cable look achieved by selective tucking. The striped knits which made headlines last year are all but forgotten, as patterns and texture move into the picture, she concluded.

Club meetings for the ensuing week were announced by Mrs. Denison:

Sept. 23, 8:00 p. m., Cove Club at the home of Mrs. Walter Hanft.

Sept. 24, 1:30 p. m., Sunnyside Club at the home of Mrs. Harold White; 7:45 p. m., Bittinger Club at the home of Mrs. James Opel.

Sept. 25, 10:30 a. m., Officers of County Council will meet at the Bittinger Community Building and at 1:00 p. m. the executive Board will meet at same place and make plans for new County program.

Sept. 26, 1:30 p. m., White Church Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Paul Rodeheaver Sr.; 1:00 p. m., at a Leader training program for Home Management Chairmen will be held at Accident Fire Hall. The topic will be "Different Types of Heating, Comparison of Costs and Conveniences". Anyone interested is welcome. Guest speakers will be in charge of the meeting.

To Begin Water Line Work At Elk Garden

Ground breaking ceremonies are planned at Elk Garden, W. Va., on Friday for the town's water system. An address by Rep. Harley O. Staggers, of Keyser, will be a feature. Students will read essays on the theme, "Need for Water". A talk by Jack Canfield, press secretary to West Virginia's governor Hulett Smith, will also be delivered.

The water system will be financed through loans totaling $213,700, including a direct loan of $109,850 from the Farmers Home administration and a development grant from FHA of $103,850. The R. N. White company, Bridgeport, W. Va., will be the contractor.

A. J. Machin, state director for the Farmers Home Administration, will relate events leading up to the community's decision to develop a water system.

BAND INSTRUMENT rental and purchase plan—It is true, Barbera Music Center does not have a representative calling on your school to sell or rent an instrument, but we do have a plan which is even better. If you come to our store in Keyser for a band instrument purchase, will give you more than a commission of the amount (20%) normally given to a salesman. Be your own salesman and save money. We have seven major brand names of band instruments: Conn, Bach, Olds, Buescher, Holton, LeBlanc and Slingerland drums. We also carry instruments of lesser priced brands for the beginning band students. Instrument prices start at $89.95 less 20%. Rental Plan: We give you an instrument for 60 days ($15.00) option to keep or return. Rental fee applies to cost. (No discount on time.) —Adv. 24-tf.

Commissioners Hold Busy Meeting

Several matters were discussed at the September 9 meeting of the Board of County Commissioners, among which were proposed seismographic work in the county, the providing of coal for the county buildings, and possible interior painting of the court house.

Mike McJunkin asked permission to conduct seismographic work in the county. As this would require some blasting along county roads right of way, the Board is to discuss the matter with Thomas Sluss, county roads engineer.

R. R. Coal Company was awarded a contract to supply coal for the Court House, County jail, and county roads garages for a price of $7.65 per ton delivered. Other bidders and their prices were Upperman Coal Co., $9.00 per ton; and Woodrow Upole, $7.75 per ton plus weighing charges.

Harold J. Adams, clerk to the Board, was ordered by the Commissioners to advertise requesting bids for painting the interior of the Court House. Bids will be opened September 30.

Sheriff James Frantz was told by the Commissioners that he was to work out "in the best possible way" the matter of a cook for jail inmates. Mrs. Frantz, cook at the institution for many years, resigned due to lack of salary increase and other considerations.

Elmer Upole and Oscar Cryer, of the State Department of Forests and Parks, informed the Board that Carl Richter was hauling timber across state property although a permit for use of the road had not been issued. The matter will be checked in order to determine if the old right of way can be used as a road.

President of the Board, John Ross Sines, made a motion that a complete ballot for each and every election be published in the County newspaper. The motion passed unanimously and was sent to the Board of Election Supervisors. A recent ruling of election laws left the publishing of the ballot at the discretion of the board and it was the board that decided that the publication was not necessary until recent years it had been mandatory to publish the ballot.

Among the various other business conducted was the interviewing of Mrs. Audrey Suter in connection with her clerical application. Gorman Beitzel complained of his driveway on Orendorf Road being blocked with snow when necessary to provide a turning place for a school bus, while Mrs. Harry Harvey of Bloomington requested a better road surface on Gemmenell Ave. in Bloomington, and Lawrence Ward requested attention to drainage problems on Gravely Run Road.

Cooperative Elects

Harry Hummel and William Warnick, Grantsville, were elected to the Southern States stockholders committee at a meeing in Grantsville on August 29. Roy Beitzel, Bittinger was named chairman with Orville Brougher, Markleton, Pa., as vice-chairman.

Elected to the Farm Home advisory committee were Mrs. Alvin Bowser, Mrs. Woodrow Butler, Grantsville. Mrs. Kenneth R. Resh was named chairman and Mrs. Guy Stanton, secretary.

Mrs. Harley Brenneman, Bittinger, was named delegate to a stockholders meeting in Richmond November 14 and 15. Mrs. Kenneth R. Resh was named alternate. Roy Beitzel was also named delegate to a district election meeting to be held in Winchester, Va., this fall.

Some 36 woman from various areas attended a regional meeting of advisory committees on September 18 at Will o' the Wisp motel at Deep Creek Lake to make plans for the coming year. Committee members from Accident, Cumberland, Eglon, Friendsville, Grantsville and Oakland attended.

I'm A Reactionary . . .

Just for the record — and without apology — I am a Reactionary! I re-act to sin and sadism, riots and revolution, gutlessness and Godlessness! I re-act to philosophies and sophistries which seek to destroy those values which made this country great; which fashioned the fabric of civilized mankind.

I re-act to dancing the permissive polka with those who'd whirl me all the way to Hell while whispering that God is dead and the Devil a myth; to those ministers who'd convert my house of worship into a hootenany hall or political forum.

I re-act to the emasculation of my Faith in the name of humanistic togetherness; to my love for the Holy Bible, my loyalty to the flag and my esteem for the police.

I re-act to being scourged with the last of collective guilt — as if I personally poured liquor down the alcoholic's throat, peddled the heroin, mugged the little old lady, created the slum and invented the bomb!

I re-act to the glorification of welfarism over work; pot over pink lemonade; the pill over purity; demonstration over dedication; desire over discipline, nihilism over nobility; selfishness over sacrifice, hauteur over humility, "rights" over right.

I re-act to the portrayal of my American friends

Freeway Program Is Explained at Public Hearing

Broad acceptance of the proposed National Freeway section between Keyser Ridge to the West Virginia state line was noted at a public hearing last Friday afternoon in Oakland, conducted by the State Roads commission.

John Bushby, district SRC engineer, LaVale, said the session was well attended and included officials of several West Virginia communities in the adjacent area as well as citizens from Garrett county and three small industries which would be serviced by the proposed Freeway.

Owners of property along the route of the Freeway were briefed on the status of the project and the procedure the SRC uses when acquiring rights of way for highways. All property owners affected are first notified by letter and then by personal visit from a representative of SRC.

The Freeway will be paid for almost entirely by the federal government's Appalachian program funds, according to Mr. Bushby. This includes engineering, acquisition of property and similar items.

The section from Keyser Ridge to West Virginia's border is about ten miles in length. Mr. Bushby noted that two considerations of a major proportion are being studied. One is the best location for bridging the Youghiogheny river and the other the selection of a route so that a high tension power line in the area would not be affected.

A map of the proposed location is displayed in the lobby of the First National Bank, showing several proposed locations with the one most likely to be used. According to present plans the road through the county would closely follow U. S. route 40 to Keyser Ridge

Adult Education Courses Offered

The County Board of Education is offering adult education classes in a number of subjects, it was announced by A. B. Dean, supervisor of pupil personnel.

He announced that during the week of September 30 to October 4 Adult Education enrollment forms would be available, either at the school or at the Board of Education office. Applicants may either send for one or go to the school and fill one out. At the end of the registration the enrollment will be reviewed, centers for classes established where there is sufficient enrollment to justify a class.

Several classes are offered:

Home record keeping, dealing with bookkeeping, insurance and taxes; typing, a course always in demand; English, with particular reference to punctuation; basic sewing, knitting, handweaving, ceramics (a fee of $1 per person for use of the kiln; driver education, with thirty hours of class study required, plus six hours of actual driving for which the student must pay; medical self-help training, an up-to-date first aid course; county and state government.

Mr. Dean said there were no tuition charges for these courses. Unless otherwise arranged a class would meet once each week for a two-hour session. Most courses are offered in twelve sessions with some, such as driver education, requiring more.

FFBL Banquet Set, Speaker Chosen

L. S. "Pete" Hartley has been chosen as the speaker for the annual Farming For Better Living banquet to be held Thursday, November 14, at Southern High School cafetorium.

Mr. Hartley is a former agricultural agent for the B & O railroad, and currently the manager of Agribusiness Development, a division of the West Virginia State Department of Commerce. He has given talks in this area on previous occasions.

The date of the banquet was set at a meeting of the FFBL council held last Thursday in the county extension office, according to a report from L. Bush Swisher, project director for the Monongahela Power Co.

Mr. Swisher made the further announcement that the notice for record books was mailed September 20, with the books being due on October 18. Rating of the books will take place November 1, and the winners will be announced at the dinner.

Earl Clark, this year's chairman of the Farming for Better Living council, will be master of ceremonies for the event, while Mr. Swisher will announce the record book winners. The remainder of the banquet program will be announced at a later date.

Fire Destroys New Mobile Home Sun.

A fire which began during a leisurely Sunday breakfast almost totally destroyed a mobile home on the Underwood Road owned by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Matthews, wed only one week before the mishap.

According to Mr. Matthews, the fire began in the furnace area, where it was discovered that a gap of seven inches was between the furnace and the flue pipe.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthews fled the home when flames burst through the paneling in the kitchen. The Oakland fire company was called, and arrived in twelve minutes in spite of the fact that its members had to drive around by Crellin to reach the scene. The firemen used the exhaust fan to drive fumes and smoke out a rear door before they could enter.

Perhaps the greatest loss to the couple were the more than one hundred wedding gifts on display in the first bedroom, ready for an "open house" later in the day. The couple had returne dfrom their honeymoon only last Thursday.

Insurance will cover the furniture and appliance losses, such as the stereo, while the maufacturer has agreed to provide a new mobile home. Meanwhile the couple is residing with his father, John Matthews, until the new home arrives and is in place, which may not be until January.

Mr. Matthews, who said he had never before seen such intense heat, disclosed that his shirts were charred off their hangers and the television set melted by the terrific temperatures.

Jesse Jacobs, deputy state fire marshal, who was at the scene to check the cause of the blaze, later told the couple that if they had not left the home immediately, deadly gas fumes released by the combination of heat with the plastic used throughout the home, would have killed them in approximately two minutes.

Wallace says he will carry West Virginia.

Sanitary Group Advocates Way To End Deadlock

Letter To Commissioners Asks Cooperation Of Three Towns

Strong means of breaking the deadlock on construction of a single sewage treatment facility for Oakland, Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn Heights has been advocated by the County Sanitary Commission of Oakland, according to a letter received by the Board of County Commissioners from the members.

Dated September 9, the letter asked the cooperation of the Commissioners in promoting voluntary cooperation by the three towns with the Sanitary Commission. As yet the commissioners have made no reply.

In its letter, the sanitary commission recommended that the commissioners urge the Department of Health to enforce its order prohibiting new sewer taps and forbidding any increase in the volume of raw sewage being discharged into the Little Yough, to force construction of the treatment plant.

Oakland has steadfastly maintained that the three corporations should have separate sewage treatment plants rather than the single plant proposed by the sanitary commission and State Board of Health.

The letter reminded the commissioners that the Board of Health has consistently held that the sewage treatment must be a single unit; that no funds will be made available to the separate towns to build separate facilities; and that upstream separate facilities could be acceptable only if they provided an effluent line to carry treated sewage below the corporate limits of Oakland.

Gregg Pharmacy Expanding Store

The expansion of the Gregg Pharmacy, into the first floor addition to the Gregg building on Third street, was effected Tuesday evening, when the rear wall was knocked out and remodeling began.

The 48 by 35 addition was completed on the exterior some two weeks ago, and the first floor is now being completely remodeled, making the pharmacy interior about three times the size it has been.

The size of the prescription department is being doubled and the old section is undergoing revision to take care of the addition of a larger selection of cosmetics. Ernest Gregg, one of the owners, said the basic operation would remain the same. They plan to erect a colonial front on the building. The first floor of the building also contains the offices of Dr. B. L. Grant, and this area which was remodeled last year, will remain unchanged. On second floor two 2-bedroom apartments will be completed in the near future.

The store is remaining open for business while the remodeling is being completed. Assisting Mr. Gregg in the precription department is Jarryl Wolford, who has been a pharmacist with Mr. Gregg for some two and one-half years.

Tax Collections Come to $770,596

Approximately 60 per cent of the 1968-69 tax levy was collected during this past July and August, according to figures released this week by Mrs. Arzella Parsons, county treasurer. So far $770,596.35 of the $1,276,546.51 billed has been collected.

The breakdown in collections showed $608,240.98 for real property; $37,573.87 for personal property, both farm and business; and $124,781.50 for domestic, railroads and public utilities.

Amounts billed were $908,024.62 for real estate; $35,856.72 for personal property, business; $69,824.08 for personal property, farm; and $262,841.09 for domestic, railroads and public utilities.

The five per cent discount allowed on the tax bills during July and August amounted to $37,221.15, an average discount of $2.80 for each of the 13,291 tax bills mailed.

Springs Prepares For Folk Festival

Activity was accelerating at Springs, Pa., this week as the time for the eleventh annual Springs Folk Festival approches. The festivities will be held Friday and Saturday, October 4 and 5.

Among new features will be an original 1837 Conestoga wagon drawn by two teams of oxen.

The museum is having a facelifting. George Diefenbach, donor of a rock and fossil collection, is cleaning, polishing and relabeling the display, piece by piece. Two tours are being arranged, one into Somerset county, one into Garrett county, led by tour guides. Visits to an Amish-Mennonite school and a maple sugar camp are two features. A program of music and folklore will be provided Friday evening on the "town square".

Pittsburgh Woman Found Dead of Gunshot Wound

A 37-year-old Pittsburgh woman was found dead of a gunshot wound in the head Tuesday morning at a summer home at Thayerville, along Deep Creek Lake.

The woman was identified as Mrs. Delores Bandola of 4840 Kinley Street, Pittsburgh, wife of Joseph Bandola.

Tfc. Ronald Lewis, of the Maryland State police, who was assisted in the investigation by Trooper John Hopf, said Mrs. Bandola came to the summer home from Pittsburgh on Monday, and was alone in the home when she was found about 11 a. m. yesterday by her husband.

Mrs. Bandola was found on a bed on the first floor of the home, with a Belgian .32 calibre automatic pistol nearby on the bed.

Trooper Lewis said Mrs. Bandola left a note and the gunshot wound was apparently self-inflicted.

The Bandolas were part owners of the home with three other families.

The body was taken to the John O. Durst Funeral Home, Oakland, and was later moved to the Savolski Funeral Home in Munhall, Pa.

Autumn Glory Excursions Set

Nearly all is in readiness for the 17th annual Autumn Glory excursion to this county with the exception of the trees, which have remained green thus far this season.

The first train is due Sunday, October 6, with approximately 500 Baltimore and Washington sightseers expected to be aboard. A second train will operate on October 13, with a third train tentatively scheduled by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad for the 20th, in event of sell-outs on the other trips.

The groups will be met on arrival by members of the Southern High School senior band before embarking on the fourteen buses reserved for their use. The group will have an extra half hour for the tour, since the train will leave Baltimore at 7:30 a. m. and Silver Spring at 8.

The trip will take them along approximately 30 miles of fall scenery, going through Swallow Falls and stopping at the Deep Creek State Park, where entertainment will be provided by the Ritz-Chords, a barbershop group from Oakland.

Barley Planting Experiment Begins

An experiment in the growing of malt barley within Garrett county to provide Maryland brewers with material they are now obtaining from without the state, has been started in this county, it was announced by James McHenry, county agent.

Some ten acres of malt barley were planted this week in the county, for the first time. Five acres were planted on the B. O. Aiken farm and five acres on the Wayne Hamilton farm. A fall malting variety known as Tshermak, was used. The planting is under contract with the National Brewing company of Baltimore.

Mr. McHenry pointed out that 7.4 million bushels of malt barley are used for malt for beer each year in Maryland and that very little is produced in this state. McHenry said the climate here appears to be favorable to good growth and good yield.

He said the test planting is being made to determine three things: the variety that will do good in this area; the anticipated yield and the proper fertilizer treatment; and the quality of the malt. Malting is a germinating process, he explained. Farmers would receive some 50 cents above the regular feed grain price of barley. He said quite a bit of barley was produced in this county for feed grain.

Some farmers also will try planting spring barley to learn of its potential yields and adaptability.

Assisting the Extension service in this project is Joe Newcomer, of the Agronomy department, University of Maryland, College Park.

Postal Awards For Two Towns Listed

Oakland and Grantsville and their postal employees have been selected to receive the Postmaster General's "Citation for Excllence" for outstanding maintenance and care of the Oakland and Grantsville post offices, it was announced by U. S. Senator Daniel B. Brewster.

Brewster said he was advised by the Postmaster General that the citation is awarded on the recommendation of the Assistant Postmaster General for Facilities. Only those communities whose postal facilites have received superior ratings in rigid inspectons by regional postal officials are eligible for the citation.

The evaluation takes into consideration such factors as unusually attractive grounds, clean and bright lobbies, well - kept walls and other physical surroundings, removal of hazards to safety and wide range of similar efforts which reflect a well-run post office.

Oakland and Grantsville will be cited for maintaining their postal facilities in such a superior manner that they provide clean, attractive and pleasant places in which the public may conduct its postal business.

Traversers Are Sentenced In Circuit Court

September Docket Practically Completed In Two Days

Several traversers were given sentences of various lengths at the September term of the Circuit Court which concluded most of its cases on Tuesday noon, after being in session for one and one-half days.

Several cases are still to be tried before the cases are complete.

Nancy Belle Getz, of Deer Park pleaded guilty on Monday to three indictments for forgery of government checks and was sentenced by Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill to the jurisdiction of the Department of Correction for three years. The sentence was suspended upon condition she make total restitution and remain of good behavior. She was placed under the department of probation.

Patrick M. Green entered a plea of guilty on Monday to the charge of larceny. He had been indicted for the theft of an outboard motor at Deep Creek Lake and was sentenced to serve 18 months. Two other individuals are scheduled to be tried at some future date on the same charge, who were implicated along with Green. They are John W. Grove and Dana Edward Guy, who are in the armed forces at present.

Eugene Albright, Oakland, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of automobile larceny, the car of James McHenry, and was sentenced to 18 months. In the same case Milton Charles DeWitt, 16, was tried under circuit rules instead of in the juvenile court and entered a plea of guilty. He was sentenced to four years and both Albright and DeWitt were to be held responsible for fixing up the automobile at a cost of $143.

John King entered a plea of guilty to a charge of stealing turkeys from Wilbur and Herbert Myers, of Kitzmiller. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered by the court. Another individual was tried in juvenile court on the same charge. The youth entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to the Maryland Training School for Boys until discharged by due process of law. The sentence was suspended and he was placed under the department of juvenile services.

Autumn Arrives Barely Noticed

Fall arrived rather sneakily this year, coming along when people were enjoying 80-plus temperatures and sunny skies. The official arrival of the season occurred at 7:26 p. m. Sunday, the time of the autumnal or equinox.

As for the rest of the week, most days were sunny with temperatures ranging from a low of 51 to a peak of 82.

Last Thursday was 53 degrees and sunny at 8 a. m. Showers were seen in the afternoon, following a high of 64.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday were sunny and mild, with the highest temperature of the week occurring Sunday.

Monday morning was 52 and hazy early in the day, with a high of 80 noted. Most of the day was sunny after the first mistiness disappeared.

Tuesday's high was 81, following an early reading of 54. Sunny skies were again the order of the day. A few clouds were seen during the following day, although nearly equal parts of sun were had. High was 71.

Scattered showers occurred late Wednesday evening, but Thursday's skies were only slightly clouded. The mercury showed 51 degrees at 8 Thursday morning.

The letter also reminded the commissioners that an aerated lagoon facility with a monthly cost of $2 per user, was the system agreed upon by those involved in the planning.

The letter had followed one written August 19 to the commissioners by the State Department of Health. That letter also urged the commissioners to promote an arrangement between the towns so that the Sanitary Commission can proceed to reduce pollution in the Little Yough.

The missive, written by James B. Coulter, Assistant commissioner of environmental Health Services, referred to Mr. Coulter's recent visit to the county to see first-hand the reason for delay in accepting the single-treatment plant.

Mr. Coulter stated that following the period of July 30 to August 1, 1968, when the Department of Water Resource conducted a survey of the Little Yough in the vicinity of the three communities, it was found that the oxygen drops from its normal value of approximately eight parts per million above the three towns to a low of approximately one part per million below the communities. Bacterial counts as high as 2,300,000 per one hundred milliliters of water were also noted.

Mr. Coulter emphasized that the "river is highly polluted". He also reiterated that the federal officials who administer funds for Federal Water Pollution Control cannot give a firm opinion on a proposal until an actual request for a grant is made.

He further stated that the officials indicated that a proposal for three treatment plants in the short stretch of river under consideration could hardly be classified as a permanent comprehensive water pollution control arrangement, which would rule out federal assistance on the costs of the sewage treatment facilities.

It was noted in his letter that Rummel, Klepper and Kahl, the engineering firm preparing Garrett County's comprehensive water and sewer plant, had stated in a preliminary judgment that the Little Yough basin should be treated as one integral sanitary district, which should be served by a single plant with an initial capacity of 5,000 population equivalent and an interceptor system designed to carry the ultimate flow.

Mr. Coulter said that the State Department of Health warned that although the construction of several treatment plants will relieve the immediate pollution problem, the action must be considered an interim measure which must ultimately be replaced with a comprehensive regional system.

In final summation, Mr. Coulter repeated that the single plant treatment plan proposed by the Garrett County Sanitary Commission meets the requirements and regulations of federal and state officials. The plant would receive wastes from Oakland, Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn, and be so designed that Deer Park could be connected to the system at a later date. The commission's plan has been approved by the State Department of Health, and both state and federal grant offers have been made that would cover virtually the entire capital cost of the plan. He warned that "Under these circumstances, the Board cannot understand nor will it tolerate further delay".

Just A Mite Mixed Up, That's All

Miss Leary and Mrs. Meisenbach, how does your garden grow?

Just fine, thank you, if you like Easter lilies in September!

Sure enough, the ladies, who reside on Center Street in Oakland, have several Easter lilies blooming in their yard. They noticed the unusual happening several days ago, and the flowers evidently were healthy and robust at the time.

Unfortunately, the blooms are in for a rude shock, as "Jack Frost" may have a word on the subject when he comes nipping along, as he surely will in the near future.

Take Bicycle Trip

Last Saturday and Sunday, Troop 82 of Accident rode bicycles from Hancock to Harpers Ferry along the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal towpath. Participants were John Glotfelty, Gary Reckner, Franklin Schwing, Matthew Storey and scoutmaster, Paul Frank.

Carrying food for five meals and overnight camping equipment on their bicycles, members left Hancock at 9:30 a. m. Saturday. They camped overnight at Williamsport, resuming their trek on Sunday. They were met by Mr. John Reckner and Mr. and Mrs. Schwing who provided the transportation back to Accident. Mrs. Frank provided transportation to Hancock.

During the hike, two large black snakes were encountered; the bikes had to be carried down a flight of stairs at one lock; and at several points the bicycles could not be ridden because of the rough trail.

Troop 82 meets at the Accident Fire hall Tuesdays at 7:00 p. m. All boys eleven and older are invited to join. Another C & O Canal hike is planned for October 19 and 20, from Harpers Ferry to Washington, D. C.

Group Discusses County Economic Well-Being

An informal "work and study" session held by the county commissioners and officers of the Garrett County Development Corporation last Thursday ended with the two groups agreeing to work more closely together to ensure future economic well-being of people in the county.

The group met to review the county's recently-revised Overall Economic Devlopment Program and to discuss areas of responsibility.

Present in addition to Commissioner Sines and Irvin R. Rudy, president of the development corporation (which also functions as the county committee for the Overall Economic Development program), were Robert A. Cox Jr., John B. Moore Jr., and John Curran, of the Economic Development Administration; and Lowell Frederick of the Maryland Department of Economic Development.

Farm Ownership Lo... Are Now Available

Limited farm ownership loan funds are now available to finance family-type farmers according to William H. Poffenbarger, County Supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration in Oakland.

Farm ownership loans may be used to buy or enlarge farms, to construct, improve or repair farm homes and farm service buildings, to drill wells and otherwise improve water supply systems for home use, livestock and irrigation and to refinance debts. These loans may also be used to develop recreational enterprises on family farms, including camp grounds, swimming facilities, tennis courts, riding stables and so forth.

Interest rate is 5 percent per year on the unpaid principal. Maximum repayment period is 40 years.

Mr. Poffenbarger pointed out that to be eligible, the applicant must have sufficient experience to carry out the proposed farming operation, be unable to obtain sufficent credit elsewhere at reasonable rates and terms to finance his actual needs. This eligibility is determined by a County Committee of three farmers who know local farming and credit conditions in the area.

The Farmers Home Administration office serving Allegany and Garrett Counties is located at U. S. Route 219 North of Oakland.

Training Meetings Are on Heat Types

Three leader training program meetings for Home Management chairmen of Homemaker clubs of the county have been held under supervision of Mrs. Freda Denison, extension agent for home economics.

Guests from three utility companies were present to present information on the type of heat they were promoting. It was the first time that three utility firms had come together for that purpose in this area.

Speakers were Richard Wagner, Columbia Gas of Maryland, of Cumberland; Mrs. Barbara Noll and Glenn Eddy, Monongahela Power company, Morgantown; and David Cosgray, Esso Fuel Oil, Oakland.

Mrs. Margaret M. Mearns, state supervisor, home economics, University of Maryland, tested a video tape machine to be used as a teaching device and this was also a first time.

Leaders present at the initial meeting in Oakland on September 18, were Mrs. Lester Green, Mrs. Ray Bittinger, Meadow Glade club; Mrs. Earl Enlow, Swallow Falls; Mrs. Elwood Miller, Mrs. Oley Wimer, Deer Park; Mrs. Beryl Gortner, Mrs. Dottie White, Oakland; Mrs. Harold Holsopple, Sunnyside; Mrs. Britten Martin, Mt. Lake Park, a guest. Two other meetings were at Grantsville, on September 20, and Accident on September 26.

FIRST TIME—At a recent Extension Service training meeting in this county, Mrs. Margaret M. Mearns, extension supervisor for home economics, tested a video-tape machine, a demonstration teaching device. It was the first time for the use of such a machine for a teaching device and Mrs. Mearns found it to be extremely helpful.

Advanced planning is continuing for the Rowlesburg reservoir project, according to U. S. Army corps of engineers at Pittsburgh.

A Charleston, W. Va., firm is working on plans for relocation of a portion of U. S. 50 that would be flooded by the lake of the proposed dam.

The $133 million facility would be built south of Rowlesburg with a lake extending south some 20 miles, nearly to Parsons. It is primarily for flood control of the Cheat basin, but some recreational facilities are scheduled.

Relocation of U. S. 50 is the first order of business when construction funds are appropriated. Plans call for four-laning of the section to be relocated.

Planning of the project was begun in early 1960. The maximum pool of the reservoir would be more than 9,000 acres. More than 900 square miles are in the drainage area to be encompassed in the reservoir.

The dam would rise 267 feet above the level of the stream, at an elevation of 1,842 feet above sea level. It would be 1,610 feet in length. The Corps of Engineers envisions a rock-fill type dam.

Southern Defeats St. Francis 25-0

The Southern Highlanders defeated the St. Francis Trojans of Morgantown last Friday night 25 to 0. The Southern players proved to be too strong after the Morgantown team had held the visitors to 6-0 at the half.

The victory was the second one for Southern against one loss and left the Trojans with a 1-3 record.

St. Francis took the opening kickoff and marched to the visitors' 18 with a third and one. Southern stiffened its defense and stopped St. Francis short twice. The game was scoreless as the second period got under way. Southern picked up its only score in the first half about midway through the period after a long drive.

Pat Flanagan who scored 18 of the winners' points on three touchdowns, made the TD from two yards out. The extra point was blocked.

Southern had some fine defensive work and the Trojans had trouble all night trying to move the ball.

After holding Southern to no yardage in two attempts Flanagan sneaked out of the backfield and was all along down the right sideline where he caught a Rich Skipper pass and trotted into the end zone. The kick again failed. The final two touchdowns were gifts as a fumble and a pass interception both resulted in scores. A Southern player fell on a St. Francis fumble on the Trojan 41 and a few plays later Flanagan slanted over from six yards out. This time Rich Browning hit Wayne Dunbar in the end zone for the extra point that made the score 19 to 0.

The final Southern tally came about a minute before the end of the game.

A Trojan player misfired on an attempted pass and Harold Cannon intercepted on his own 40 and raced 60 yards for the score.

The extra point failed.

Southern journeys to Thomas this Friday for a test against Mountaineer High.

New Opportunities Given Farmers on New Enterprises

New opportunities for farmers to develop nonfarm enterprises provided by legislation recently enacted by Congress, it was announced by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman through Chester J. Tyson Jr., State Director of the Farmers Home Administration.

The bill (S. 1504) signed by the President August 19, authorizes Farmers Home Administration loans to family farmers:

To develop farm-based small business or service enterprises that will add to their income, and

To convert entire farms into outdoor recreational centers.

The measure also adds federal support of rural community development. The act removes for three years (to October 1, 1971) any statutory ceiling on insured loans for rural water and waste disposal systems, community recreation projects, family farm ownership, soil conservation practices and for conversion of farms to recreational uses.

The Farmers Home Administration will be authorized to finance establishments such as farm equipment, electrical appliance and auto repair shops, and other farm-based services needed in rural areas.

Loans will be limited under the law to $60,000, and $35,000 for equipment and other operating expenses.

Election Board Lists Changes To Benefit the Voter

The Board of Supervisors of Elections for this County has announced several changes in the 1968 Registration and Election Laws. These changes will benefit the voter if because of employment he is required to be absent from the state on election day; a disabled voter; and a new resident who has not been in the state for one year and the county six months.

According to Article 33; Section 27-2 (a-1) within ten days of an election and on the day of the election prior to the time the polls close, any person registered and otherwise qualified to vote may apply for an emergency absentee ballot if, as a condition of his employment, he is required to be absent from the State on the day of an election, or is unable to be physically present at the polls as a result of illness or accident occurring after the time of making application for an absentee ballot. The application shall be made under oath, setting forth the reason why the voter is unable to be present at the polls on the day of election and shall be accompanied by a statement under oath by the voter's employer stating that the voter will be unable to vote on election day because of absence caused by his employment, or a certificate from a duly licensed physician stating that the voter, because of illness or injury, is confined to the hospital or bed and will be unable to vote in person at the polls, whichever is applicable.

According to Article 33, Section 28-1 each citizen of the United States who has been a resident of this State for less than one year on the day before a presidential election, may vote for presidential and vice-presidential electors at that election, but for no other officers or matters submitted to the voters, providing (a) he shall have resided in the election district where he offers to vote at least forty-five days preceding such presidential election, (b) otherwise possesses the subtantive qualification to vote in this State; except the requirements of residence and registration.

Registration books re-opened September 21, and will close October 7. This will allow time for voters who are not now registered and are eligible to vote in the presidential election to do so.

The Board of Supervisors of Elections office is located in the Knights of Pythias building at 12 South Third Street, Oakland, and is open from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Monday through Friday.

Turkey Festival Parade Promises Many Participants

By Carol Canan

Perhaps the most easily enjoyable of life's pleasures is the viewing of a parade, and the parade to be held Saturday, October 12, at 5 p. m. during the first annual Autumn Glory Turkey Festival promises to outdo any the area has yet seen in size, prestige, royalty, music and floats.

Lonnie F. Marsh, state commander of the American Legion, will lend some of the prestige of his office to the event when he serves as Grand Marshal of the parade.

He will be competing with royalty for attention. Karen Hansen, Miss Maryland, 1968; Marilyn Colebank, Queen Ceres XXVII from Kingwood, W. Va.'s Buckwheat Festival; and Mary Ellen Silber, Garrett County's 1968 Farm Queen will be among the procession.

However, even the glitter of their crowns may be eclipsed by the gleaming brass of the 75th Army Band from Fort Belvoir, Virginia. The band will march here through the cooperation of Colonel Haig Jackson of Fort Belvoir, and Charles McC. Mathias, United States Congressman from the Sixth District of Maryland.

Both high school and community bands and marching groups from Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania will be in the file, as will the Cumberland, police drill team, complete with K-9 dogs and the Fulton Myers and Free Statesmen drill teams from Cumberland. Since no parade is complete without clowns, the Ali Ghan Shrine Club members and their famous Al Harige clowns will also be in the procession.

To add final touches to the event, riders from the Garrett County Horsemen's Association and individual horsemen will have their mounts parade-stepping through the streets.

As for floats, not only will local businessmen, service clubs, individuals, and utility companies be there, but also merchants and clubs from as far as 30 miles away.

The parade, magnificent though it promises to be, is only one of many festival features.

Several appeal cases were disposed of during the two-day session. Donald Ray Hart, dismissed his appeal and must pay $100 and costs for conviction of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol and also pay $22 and costs for reckless driving.

Edward Platter withdrew his appeal, which upheld the decision of the magistrate, Robert M. Maroney, who fined him $50 and costs on an assault and battery charge upon Denise R. Molnar, and who had been ordered to jail for 30 days in default.

Henry Oran Martin Jr., entered a plea of guilty on an appeal of Magistrate Maroney who ordered him to pay $232 and costs for exceeding registration load on his vehicle. The sentence was affirmed by the court.

Francis Henry Muns had appealed the magistrate's decision of convicting him on an improper passing charge, and fining him $15 and costs. He was tried by a jury and found not guilty of the charge.

To Close Campaign

The second annual membership campaign for the Western Maryland Symphony society will come to a close on Saturday. Numerous residents of Oakland and elsewhere in the county were members last year.

I'm A Reactionary . . .

as "Fascist beats" and Ho Chi Minh as Santa Claus; to those who consider love as nothing more than the sex act; who preach "peace" to promote surrender. I re-act to student radicals who are so enamoured of their own worth that they must destroy all other worths — who are FOR nothing except their "right" to be against everything!

I re-act to the stupifying sentimentality of amateur do-gooders who, like carved wooden monkeys, see no evil, speak no evil and hear no evil — even when it runs riot with a shotgun, Molotov cocktail or plastic bomb; who would re-write Little Red Riding Hood to have her "rehabilitate" the wolf while screaming "hatemonger" at the rescuing woodsman!

You'd better believe I'm a reactionary. In my book, it's time all responsible adults began re-acting instead of suffering the insults, inconveniences and intimidations of a noisy minority who would sacrifce their own freedom and ours on the altar of atheistic materialism. If we did, the kooks and creeps would soon crawl back under their rocks, and this tired old world would have time to bind its wounds and regain its sense of humor.

Your Federal Income Tax

The Republican, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, Baltimore District, will publish each week in this column, tax information that will enable taxpayers to become more familiar with the Federal income tax laws.

Questions And Answers

Q. I got married several months ago. If I keep on working should my husband claim my exemption or should I continue to take it?

A. If you plan to file a joint return at the end of the year as most married couples do, it won't make too much difference who claims your exemption for income tax withholding purposes. However, if you think separate returns would be to your advantage then you should continue to claim your own exemption.

Whichever you decide, remember if your husband claims your withholding exemptions then you will no longer be entitled to claim it. To make a change in the number of exemptions claimed, a new withholding certificate, Form W-4, Employee's Withholding Exemption Certificate, should be filed with your employer.

Q. I have a fellowship that will help pay my way through graduate school. Will I have to pay tax on it?

A. Income from a fellowship is usually tax exempt. If you are a candidate for a degree there is no limit on the amount of tax free income you may receive from a fellowship or scholarship grant.

However, if you teach or perform other services in connection with the award, you may not exclude that portion of the award that represents payment for this work. The exception to this rule would be if all candidates for the degree, whether they have a fellowship or not, are also required to perform these services.

Q. I have a little antique shop that I operate part-time. Can I put what I make from this business into a tax-free retirement plan?

A. Up to 10 percent of your net earnings from the shop, up to a maximum of $2,500, may be invested in a self-employed retirement plan. Your contributions to such a plan can be deducted.

For details on retirement plans for self-employed individuals, a copy of Document No. 5592, Retirement Plans for Self-Employed Individuals, may be obtained at your local IRS office.

Q. I finally got my refund. Shouldn't I get interest on it? I have to pay interest to the government when I'm late in paying.

A. The government does pay interest on refunds that are not issued within 45 days of the due date of the returns or the date the return is filed, whichever is later. The interest rate is 6 percent per annum, the same rate taxpayers are charged who are late in paying their taxes.

Q. We sold some of our furniture for practically nothing when we moved. Is that a tax loss?

A. No. The law does not allow a deduction for losses on the sale of personal property.

Q. I read where a retired policeman gets an extra $1,200 deduction on his federal income tax. Is that right

A. There is no special tax exemption for policemen. However, there are provisions for all retired persons who receive pensions that retired policemen may benefit from.

A pension may or may not be taxable depending on whether a person has contributed to its cost. If the pension plan is of a type where the pensioner's cost is recoverable in the first three years, the pension is tax-free until the cost is fully recovered. After that, the pension is taxable income.

Another provision benefiting policemen and other retired persons is the retirement income credit. When certain conditions are met, this provision allows a taxpayer to reduce his income by up to 15 percent of his retirement income.

Details on these provisions are given in IRS Document No. 5018, Retirement Income and Credit, available at your local IRS office.

What Might Happen

It is possible that Alabama's George Wallace, leading a third party drive, could cause the presidential election to be settled in Congress.

Procedure is spelled out in the 12th and 20th amendments to the Constitution. Peculiar results are possible.

If none of the three candidates wins the required electoral college majority — 270 votes — the House elected on November 5 will pick the president. The House must choose among the three candidates with the most electoral votes. Each state casts a single vote, and a state with a deadlocked House delegation gets no vote. Twenty-six votes are needed to win.

The Senate chooses the vice-president. But it must choose between the two vice-presidential nominees with the most electoral votes. Each senator has one vote.

One of the peculiar possibilities is that the House could choose Nixon, while the Senate, with an almost certain Democratic majority — picked vice-president Humphrey's running mate, Senator Edmund S. Muskie.

But if the Humphrey - Muskie ticket came in third in electoral votes, as some polls indicate, the Democratic senators would have to make the choice between Governor Spiro T. Agnew and Wallace's running mate. A final irony: if the Senate is deadlocked on the matter, Humphrey, a lame duck vice-president, would cast the deciding vote.

If the House were deadlocked over the Presidency, the Senate's choice for vice-president would take over Jan. 20 as acting President.

ning of the program at 10:30, and at the conclusion.

Although the official opening is set for October 2, it was expected that the bridge would be open for traffic this weekend.

The project was a federal aid one, with the county and town of Oakland contributing a share of the total cost which was put at $105,585.55. The old bridge was demolished on April 29, necessitating a detour of some four miles for residents south of the river.

Master Or Servants?

Figures released by the General Services Administration show that Uncle Sam owns 760.4 million acres of land—a sizeable part of the land area of the United States. The federal government also owns structures and facilities in the U. S. costing $33.4 billion. The greatest portion of these comes under the heading of utility systems, power development and distribution, flood control and navigation which altogether total over $15 billion.

When one pauses to realize that the federal government in its role of landowner and commercial business enterpriser is a nontaxpayer, it comes as no surprise that private citizens are saddled with a backbreaking tax burden. Every time an elected representative of the people or an appointed official advocates a federal business undertaking that could be carried out by taxpaying, private enterprise, he is proposing a new draft on the energies and earnings of private citizens. Either directly or indirectly, he is pushing toward the goal of making government the primary employer of U. S. citizens. If this goal should ever be reached, we will no longer be entitled to call our elected representatives public servants. They will be our masters.

We hear a lot about socialism—but, all it means is that government is landlord and boss. It means a condition of economic servitude wholly incompatible with the principle of self-government. These are the reasons why we should look with a wary eye on any proposal to expand government in the electric power business or any other business for that matter.—Industrial News Review.

Who Urged That?...

In December, 1966, the General Assembly of the United Nations adopted a resolution sponsored by a member nation. The resolution states that the assembly shall have the "bounded duty" to:

"urge the immediate cessation, in any form whatever, of interference by outsiders in the domestic or external affairs of states;

"condemn all forms of intervention . . .as a basic source of danger to world peace;

"to call upon all states . . . to refrain from armed intervention, of the promotion of or organization of subversion, terrorism, or other indirect forms of intervention for the purpose of changing by violence the existing system in another state".

The sponsoring nation? The Soviet Union.

While of course, campaign promises are not the most reliable declarations ever made, there is good reason to believe that such promises are finding acceptance among the responsible people of the nation.

For sentiment coming in from the grass roots level all over the nation appears to be questioning the validity of continued American military adventures abroad.

Woodrow Wilson ran for re-election on the promise to keep the U. S. out of World War I. Eventually the nation tipped the balance and a victory was won, but all of Russia was turned over to communism.

World War I created the pressures that created World War II and again a victory was won. But half or more of Europe went communist and practically all of Asia.

Thus, there is a growing question apparent in American minds as to the value on military undertakings in seeking to solve the problems of the entire world.

There is no question that the American military might is vast, if not kept under the thumb of civilian control pursuing vague policies as has been the case in Vietnam.

But warfare, especially modern warfare, extracts a terrible toll on the lands over which it is fought. After the victory, there is need for restoration of the lands and their economies in order that the chaos of despair and misery does not breed more communism.

Since the end of World War II the American taxpayers have paid out over 150 billions of dollars to help the world get on its feet, and judging from the reports from most parts of the world, except in a few instances, the world is not much better off for it.

In the meantime, the American economy has been severely jeopardized. There is a substantial question just where the economy would be if it were not for Vietnam.

While this nation undoubtedly must always maintain a strong defense establishment, there is a question as to whether the nation can ever afford to again engage in military operations primarily entered into to resolve internal disputes in other lands.

Enforcing the Pax Romano at the end of some 300 years ended Rome, but that was in the days when the chief weapon was a relatively inexpensive sword. The Pax Brittanica enforced by England lasted a shorter time, but again weaponry was relatively low in cost, and even that effort brought England to its knees. Now in an era when the sophisticated weaponry necessary makes cheap wars impossible, any attempt to enforce a Pax America could be of very short duration, indeed. This, is cause for concern.

Unchanged Plot...

Congressman Fletcher Thompson wrote the following article which was published in the Atlantic Weekly Star.

As your Congressman, I feel it is my duty to call your attention to the "Communist Rules for Revolution" which were captured in Dusseldorf, Germany, by allied forces in May, 1919. After reading them, I ask you to compare these aims with what is happening today and make your own judgment.

A. Corrupt the young, get them away from religion. Make them superficial, destroy their ruggedness.

B. Get control of all means of publicity and thereby:

(1) Get people's minds off their government by focusing their attention on athletics, sexy books and plays, and other trivialities.

(2) Divide people into hostile groups, by constantly harping on controversial matters of no importance.

(3) Destroy the people's faith in their natural orders by holding the latter up to contempt, ridicule and oblique criticism.

(4) Always preach true democracy, but seize power as fast and ruthlessly as possible.

(5) By encouraging government extravagance, destroy its credit, produce fear of inflation with rising prices and general discontent.

(6) Foment unnecessary strikes in vital areas. Encourage civil disorders and foster lenient and soft attitude toward such disorders.

(7) By specious argument cause the breakdown of the old moral virtues of honesty, sobriety, continence, faith in the pledge and word and ruggedness.

C. Cause the registration of all firearms on some pretext with a view to confiscating them and leaving the population helpless.

A copy of the above rules for revolution were recently secured by the Florida state attorney from a known member of the Communist Party who acknowledged it to still be a part of the Communist plot to overthrow the American Government.

Fifteen Are Killed On State Highways

Fifteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the State Police. Five of those killed were drivers, four were passengers, and six were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in four of the deaths, speed in seven, and "driver error" in ten.

In reviewing the reports of highway fatalities for last week, Lt. Colonel George E. Davidson, Deputy Superintendent of the State Police, had this to say: "Week after week those of us directly concerned on a daily basis, with the ever-increasing highway traffic problem are more convinced that our best weapon to 'lick' it is the individual driver. Good laws, good roads and good cars will not do it. But, good drivers can. It is very simple, requiring only good common sense. At all times, on the part of every driver, essential ingredients of good driving includes care and courtesy, and strict obedience of all rules and regulations".

Brewster, Mathias Agree On Spring Date For Primary

The two candidates for Maryland U. S. Senator, Daniel B. Brewster, D., and Rep. Charles McC. Mathias, R., have agreed that the primary election dates should be moved back to spring, but differed sharply on the elimination of national party conventions.

Brewster urged establishment of a national presidential primary, to be conducted under state laws, so that every citizen of each of the two major parties would have an opportunity to select his party's candidate for president.

Mathias stated that he believed it was simplifying the issue to believe all problems could be ended by abolishing national conventions. He went on to say the national convention is actually the last step in a nomination process which begins long before national elections are begun.

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

More About Fortas

Though the Johnson administration is trying to smear Senate opponents of the nomination of Abe Fortas as Chief Justice, the movement to block the nomination is gaining strength. Already, President Johnson has failed in his initial objective of forcing the nomination through virtually without consideration.

Certainly, the Johnson administration made a serious tactical error when Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark attacked the sincerity of Senators opposing the Fortas nomination. He said that the opposition consisted of Senators who oppose "equal rights". Immediately, Senators from many parts of the country replied to Mr. Clark's crude attempt to drag a red herring across the issue. Sen. James B. Pearson of Kansas called Clark's allegations "unfair and unworthy . . . . press relations blackmail, and attack on the integrity of the Senate". It is indeed unfortunate that Mr. Clark would attempt this kind of poliical hatchet work instead of busying himself with prosecuting anarchists and other law-breakers now troubling the nation.

Whereas Senate consideration of the Fortas nomination began with a discussion of the impropriety of cronyism, the opposition to the elevation of Mr. Fortas has broadened considerably. Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina brought to the attention of the Senate the role of Associate Justice Fortas in decisions in obscenity cases. Sen. Jack Miller of Iowa, in joining the opposition to the Fortas nomination, asserted that Mr. Fortas had participated in court decisions on obscenity which Miller said are destructive of moral standards. One of the decisions Sen. Miller cited overturned a lower federal court ruling that three striptease films were hard-core pornography.

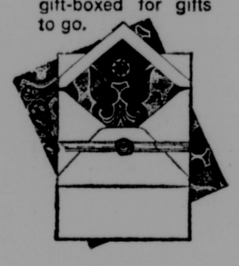
Certainly, if Mr. Fortas is soft on the pornography question, he is unfit to serve as Chief Justice, in fact, even as Associate Justice. One of the worst evils in the country today is the spread of pornographic material. It reaches great numbers of young people and exposes them to a corrupting influence.

The Communists are said to be shipping large quantities of pornography into the United States in an effort to undermine the moral standards of America's young people.

The smut peddlers have been able to get away with their vicious trade because the U. S. Supreme Court has declined to uphold moral standards. It has tortured fine points of law to give pornographers the benefit of the doubt. It would be tragic if the next Chief Justice were a man who found some pseudo-sophisticated reason for allowing smut peddlers to continue their traffic in moral corruption.

This is not the only reason why Mr. Fortas' nomination is being so strongly opposed. He also is displaying a devious character of mind in connection with his nomination. When he appeared before the Senate Judiciary Committee, he refused to discuss court decisions in which he had taken part or to discuss the legal philosophy that lay behind his rulings. He said it would be unconstitutional and improper for him to explain himself. But it has come to light that he recently wrote a booklet entiled "Concerning Dissent and Civil Disobedience". He is perfectly willing to write a tract for the times touching on issues that will come before him on the Supreme Court, but refuses to answer questions put by a coordinate branch of the U. S. government.

Benjamin Ginsburg, former research director of the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights and assistant editor of the Encyclopedia of the Social Sciences, has made this telling comment on Justice Fortas' tract:



"Had Fortas published his pamphlet before he was nominated and confirmed as Associate Justice, I believe there would have been proper grounds for disqualifying him for membership in the Supreme Court . . . . Litigants will cite Fortas' doctrines in their briefs and oral hearings. What is perhaps more important, the attitude of the court majority, who have in a number of decisions condoned direct action illegalities by the use of legal quibbles, may now, through the influence of Mr. Fortas as Chief Justice, harden into an open doctrine of the rights of civil disobedience, thus fostering greater disrespect for the law and the violence which accompanies disrespect".

This pamphlet should be closely considered by the Senate Judiciary Committee. If Mr. Ginsburg is right in his analysis, it provides additional reason why the full Senate should insist that the nomination of Abe Fortas be withdrawn by the President.

Citizens To Study Md. Strip Mining

Citizen leaders will meet in Frostburg this week to evaluate strip mine control regulations, practices, and opportunities in the Free State. The program will commence Friday afternoon September 27, with a field trip through representative coal areas of Allegany and Garrett counties and conclude Saturday with a day long conference built on the theme "Strip Mining: Where does it Fit in Maryland's Future?" The meeting is one of a series of Citizens' Workshops on Potomac Basin Planning — supported by 20 Potomac organizations concerned about natural resources in cooperation with the Potomac Basin Center.

The Frostburg workshop is co-sponsored by the Allegany County League of Women Voters, and the Georges Creek Project of Frostburg State college.

Conferees will concentrate directly on the Maryland strip mine picture—extent of mining and problems related to it; content and administration of the State's strip mine control law; and the controversy over possible new mining within the Savage River State Forest. In addition, guideline experience in other states will be reviewed by W. E. Guckert, Pennsylvania's Director of Bituminous Conservation and Reclamation; Russell W. Haller, of Kitanning, Pennsylvania, President of the West Freedom Mining Corporation; and Grover C. Little of Kenova, West Virginia, Vice-President of the Izaak Walton League of America.

Local sponsors of the meeting have invited attendance from all across the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Millar became the parents of quadruplets September 20.

An aerial view of the Etam, West Virginia, earth station site showing the antenna and control building. A total of 22 earth stations equipped with powerful sending and receiving antennas is scheduled to be commercial operation by the end of 1968—14 in the Atlantic and eight in the Pacific. The Etam station will be formally dedicated tomorrow.

Plan Dedication Of Comsat Friday

Gov. Hulett C. Smith of West Virginia will head a list of dignitaries who will gather at Etam tomorrow to dedicate the new Communications Satellite Corporation earth station.

Events will get under way at 10:30 a. m., according to William Carroll, COMSAT station manager. Gov. Smith will speak via telephone with the governor of Puerto Rico, who at the same time will be dedicating a new station on that island. U. S. Senators Jennings Randolph and Robert C. Byrd are expected to attend. Ceremonies are open to the public.

COMSAT is planning to use the Etam station with the new INTELSAT III satellite communications system. Construction was begun in September, 1967 and was completed at an approximate cost of $6.5 million. The corporation purchased 30 acres of land from Frank Funk.

The 97-foot antenna stands taller than a 10-story building. Besides the antenna and its base there also is constructed an 18,000 square foot control building.

One of the first television programs in which the Etam station will have a role is the 1968 Summer Olympics in Mexico City. Travel to Etam from Oakland is to follow U. S. 50 eastward, to McComber, near Rowlesburg, and there take state route 72 south.

The station will serve as the major U. S. East Coast facility for sending and receiving all forms of communications via satellite — telephone, telegraph and data, television — between the U. S. mainland, Puerto Rico and the Caribbean, Europe, Latin America, and other Atlantic points.

The Etam earth station is one of six located in five states and Puerto Rico. There are stations at Andover, Maine; Brewster flat, Washington; and Paumalu, Hawaii. Another station is being constructed at Jamesburg, Calif.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The hub of a railroad—the classification yard. Could you, without training or experience, take charge here? Could you sort and "spot" thousands of cars, have them ready at the right time on the right track to go out with the right train?

But every day your mind performs an operation even more complex. You sort and classify your thoughts and impulses. You decide what is right and wrong. You determine which actions are urgent, and which can be deferred. You resolve that some goals are important, and others are secondary. And every decision affects your life, and the lives of others!

Preparing men and women—and boys and girls—to make the right decisions is one of the great functions of the Church. There are sound Christian standards by which life's choices should be sorted. There is confidence and strength for those who seek, learn and practice the true Way of Life.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS the over-whelming majority of the youth of the United States and Canada are constructive, responsible citizens who receive altogether too little recognition of their achievements, and

WHEREAS the men of Optimist International have dedicated themselves to promoting community-wide recognition of our fine young people during YOUTH APPRECIATION WEEK each fall, and

WHEREAS the citizens of Garrett County have indicated they wish to join the Optimists in expressing their pride in our youth and their approval of the many fine things they are doing to improve both themselves and our community,

We, the Board of Garrett County Commissioners, therefore proclaim November 11-16, 1968, as YOUTH APPRECIATION WEEK in Garrett County with the sincere hope that every adult will not only stop to think about the many plus qualities of the younger generation, but actively recognize the individual and collective attributes and achievements of as many young people as they can possibly reach, so that our citizens of tomorrow may fully realize that we are confident in their ability to build and govern the bright world of the future.

LIVING IN HOPE

Lesson for September 29, 1968

Background Scripture: Isiah 61; Luke 2:22-32.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 91 1-6, 14-16.

Some time ago I was asked if I was an optimist or a pessimist. I found the question difficult to answer because it might be said that I am "provisionally pessimistic," but "ultimately optimistic." That is, in the short run I am likely to conclude that a situation is not very promising at all. Yet, in the long run I can see the same situation more brightly because of my faith in God's providence. Perhaps like little "Lucy" in the Peanuts cartoon I can say that I am "very optimistic about my pessimism."

Rev. Althouse

One who hopes

Yet, the more we consider these two terms, the more it becomes clear that neither is particularly a Christian perspective. As followers of Christ, we are not called to be either optimistic or pessimistic, but to live in hope. There is a considerable difference even between "optimism" and "hope." Hope implies trust, reliance. The optimist's expectations focus on the inevitable goodness of the present, while the man who hopes place his trust in the assurance of the future.

Man, said Thomas Carlyle, "is based on hope. He has no other possession but hope." Others are somewhat less enchanted with it. H.L. Mencken, for one, called it "a pathological belief in the occurence of the impossible." Philosopher Friederich Nietzsche said it "is the worst of all evils, for it prolongs the torment of man." Ogden Nash writes it off as "dope" and Langdon terms it "a more gentle name for fear."

Materials of victory

There is a sense in which its detractors are quite right. By itself, hope is empty, but the Christian's trust is not in hope alone, but in God. This is different than a conviction that "everything will work out all right." Hope always allows for the many situations that turn into disappointment and tragedy. It does not deny their reality. It simply asks that we look beyond and trust in the ultimate fulfillment of God's purpose. Even the tragedies of this world can become the raw materials from which Christ can fashion his eventual victory.

We see this again and again in the life of Israel. The Hebrews returned from their Babylonian captivity to restore the nation of God once again. But in time, the restoration went sour. The high intentions of the people got sidetracked along the way like those of their forefathers. Thus the prophets began to look for the coming of the Messiah who would bring to fulfillment the hopes of Israel. Isaiah was one of the prophets who taught Israel to hope.

What about present?

Like the aged Simeon (Luke 2: 25-32), we see Jesus Christ as the fulfillment of that messianic expectation, a fulfillment that began with his coming and will continue to unfold until he comes again. Yet, some may say (as perhaps the people in Isaiah's time said) "Well, that's all very nice, but I'm living now. I appreciate what God has done in the past and what he will do in the future, but what about the present? That's where I am."

The answer is that those who live in the hope of what God will do in the future are freed to live victoriously in the present. Assured of the ultimate outcome, we can go about the business of living here and now. Even though we are unsure about tomorrow, we can be confident about eternity. By hope, we can on a rainy day in March look ahead to the glory of summer. That hope does not keep us from getting our feet wet or muddy, but we find in it the power to see that day through because we know that, beneath the silent earth, God's wonders are stirring unseen.

Hope in the future fullfillment of God's purpose is medicine for the present. As Isaiah's vision of a Christ to come enabled Israel to continue, so the reality of a Christ who has come enables us to live in hope.

Squirrel Crop Is Termed Bountiful

Maryland squirrel hunters will have a bumper crop of the bushy-tails awaiting them when the season opens on October 5, according to wildlife officers of the Department of Game and Inland Fish.

The rise in the squirrel population is attributed to excellent food conditions the little animals enjoyed last year.

And on another optimistic note, observers say the same fine food conditions will prevail again this fall and winter.

The possession limit is 12 and both the bag and possession limits include gray, black and fox squirrels in the aggregate of all kinds. There is no limit on red or piney squirrels. The season runs through November 16.

Hunters are reminded particularly that for the first time in several seasons the opening day of the squirrel season does not coincide with the opening day of turkey season. Turkey season will not open until October 16 in the three counties where turkey hunting is permitted — Garrett, Allegany and Washington.

Hunters who bag a turkey are urged to return the bands to the Department of Game and Inland Fish, State Office Building, Annapolis. Information is needed in the Department's attempt to re-establish this valuable game bird in the State. Turkey hunters must have a big game stamp to hunt them and that all turkeys must be checked in at a designated checking station in the county in which the kill was made.

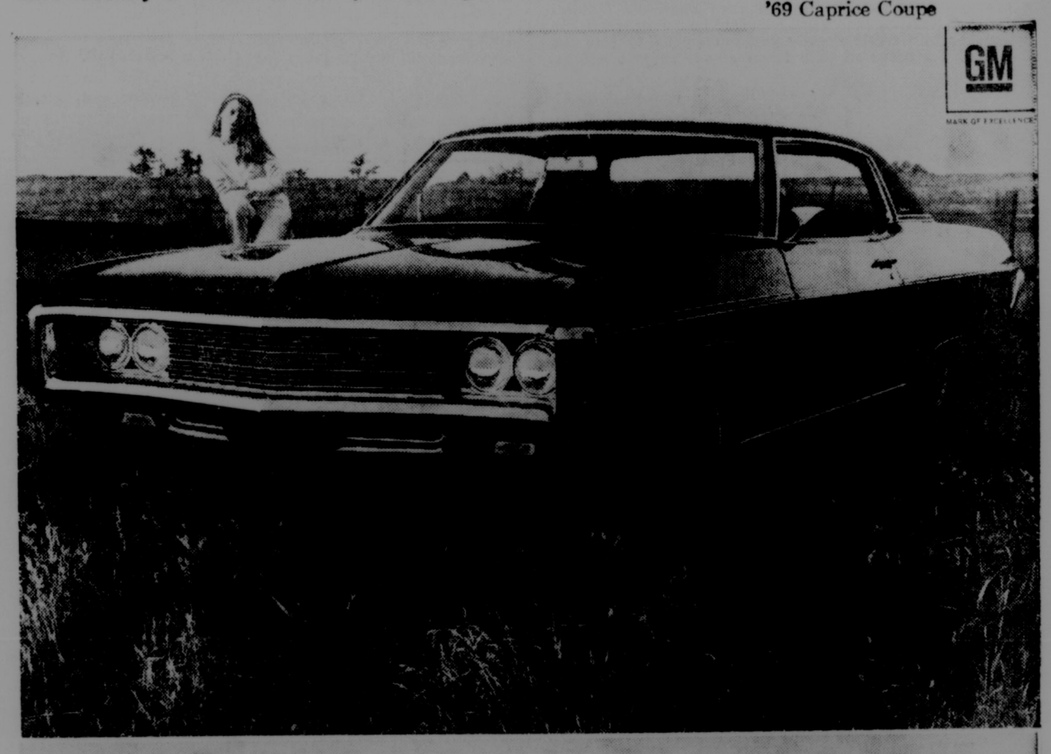
Chevrolet introduces 1969.

Caprice. Match this, you other 69's!

There is no joy in the land of our competitors today. But let us ask you this.

Should we have made Caprice shorter instead of the longest Chevrolet ever built? Or adorned it with flashy nicknacks to make it look less expensive?



Just because competition doesn't, should we not have offered you washers to clean your headlights, new variable-ratio power steering, liquid tire chain you can apply to your rear wheels at the touch of a button?

Should we have given you less power, instead of the largest standard V8 in its field?

Some people think so.

Our competitors.

Camaro. Who needs to say "announcing" or "new".

The Hugger.

And just look how it all hangs together. No gingerbread anywhere.

We've improved the interior, too. Quieted the ride. Made the Astro Ventilation ventilate better.

The power range is very impressive.

Standard V8 is 210 hp. SS engines available up to 325 hp. For added SS appeal: sport striping; power disc brakes; wide oval, road-hugging tires.

Your Chevrolet dealer offers this advice:

Go on, you other sportsters. Gnash your gears and look tough.

"BELLY BUTTON" OR UMBILICAL HERNIA

Navel, or belly button hernia, is not unusual in babies and usually it corrects itself in a few months to a year. It is the only kind of hernia which can be self-correcting. The Doctor sometimes just tapes a coin, or a similar flat object over the hernia.

In grandmother's time, every baby usually wore a belly band for this purpose, but now medical opinion has discarded this therapy as having little value. Infrequently, surgery may be required for a navel hernia but the operation is simple. Your physician will tell you if one is necessary.

BAND INSTRUMENT rental and purchase plan—It is true, Barbera Music Center does not have a representative calling on your school to sell or rent an instrument, but we do have a plan which is even better. If you come to our store in Keyser for a band instrument purchase, will give you more than a commission of the amount (20%) normally given to a salesman. Be your own salesman and save money. We have seven major brand names of band instruments: Conn, Bach, Olds, Buescher, Holton, LeBlanc and Slingerland drums. We also carry instruments of lesser priced brands for the beginning band students. Instrument prices start at $89.95 less 20%. Rental Plan: We give you an instrument for 60 days ($15.00) option to keep or return. Rental fee applies to cost. (No discount on time.) —Adv. 24-tf.

Couple Wed In New York

Miss Ilene Teixeira, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis C. Teixeira, of Yonkers, New York, became the bride of George J. Kerins, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Kerins Jr., Sherborn, Mass., former residents of Oakland.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Reverend Father Geisler at St. Joachims Church in Beacon, New York, on Saturday morning, August 10.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white crepe and lace with a laced scalloped neckline, with long pointed sleeves of lace, which was repeated on the bodice and the train. She wore a chapel veil and carried a bouquet of orchids surrounded by painted blue daisies.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Thomas J. Perrault, as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Phyllis Teixeira, sister of the bride, and Ronni Bartkovsky. The matron of honor wore a sleeveless gown of soft blue crepe and chiffon, and the bridesmaids wore sleeveless gowns of green crepe and blue chiffon.

Best man was Thomas J. Perrault of Beacon, New York. Ushers were Gregory H. Kerins and Ralph J. Kerins, brothers of the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the White Stone Hotel, Beacon, New York.

The couple honeymooned at the Kerins cottage at Deep Creek Lake, near Oakland.

The groom, a former resident of Oakland, and a 1964 graduate of Southern High School was discharged from the United States Marine Corps on May 10. He is presently attending Worcester Junior College, Worcester, Mass.

The couple, Mr. and Mrs. Kerins are residing at 6 Clifton Street, Worcester, Mass.

Lost, And A Long Way From Home

Has anyone seen Paddy?

That is the question being asked by Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Fowler, of Chicago, this week after their cat, Paddy, got out of their car at the picnic area near the Grantsville filter plant and skittered off several days ago.

After looking for several hours without finding a trace, the Fowlers wrote both to the newspaper and to the Grantsville chief of police in an attempt to recover their family pet, who is an "apartment" cat and not at all used to the country life.

Anyone finding a large (11-12 pounds), gray-striped and white neutered male cat with a pink nose would be a friend of the grateful Fowler family if they would contact them at 716 W. Buena, Chicago, Ill., 60613.

In addition to a reward, the Fowlers will return to pick up their pet.

By Paul S. Frank Jr.

September 26 - October 2

The moon will be at its first quarter phase at 1:25 a. m. on Sunday. During the week the moon rises in the afternoon.

The sun rises at 7:19 a. m. and sets at 7:08 p. m. today. Wednesday the day breaks at 7:14 a. m. and ends at 6:58 p. m. Daylight lasts eleven hours and forty-nine minutes today and eleven hours and forty-four minutes on the second of October.

Three planets may be seen in the sky with the unaided eye during the week. Saturn rises shortly after dark in the constellation of Pisces. Venus is in the constellation of Virgo and can be seen low in the western sky just after sunset. Mars is in the constellation of Leo rising a few hours before the sun.

Due south, when the Milky-way is overhead, one can find in the Milky-way a group of stars that seems to form a teapot. The handle of the teapot consists of four stars shaped like the cup of a dipper. The top of the teapot is a triangle. One of the stars of the top is also in the handle. The spout is on the west side of the teapot and is also a triangle. The teapot is tilted as if it were pouring its contents on the southwestern horizon.

These stars are part of the constellation Sagittarius, the archer. Sagittarius represents a centaur with a drawn bow. This constellation is the farthest south of the twelve that form the Zodiac. There are no real bright stars in Sagittarius.

One might observe that centaurs were half man, half horse and were generally savage creatures. Only one named Chiron was immortal. He was known for his goodness and wisdom. The young sons of the heros were entrusted to him for their education. Achilles; Aesculapius, the physician; and Actaeon, the hunter, were all his pupils.

In the planetarium last Wednesday Mr. Frantz's seventh grade class from Northern studied the planets. Today the campers from Allegany County studied the north circumpolar constellations.

The Way It Is . . . .

"I died for guys with protest signs", an Indiana soldier, who was killed recently in battle in Vietnam, had written to his wife. His wife had instructions to open the letter only in event of his death. Excerpts from the letter were published by the Indianapolis Star newspaper September 20.

"It is too bad I had to die in another country. The United States is so wonderful, but at least I died for a reason, and a good one. I may not understand this war or like it, or want to fight it, but nevertheless I had to do it and I did.

"I died for the people of the United States. I died really for you; you were my one real happiness. I died also for your mom and dad so that they could go on working. . . For your brothers that they could play sports in freedom without Communist rule.

"I died for my parents that they could enjoy my dad's retirement in freedom, go on vacations and have fun. . . For others also who enjoy this wonderful country and who appreciate what they have and thank God every day for it. . . I died for the guys with the long hair and protest signs. The draft card burners, the hippies, the anti-everything people who have nothing better to do. The college kids who think they

Queen Anne's Co. Man Declared Guilty Of Rape

First Trial Last April Ended In Deadlocked Jury

A second trial for Michael Eugene Conway, 19, of Queen Anne's county charged with the rape of Brenda Jean Wright, 18, of Stevensville, resulted in a verdict of guilty yesterday afternoon in the Garrett County Circuit Court in Oakland. The jury's verdict which included two women, declared "without capital punishment".

His initial trial in Oakland last April 30 ended with the jury hopelessly deadlocked. At that tme the jury deliberated for five and one-half hours without coming to a decision. Yesterday the case went to the jury about 3 o'clock and the verdict was returned at 4:30.

The rape was declared to have occurred January 5 in a service station owned by the defendant's father. When the jury last April failed to agree the traverser was returned to Queen Anne's county and held without bail for the fall session of court when the new trial was set.

Attorneys for the defense included Edward Turner and James E. Thompson, of Queen Anne's county, along with William W. Grant, of Oakland. J. Thomas Clark, state's attorney for Queen Anne's county, handled the prosecution with Fred A. Thayer, state's attorney for this county, assisting.

Defense attorneys indicated motions would be filed and they are scheduled to be heard at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the local court room, before Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill, who presided at the trial. Three days were needed for the completion of the case.

Data Processing Company Plans Plant Expansion

Integrated Business Methods, Inc., has announced plans to expand its facility located at 424 South Arch street in Oakland, from a single shift operation to a three-shift operation, it was announced by Donald W. Gregg, executive vice-president. With this expansion the company anticipates a total employment in excess of 100 people, he said.

IBMI has operated a Data Center in Oakland since June, 1965. Shortly after operations began in 1965 the need for additional facilities became necessary and a building was erected and subsequently dedicated in March of 1967, at the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce Industrial Park. The Center was specifically designed for the keypunching, keyverifying data conversion activities. It provides for complete climatic control and ease of operation for the employes.

IBMI has offered several successful keypunch training classes during the past two years. The 1968 Training classes extend over a 6-week period and include an introduction to data processing techniques, familiarization with the concept of automation, functions of the punch card in a data processing system, the operational features of the keypunch machine, the operation features of the keyverify machine, and instructions in the technique of keypunching and keyverifying punched cards from reports and other source documentation. A soldier who was wounded twice in battle in South Vietnam, has been awarded a gold star in lieu of his second purple heart medal, it was learned this week.

The soldier is Corporal Roger L. Smith, with the U. S. Marine aircraft group. He is with a helicopter group and was wounded as a result of enemy action on May 24. He was wounded the first time in March, for which he was awarded a Purple Heart medal.

The soldier is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Smith, of Crellin, and the husband of Mrs. Barbara Smith, who is residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Guthrie, in Crellin, at the present time. He has been in the service since June two years ago and has been in Vietnam for eight months.

5 Youths Set Fire To Public Phone

Five more juveniles were added to the list scheduled to be heard in juvenile court on Tuesday, October 8, following a recent escapade in Oakland.

The five juvenille males, two fourteen years of age and three thirteen years of age, placed carbide in the coin return slot of a public telephone in a booth on Second street in the town on September 24, and then ignited it, causing damaged estimated by the telephone company at $154.92.

They will be included in the group of seven juveniles to be heard on larceny charges which were reported earlier in The Republican. Eight of the nine cases concern individuals involved in the larceny of soft drinks from the Friendsville laundromat in August with two of them charged also with assault and battery. One of the individuals is an adult charged with contributing to delinquency of the seven.

Cases are to be heard before Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill, sitting as a juvenile judge.

New Clerk Named

Ramona Shillingburg has replaced Mrs. Carolyn Gibson as clerk in charge of the Crellin rural branch of the Oakland post office, it was announced by Guy William Hinebaugh, postmaster.

Appeals Court To Hear Miller Case Oct. 16

The Maryland Court of Appeals will hear arguments next month on the appeal of Gary Lee Miller, of Pocahontas, Pa., near Grantsville, who was convicted and sentenced to death last November for the slaying of Judy Lee Ziegler, 20, also of Pocahontas. The court will hear arguments October 16.

Appearing in behalf of young Miller, who was 17 at the time of his conviction will be attorney John C. Sullivan. A member of the Attorney General's staff will appear for the state.

It has been indicated that the defense will argue in its appeal that the alleged oral confession of Miller was not voluntarily given and the court committed error in alleging its contents to be admitted, and that the evidence was insufficient to convict the defendant of the crime of murder in the first degree.

The four-day trial of Miller began in Allegany county last October 25 before Judge Harold E. Naughton and James S. Getty. His attorney at the time, Julius E. Schindler, at the conclusion of the case, asked for a directed verdict of acquittal which the court denied. A new trial motion was filed and denied November 9. After a presentence investigation young Miller was sentenced to die in the gas chamber sometime during the week beginning January 1, 1968.

Mr. Schindler appealed the sentence which was stayed pending the appeal. Records of the trial were mailed to the Court of Appeals January 12.

Miss Ziegler's body was found May 28 along Hoffman road near Eckhart. It was discovered by two women who claimed they heard screams in the night. The dead woman's car was found the next day partly submerged, in a dam near Pocahontas, in Somerset county. Miller was taken into custody the following day and the alleged oral statement was made to authorities during interrogation. Later Miller refused to sign the statement, testimony at the trial showed.

Miller was indicted by the Injured in Fall

Joseph Kahl, of Eckhart, was admitted to Sacred Heart hospital in Cumberland on Saturday evening, suffering with injuries of the jaw and back received when he fell from a 25-foot high roof at Hutton. He was taken to the hospital in the Durst ambulance.

Kahl was assisting his father-in-law, Lester Gank, at Hutton, when he lost his footing and fell to the ground. He suffered a broken jaw.

He was listed in "satisfactory" condition at the hospital. He is a son of Mrs. Edward P. Kahl, Mt. Lake Park.

THE BRIDGE IS OPEN—ENJOY IT—Former Mayor Russell L. Smith, left, and present mayor, H. D. Swartzentruber, snap the ribbon during ceremonies yesterday morning that officially opened the new bridge across the Little Youghiogheny river on South Third street. Mentioned by several who made remarks, it was pointed out that many people had been inconvenienced over the previous five months, but now that the project had been completed, "thank those responsible and enjoy it." Needless to say, the new bridge, which cost over $105,000 in a federal, county, city project, will be enjoyed. Over one hundred persons attended the ceremonies yesterday, arranged by Harry L. Stemple, member of the Oakand city council.

Progress on Plans For Improvement Of Rt. 219 Given

The progress of plans for the improvement of U. S. route 219, from the Deep Creek bridge, northward to beyond the town of McHenry was reported this week to Benj. O. Aiken, Accident, member of the House of Delegates, by Jerome B. Wolff, chairman Director of the State Roads commission.

Mr. Wolff, in a letter to Mr. Aiken, had the following to say:

"The design plans and right of way plats are complete for Maryland Route 219 between the limits of Deep Creek Bridge and North Sang Run road. The original plan was to advertise the project during September, 1968. However, our difficulty is a financial one; insufficient Federal funds have made it necessary to defer this as well as a number of other deserving projects. Additional Federal funds to help finance this project do not become available until January, 1969. Although this necessitated a change in the advertising date, it does not alter the original construction date, which would have been mid-spring of 1969.

"The construction plans, specifications and estimates will be sent for Bureau of Public Roads' approval during December, 1968. Barring unforeseen delays and subject to the Bureau's approval, the project should be advertised during the winter of 1968, with construction to start in mid-spring of 1969".

The information was offered this week by Mr. Aiken because he said he had received numerous requests about the status of the program.

Bond Issue For College Discussed

Negotiations and arrangements for the bond issue for the Community college were discussed by the County Commissioners with their attorney, W. Dwight Stover, at a recent meeting. It was agreed that such negotiations should be started as soon as possible and Mr. Stover was authorized to proceed with necesary preliminary arrangements.

The Commissioners also discussed the problem of solid waste disposal for Bloomington with Charles B. Miller, county sanitarian; Mrs. Katherine Mills, secretary of the Bloomington Civic Improvements organization; Charles Pattison, George C. Pattison Sr., Ward Barstow, Maryland State Department of Health; Gaylord Brooks of the Allegany County health department.

It was agreed, since various county and state agencies will be involved, that a complete survey be made of conditions existing and possible means of solving the problem agreed upon.

The request of Mike McJunkin to conduct seismographic tests involving blasting along county roads was discussed. It was the opinion of the board and Mr. Miller that all tests should be performed on private property.

Lester Hunter, of Long Stretch, has been appointed a member of the Garrett County Liquor Control board by Governor Spiro T. Agnew, and was sworn in Monday morning in the office of Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit court.

Mr. Hunter is a timber operator and at present is working on a pulpwood job at Indian Head. He is also a member of the Garrett County Forestry Board.

The annual Boy Scout fund drive is now in progress, it was announced by Maurice S. Brookhart, vice-president of the Potomac Scout council, of Oakland.

He said letters had been mailed to all business establishments and that a house to house canvass would be conducted in Oakland and other communities within the county during the month of October.

The Potomac Council budget for the year, which covers an area of five counties, is $48,101, of which the Deep Creek district is asked to raise approximately 4 percent, or $1,925. Mr. Brookhart urged all to give generously as an investment in the future of Garrett County boys.

Through the generosity of an individual and several large corporations, a new Scout Headquarters is under construction on the east side of Cresaptown which will be completed within the next sixty days.

He invited the general public to stop in, discuss the scouting program with the scout executives and see the material available to all scouts in the area.

Broken Windows Under Investigation At Southern High

The Sheriff's department is investigating an act of vandalism which led to four broken windows in Southern High School's new addition this week.

Two students at the school, Randy Rodeheaver and Donald Sincell, noticed that the four panes of glass, approximately three by five feet each, had been broken when they drove by that section late Sunday afternoon. The ground floor windows were in a room used by one of the school's English teachers.

The stones used to break the glass are in the possession of the authorities, who currently have at least one person under suspicion.

Cherry Creek Mine Acid Elimination Being Conducted

Various state agencies are cooperating in a program to rehabilitate Cherry Creek, a tributary of Deep Creek Lake, according to Michael Rhoderick, engineer with the Cumberland office of the Maryland Department of Water Resources.

Mr. Rhoderick said that six or seven strip mine operations which were worked some years ago have mine acid drainage which is flowing into the watershed of Cherry Creek and eventually into Deep Creek Lake.

Cherry Creek enters the lake at a point near the Deep Creek State Park and runs along Rock Lodge road. Mr. Rhoderick said the state park would have a new sewage system in operation next year.

Strikes Parked Car And Parking Meter

Mrs. Joseph Faulkner, Oakland, did extensive damage to her automobile but was unhurt when her foot slipped from the brake to the gasoline feed while she was endeavoring to park in front of the McLaughlin building on Second street, last Sunday.

The Dodge automobile jumped the curb, struck a parking meter, a parked automobile and ended up hitting the building.

City policeman Hobart Shillingburg, who investigated, said damage to Mrs. Faulkner's car would reach $700, with some $100 damage to the parked automobile of Richard Gnegy, in addition to repairs to the parking meter.

Mrs. Faulkner was shaken up but not injured and the parked automobile was not occupied.

The roadway had been closed to all traffic for the past five months. The project was a federal aid one, with the county and town of Oakland contributing a share of the total cost which was placed at $105,585.55. The old bridge was demolished on April 29.

The bridge actually was open for traffic on Tuesday evening following its inspection by state roads officials.

New Earth Station Dedicated Sept. 27

A new, ten-story high ground station for satellite communication was dedicated last Friday at Etam, W. Va., some five miles south of Macomber.

Rep. Harley O. Staggers, House Commerce committee, envisioned the possible future role of the Etam site in the main address.

The new station will shortly go into actual operation—first beaming to Puerto Rico the first live television ever received there — and will be one of six U. S. antennas that are part of an international network for transmitting television, radio and data signals.

The initial use of the Etam station, one of three new antennas being completed this fall in the nation to join three already completed, will be telecasts on the World Series to Puerto Rico.

The Etam station will be in full operation as both a "mouth" and "ear" for transmissions through the two existing satellites, that are part of the planned worldwide system that includes 63 nations.

The Etam station will be capable of quickly receiving and sending matter throughout the Western Hemisphere as well as to and from Europe.

Savage Dam Aids Flow of Potomac

The Savage River dam last week was releasing nearly 81 percent of the flow of the North Branch of the Potomac River during the past week.

Harry Bittinger, who operates the reservoir for the Upper Potomac River commission, reported that the flow of the North Branch before it got to Luke was 9.2 million gallons. Normally, he said the amount going past there daily is about 20 million gallons. The dam is releasing 58.3 million gallons daily so that the flow of the river below Luke can be augmented. This figured to be 80.8 percent of the total flow.

Michael Rodevick engineer with the Cumberland office of the Maryland Department of Water Resources, noted that the odor of the Potomac river at Cumberland was caused by a high incidence of organic material in the stream which uses up most of the available oxygen in the water.

He said the condition should be cleared up after several heavy rains this fall.

The river flow during the summer months was far below normal, he pointed out.

Volkswagen leaps into the present.

With a fully automatic transmission.

If you bet a friend we never would, we almost didn't.

10 years ago the decision was made. To design a fully automatic transmission. The kind you put in drive and forget.

Our aim was to make things easy, but for us changes aren't easy to make.

Especially in this case. There were certain things we just didn't want to lose.

Like horsepower, and our reputation for being economical.

What we've ended up with is a 3-speed automatic transmission that's pure Volkswagen—designed from scratch to get the most out of the VW with the least expenditure of effort.

It has the fewest moving parts.

It's the lightest per horsepower output. And it's incredibly sensitive. (A model airplane engine is powerful enough to turn it.)

So come see how far Volkswagen has come.

The Squareback and Fastback. Both have disk brakes, an electronically controlled fuel injection system, and now, a fully automatic transmission.

If you're interested, it's available as an option on our '69 models.

If you're not interested, we sure went to a lot of trouble for nothing.

Preston Co. Having Special Election On School Funds

Polling places in the neighboring county of Preston will open at 6:30 a. m. and remain open until 7:30 p. m., Saturday, October 5, in the special election called by the Preston County Board of Education for continuation of the present special school levy for another five-year period beginning next July 1. These levy rates were last approved in 1963 for the period ending next June 30.

A favorable vote by at least 60 percent of the persons voting in the election is required for approval of the special levy. If the special levy is again approved, the rates would continue at the present level and would not increase school taxes.

Members of the Board of Education, the staff of the county school system, and interested lay citizens have discussed the special election in various meetings throughout the county to acquaint voters with the importance of the school levy in maintaining the present level of financial support for essential educational services in transportation, instruction, repair of buildings, provision of free textbooks, and special programs such as guidance, adult education, 4-H Club work, and health services—all of which are supported entirely or in large part by special levy funds.

If approved by the voters, the continuation of the present levy will provide the approximate following revenue each year during the next five-year periods: $30,000 for the purchase of textbooks for all pupils in grades 1 through 12; $80,000 for repairs to permanent-type buildings and acquisition of instructional equipment; $40,000 for transportation services and purchase of new school buses; $11,000 for the support of the 4-H Club program and the county public health service; $187,000 for support of the instructional program, including salary and wage increments for both certified and non-certificated employees. The annual revenue from the special levy is estimated to be $524,338 — or about one-sixth of the total annual school budget.

Ft. Martin Power Station Is Tested

Testing has begun on the second generating unit at Fort Martin Power Station, a few miles north of Morgantown on the Monongahela River. The first unit began operation in May of last year. When both units are at full capability, 1,080,000 kilowatts will be generated at the power station operated by Monongahela Power Company.

During the testing period, the unit will be stepped up gradually in load and operating time while adjustments and checks are being made. It may not be ready for commercial use for several months, according to officials at Fort Martin.

Ground was broken for Fort Martin on September 11, 1964. From 600 to 1,100 men have been employed regularly in its construction. When both units are operating, it will use 3,000,000 tons of coal annually mined in the northern West Virginia area assuring year-round employment for 500 miners. When finished Fort Martin will cost in excess of $130 million.

The two boilers are more than 16 stories high. Each of the boilers produces four million lbs. of steam each hour at a temperature of 1010 degrees F., and a pressure of 3,800 pounds per square inch.

Grand Jury October 3, 1967. At his araignment October 9 he entered a plea of not guilty and waived a jury trial.

Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Oakland, had sentenced Miller to a term not to exceed four years in December, 1965, after a Garrett County jury found him guilty of raping a 22-year-old Salisbury, Pa., woman on July 12, 1965, in the county.

Witnesses at that trial in November of that year had testified that Miller admitted lying in wait for the woman in the back of her auto in Frostburg, then threatening her with a knife and ordering her to drive to the Finzel road where the attack took place. The woman was finally able to break away in the New Germany area where the arrest was made. The trial was conducted before a jury which found him guilty of rape and assault with intent to rape, with a recommendation "without capital punishment".

Several Injured In Collisions During The Past Week

Several persons were hospitalized as the result of car accidents during the past week, according to reports filed in the Oakland State Police office.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sleeman, Route 2, Oakland, were taken by Durst ambulance to Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a two car collision along Route 135 last Friday at 4:45 p. m.

The Sleemans, who were not seriously injured, had stopped to make a left turn off Route 135 when they were struck from the rear by a vehicle operated by Carlus Delbert Reckart, of Star Route, Oakland.

Reckart was charged with following too closely by Tfc. Stephen Russell, who estimated damages at $400 for each vehicle.

A one-car accident which occurred Sunday at 5 a. m. injured the driver of the vehicle. According to a report made by Tfc. D. A. Smith, who investigated, Floyd Lee Cooper, Deer Park, was attempting to turn right at the intersection of Route 135 from the Sand Flat Road when his lights went out.

The vehicle went across the highway and struck the guardrails before coming to a halt. Cooper was taken by Minnich ambulance to the hospital, while damage to the car was estimated at $15.

Two cars were totally demolished in a collision one and one-half miles east of Table Rock at 11:30 p. m. last Friday.

According to a report filed by Tfc. Russell, a vehicle operated east on Route 50 by Gary Blake Pennington had stopped and backed onto the west shoulder of the road.

An oncoming car operated by Richard C. Kitzmiller, Mt. Storm, ran onto the shoulder and struck Pennington's vehicle. Both Kitzmiller, his passenger, Richard Allen Reall, Gorman, and Pennington were taken by Durst ambulance to Garrett County Memorial hospital, and Kitzmiller was later transferred to West Virginia University Medical Center, Morgantown.

Charges are pending.

Two other persons were injured at 8:45 a. m. on September 28, at the intersection of the Mt. Zion Road and Route 135. Homer L. Paugh, Swanton, was charged by Tfc. D. A. shouldn't have to serve because they are too good—I died so these people could have a little longer time to try to get straightened out in life.

"God knows they need it. Yes, I died for the so-called 'younger generation' of which I was a part but for some unknown reason I never became an active member. I guess I was a 'square' or something with short hair, no police record, didn't drink or smoke (pot included) and volunteered for the service. I died for the parents of these kids also, God forgive them. I died so these members of the 'young generation' could have the right to do what they do. To protest, have long hair, to go to the college of their choice, wear weird clothes, and run around mixed up, with no direction at all.

"I died so they could protest the war I fought and died in. Without it, what would they protest? But I also died for the many thousands who died in this war and other wars before for these same reasons. For the men who fought gallantly on the many battlefields of many wars, to keep this country free. I guess that in order to gain freedom there must be war. I died for the United States".

Problem of Strip Mining Is Aired

Reclamation of strip mine land and the halting of pollution were the two main topics last Saturday at a workshop on Potomac Basin planning held at Frostburg state college.

The workshop was sponsored by the Potomac Basin Center, the Georges Creek Project and the League of Women Voters. Attendance included representatives of state agencies, private industry and sportsmen's organizations.

D. A. Emerson, associate professor of biology at Frostburg State college emphasized that the workshop was to obtain views of various people and agencies so that better planning for the future of the basin would be assured. W. E. Guckert, director of Bituminous Conservation and Reclamation, Pennsylvania Department of Mines and Mineral Industries, showed slides of what had been done in his state to reclaim strip mining areas.

Russell W. Haller, president of the West Freedom Mining Corporation, Kitanning, gave the views of the new Pennsylvania strip mine laws as being completely feasible. Dr. Kenneth Weaver, director of the Maryland Geological Survey and chairman of the Land Reclamation Advisory committee, said the present Maryland strip mining law generally follows the Pennsylvania law but is not quite so stringent. He said the law passed October 1, 1967, further implemented the June law which was a good law and "will do the job of helping to reclaim areas where strip mines have been operated".

W. A. Clinton Irwin, district director, Department of Forests and Parks, spoke on the controversy arising from a mining operator's application to strip mine in the Savage River State forest. State courts have twice ruled in favor of the operator but the state is entering further appeals.

At the conclusion of the workshop Grover C. Little Jr., vice-president of the Appalachian Region of the Izaak Walton League of America, told the audience that concerned citizens can help stir agencies to action in reclaiming land and halting pollution of rivers and streams by making their thoughts known to the proper state agencies.

A general discussion of points raised by workshop speakers, closed the day-long program.

Weather Watchers Claim First Frost Due October 6

Nature watchers are calling for the first frost of the season on October 6, when there will be a full moon. And, according to "woolly-worm" watchers, this winter will be comparatively mild, with the worst snows at the beginning of the season.

As for this week, most of the days followed one another in the pattern of sunny, mild days and cool nights. Temperatures ranged from the upper 60's to the mid-70's most days, with the mercury dropping to as low as mid-30's during some nights, and low 40's at other times.

Last Thursday had cloudy skies, with a few showers before clearing late in the afternoon. High was 62. Friday was sunny and warm, as were both Saturday and Sunday.

Monday and Tuesday brought mostly sunshine, with Tuesday being slightly warmer with a high in the mid-70 range. Wednesday brought cloud-free skies for the most part, although scattered thunder clouds appeared in the afternoon. The rain held off until early Thursday morning, when the mercury stoood at 62 and a light rain was falling.

Col. J. H. Jackson Retires After 33 Years In Service

Col. J. Haig Jackson, after 33 years of service in the Armed Forces, has stepped down from his command to spend retirement here in Oakland.

Col. Jackson, in addition to being a civil engineer, is secretary - treasurer of J. W. Jackson Co., which operates the Ben Franklin store here in Oakland.

Commissioned in the Engineering Reserve from West Virginia University in 1935, Col. Jackson has since served in England, France, Luxemburg, Germany, Austria, Korea and Japan in addition to his service in the World War II battle zones and the Korean war.

For the past four and one-half years, he was stationed as Deputy Chief of Staff at Ft. Belvoir, Va., where he trained individuals and units for deployment to Vietnam. He retired effective September 30.

His medals and honors left little room on his uniform for buttons, since he has earned the Silver Star, Legion of Merit, three Bronze Stars for valor, (two in World War II and one in Korea), the Purple Heart with three oak leaf clusters, the Army Commendation medal (for surviving, he says), the Air Force Commendation Medal; the French Croix de Guerre with Silver Star; The French Croix de Guerre with two bronze stars; the Luxemburg Croix de Guerre; Medal of Verdun; Medal of Metz; and World War II European Theatre with six stars (the Colonel was with the Third Army under Gen. Patton.)

Two of his more outstanding experiences concern his ability as a master diver, and acting as a locomotive engineer in Korea.

Now making his residence on Leighton Lane, he plans to devote his time to acting as a consulting engineer and carrying out his duties for the J. W. Jackson company.

With the Col. is his wife, the former Ruth Ridder, of here. The couple has one daughter, now Mrs. Gary Butts, who is guidance counselor for Moorefield High School.

The destruction of American lives and materials continues to mount in Vietnam as the "peace" negotiations stretch out in Paris in a spectacle of Communist arrogance and of unswerving Communist optimism for victory over the U. S. A. It is all the more incredible when we examine some of the cold facts about this hot war which pits a pigmy half-nation against a world colossus — with the pigmy in the role of the aggressor, and the colossus taking severe and unrelenting punishment.

Into this picture of a grinning David and a bleeding Goliath there has just been introduced a challenging "critique" of U. S. Policy on Vietnam by 12 of America's foremost military leaders, including two commanding troops and 10 who have recently retired and now can speak out publicly. The "critique" was drafted by journalist Lloyd Mallan, and published in Science and Mechanics magazine, after he had interviewed the military men against the wishes of, he said, the civilian heads of the Department of Defense; and perhaps also of the State Department and the White House.

American military leaders whose opinions on Vietnam strategy were gathered by Mr. Mallan were: General Maxwell D. Taylor, former Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and head man in Vietnam for both President Kennedy and President Johnson; General Nathan F. Twining, former JC Chairman; Admiral Arleigh A. Burke, former JC Chairman; General George H. Decker, former Army Chief of Staff; General Frederic H. Smith, former Vice Chief of Staff, Air Force; General Thomas S. Powers, former Commander-in-Chief, Strategic Air Command; Lt.-Gen. Era C. Eaker, former Vice Chief of Staff, Air Force; Lt.-Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, former Army Chief of Research and Development; Maj.-Gen. Gilbert L. Meyers, former Deputy Commander and Seventh Air Force in Vietnam; Brig.-Gen. Henry C. Huglin, former U. S. Representative to Nato; and two other anonymous highly placed military officers.

The critique comes up with the conclusion, unanimously supported (according to Mr. Mallan): We can win the war in six weeks — and we should do it.

"The time estimates for victory in Vietnam", said Mr. Mallan, "are based on serious, lengthy discussions with (the list of 12) some of the most experienced and astute military strategists in this country. Not one of these military authorities knew in advance what the others had told me. Yet everyone of them was in strict agreement with every other one. They were also unanimous in their confidence that neither Russia nor Red China would dare step in physically (militarily) to confront us — if we did what we have to do for victory.

"Here are their recommendations for a quick victory in Vietnam:

"1. Officially declare a state of war against the Hanoi Government.

"2. Immediately close the port of Haiphong, through which Hanoi receives at least 70 percent of her war supplies.

"3. Invade the North above the 17th Parallel.

"4. Swiftly destroy all targets of consequence, after first warning the North Vietnamese people to get out of the target areas.

"5. Warn Red China and Russia that we are now legally at war with North Vietnam — and that any attempt to supply the North with arms would be answered militarily as an overt of war against us".

Funeral Services Held for Shooting Victims Yesterday

Funeral services for Ralph Richard (Ike) Guy, 50, of Church street, Westernport, and his wife, Mrs. Mary Frances Welch Guy, 49, both shooting victims, were conducted from a Piedmont funeral home Wednesday morning, by the pastor of St. Peter's Catholic church there.

Authorities said the Guys were found in their home. Mrs. Guy had been shot four times in the back and twice in the thigh. Mr. Guy was shot once in the mouth. Police said Mr. Guy apparently shot his wife with a .30 calibre rifle and then placed the weapon in his mouth and discharged it.

Mr. Guy, a prisoner of the Japanese for 39 months during World War II, was recently under a physician's care and was treated for a nervous condition in Richmond and Baltimore hospitals.

Mr. Guy enlisted in the Air Force in 1939 and served as a bombardier. He was taken prisoner in 1941.

A native of Westernport he was a son of the late John T. and Ethel Biggs Guy. Mrs. Guy, also born in Westernport, was a daughter of James A. and Nora Ryan Welsh Jr. Mr. Guy was employed as a clerk by the James A. Welsh and Sons, of Westernport. Survivors include a daughter who is a student at Juniata college, Huntingdon, Pa.

Putting-you-firsts:

Headlight washers

You push the windshield washer knob and hold it, and your headlights come clean.

Fluid is diverted to two jet nozzles at each light lens. (Outer lights only on duals.)

The spray removes up to 80% of accumulated dirt.

The feature is standard on 1969 Corvettes. It comes with the hidden headlights available on Camaro, Caprice and Kingswood Estate Wagons. It is available on all other models except Corvair.

Heated glass

In a moment your rear window will self-defrost.

Because we've built onto it a network of tiny ceramic strips capable of heating the entire surface.

Fog and frost disappear quickly and quietly. You just flick a switch.

The heated rear window is available on the 1969 Caprice Coupe and Impala Custom Coupe.

Pushbutton tire chains

You press a button on the instrument panel and the rear tires get a shot of "liquid tire chain."

You spin your wheels once, wait a moment, and you're off—with traction you wouldn't believe possible on slick ice, or packed snow.

Available on all 1969 big Chevrolets.

Steering wheel lock

When you own a car as desirable as the 1969 Chevrolet, you don't take chances.

When you leave it, you lock it. Not just the doors.

You lock the ignition, steering wheel and transmission lever, too.

Our new lock on the steering column takes care of all that.

Standard on all 1969 Chevrolets, Chevelles, Chevy Novas, Camaros and Corvettes.

Sorry, car thieves.

Power steering plus

The 1969 Caprice, Impala and Camaro are available with a new type of power steering.

Variable-ratio power steering.

What it does is give you faster steering with fewer turns of the wheel.

Variable-ratio power steering is particularly helpful in short, full turns.

And parking becomes unbelievably easy. You'll see.

Walk-in wagons

The tailgate swings open like a door on most of our 1969 station wagons.

Which in itself is no big deal.

But wait, there's more.

We've built a concealed step into the rear bumper.

You simply step up, over, and in.

(The way we build our wagons, you can do it without bumping your head, and without acrobatics.)

Walk into a wagon soon at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Lilies All Around!

It didn't take long to find that Easter lilies were limited in their showing. Since last week's story Easter lilies blooming at the home of Miss Marion Leary and Mrs. Anna Meisenbach, it was learned that the lilies also were blooming at the home of Mrs. Karl Kahl, on State road, and the home of Mrs. Delbert Bittinger, in Mt. Lake Park.

The lilies from the garden of Mrs. Deb Bittinger kept the hospital room of Mrs. Mary Dewitt, of Sang Run, cheerful upon several occasions. No doubt there are others.

Bloomington Dam Plan Approved By Legislators

A proposal to require water users in Maryland, West Virginia and Washington, D. C., to help finance the $76 million Bloomington dam has won approval from a Legislative Council committee.

The plan was drafted by a sub-committee after a series of hearings this summer and was approved by the Economic Affairs committee of the council.

The proposal calls for creation of a Maryland Potomac Water Authority which would set up a system by which the areas mentioned along the Potomac would pay for water they take from the river. A similar bill failed to win approval of the Maryland legislature earlier this year.

This would mark the first time that Maryland or any state, charged for the withdrawal of raw water from one of its waterways.

Most of the engineering work has been completed for the Bloomington Dam which is to be located on the Potomac near Shaw, W. Va. The water authority would be governed by a nine-member board. The proposal would require that all decisions of the authority be unanimous.

Members of the authority would be appointed by the Maryland governor and by the governing bodies of Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Montgomery and Prince Georges counties.

Yippee!

Range Bread's corralled wild west flavor!

Made from an honest-to-goodness old west recipe

It's here! A brand new loaf of Old West goodness. Baked chuck wagon style, from the folks who bake Blue Ribbon Sunbeam Bread. And baked from the kind of ingredients homesteaders used. Corn flour, and toasted soya grits . . . a little honey and molasses. All stirred up together for a bread so good your range riders'll stampede at chow time. Rustle up a loaf, ya hear, pardner?

Road Improvements Commissioner Topic

Nineteen property owners requested improvements and added maintenance to the Old Crellin road, between route 39, west of Oakland, to the Dilley road, near Underwood, when the County Commissioners met on September 16.

Allen Paugh made a motion that this fall permission be given to Thomas Sluss, roads engineer, to provide adequate drainage of the road. The delegation was informed that the road would be kept in passable condition.

Other requests about road conditions were made to the County Commissioners.

A group appeared to request improvements to the Swamp road. The board agreed that conditions should be corrected. It was learned that a road off the Green Glade road was not in the county roads system.

Improvement of and maintenance work on Charley Lee road was requested so that Board of Education would provide bus service. The Commissioners are to investigate conditions.

Maintenance work on Zeddock Miller road was requested. The road has been scraped or graded. Drainage and road surface repairs were requested for the Tower road.

Is Guest Speaker At Deer Park

Dr. Jonathan Kwon will be guest speaker at the 7:30 p. m. service at the Deer Park Assembly of God Church, Sunday, Oct. 6.

Dr. Kwon, editor, publisher, radio minister, and director of Underground Evangelism, is touring America during October.

Dr. Kwon whose main offices are in Seoul, Korea, preaches 16 times a week to over 20 million people behind the iron curtain. He also preaches regularly to 2000 students in South Korea.

Dr. Kwon's picture and a description of his work appeared in the October, 1967 issue of the Underground Evangelism Magazine. He says that two-fifths of his people are enslaved by the Communists who are the most evil people in the world; and that American groups crusading for peace at any price in Viet Nam just don't understand the Communists.

Dr. Kwon studied at Kyung Hee University and Kim Kock University. He was graduated from Southern Christian University of Manila, Philippines.

The public is invited.

Only a few days remain in which Oakland area boys may register for the Punt, Pass and Kick Competition open to boys 8 through 13. Eighteen gold, silver and bronze trophies will be awarded during the local competitions which are sponsored by Shaffer Ford Sales and Knight of Columbus, Council 1771, Oakland.

"Every boy has a chance", Donald Savage pointed out, "but registrations close Friday evening, October 4th. Competitions will take place Saturday, Oct. 5th at 1:00 p. m., at Southern High Field.

Review Needed . . .

The National Labor Relations Board, in judging the relationship of unions, management and employees, "displays such flagrant bias that our freebargaining system is seriously impaired", say authors George Dension and William Schulz in the August Reader's Digest.

In an article entitled, "Let's Enforce Our Labor Laws Fairly", they cite case after case to prove that the Board shows "unabashed bias" in many decisions, and they cite the opinions of leading experts as to the devastating effect of these rulings.

Sen. Robert Griffin, co-author of the Landrum-Griffin Act and a top labor expert, says: "Those who suffer from the Board's twisted and distorted rulings are individual workers, small businessmen and the public at large".

Guy Farmer, former NLRB chairman, says that the intent of Congress has been systematically thwarted by the Board in sanctioning union abuses while restricting management rights. In fact, says Farmer, the delicate balance between labor and management has been so altered that "the process of free collective bargaining is rapidly approaching a complete breakdown".

Dr. Herbert R. Northrup, industrial relations professor at the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School says: "In its zeal to enhance the power of no-longer struggling unions, the Board has ignored basic justice and trampled cherished freedom".

There is sufficient evidence in the Reader's Digest article to warrant a full-scale review by Congress of labor law to determine how it can more effectively serve the public interest. —Industrial Press Service.

We're one-fifth Rambler, and all the rest is new.

There was a time when all we made were Ramblers.

And, those Ramblers made our image.

With the predictable result that we got a reputation for building dependable, little cars that were high on economy and low on sex appeal.

We still make the Rambler.

It's a smarter buy than it ever was.

But it's no Javelin.

When American Motors can build a hot, sporty car that out-sports the other sporty cars, that's news.

So far, more than 45,000 sporty-car drivers have decided that the Javelin is a better car for the money.

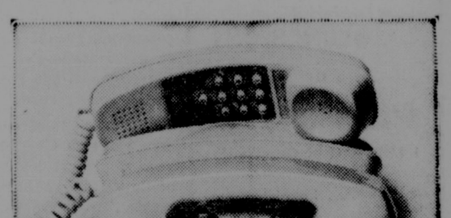
The Ambassador SST 4-door sedan is our luxury car. It comes with standard air-conditioning, standard V-8, standard automatic transmission, optional velour seats, a long, long wheelbase for an elegant limousine ride, and an astonishingly low price for the package.

We also make the Rebel.

The Rebel is the family car that dared to cross the treacherous Baja peninsula. Most of the specially equipped cars that start this trip never finish. The Rebel did.

But, if anything changes our image, it will be the AMX, our two-seater sports car.

The AMX, specially equipped and modified, has set 106 American, national and international speed records.



At this point, it looks like our image will never survive.

THE WORLD'S STRONGEST MAN

The day little Jimmie admired my muscles I was the strongest man in the whole world. And so I remained until the next morning when I got into an argument with that big kid in the next block. Then a humiliating retreat seemed preferable to a bloody nose.

Life hasn't changed much since I've grown up. Sometimes on Sunday I am so confident of my human might that I glibly pass up the spiritual resources my neighbors are finding in church. And by Monday I'm wondering where to turn for help in some insurmountable difficulty.

Experience is forever teaching me that my own self-confidence is mostly self-delusion. The men I admire seem absolutely honest about their own limitations, and absolutely certain about God's strength.

One Sunday as I sat in a pew and watched others receiving Communion this thought struck me: Among those who kneel reverently before an altar today is undoubtedly the world's strongest man.

LISTENING?

Lesson for October 6, 1968

Background Scripture: Hebrews 1 through 3.
Devotional Reading: Hebrews 2:4-10.

Some time ago I saw a skit in which there is a man who is wailing: "I've lost God! I can't find him!" But a friend takes the distraught man by the arm and says: "Don't get excited; just sit down, be calm, and try to remember where you had him last."

Rev. Althouse

This little skit is illustrative of the situation in which many people find themselves today. While a small contingent of theologians has proposed that God is dead, others have countered, saying, in effect, "No, it's just that he has been temporarily misplaced!" Whereas in other times men have seemed preoccupied with the experience of his presence, it is the sense of his absence that troubles many today. As some have put it, "Currently, God is conspicuous by his absence!"

The elusive one

Before you write this off as simply some new twist of contemporary theology, remember that this is a very ancient emotion. The Psalms are full of exasperated cries for God. At one point, the Prophet Isaiah cries out: "Truly, thou art a God who hidest thyself" (Isaiah 45:15). But nowhere is the theme more poignantly stated than in Job 23 where the tormented man cries: "Oh that I knew where I might find him, that I might come even to his seat." No matter where he has looked, God has seemed to elude him: "Behold, I go forward, but he is not there; and backward, but I cannot perceive him; on the left hand I seek him, but I cannot behold him; I turn to the right hand, but I cannot see him." Even Jesus reached out for the assurance of God's presence when on the cross he repeated the ancient words of the Psalmist: "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?"

That's God, all right!

In C. E. Montagu's novel, Rough Justice, (Doubleday, Page and Company, 1926) a father has asked his son whether he believes in God. The boy replies uncertainly that sometimes he feels "Something" stirring within him, some unexplainable, yet undeniable presence. When he finishes, his father exclaims: "That's God all right!" His son had discovered that one doesn't have to search to the ends of the earth, memorize the right creed, joing the correct church, practice the right ritual, or express his experience in the right words. He didn't have to search for God at all, because God, it turned out, was the one who did the searching.

We do not find him, but from time to time we allow him to find us. It is not God who has been misplaced, but we. We are the elusive, slippery ones. We are the ones who, like the Prodigal Son, leave the Father's house, break off all communication and go into the far country.

The relentless God

Yet it is a relentless God who pursues us. When Adam hid himself in the Garden, it was God who came looking for him. When Jonah fled to escape him, God followed wherever he went. Like a shepherd, says Isaiah, he tends his flock and moves heaven and earth to bring back the lost.

As the writer of Hebrews makes clear, then, it is not God who breaks off the dialogue. "In many and various ways God spoke of old to our fathers by the prophets; but in these last days he has spoken to us by a Son . ." (Hebrews 1:1,2 RSV0 God continues to speak now as always. This is what Dag Hammarskjold meant when he wrote:

*"How can you expect to keep your powers of hearing when you never want to listen? That God should have time for you, granted as that you cannot have time for Him."

God still speaks. Are you listening?

Northern apparently could do nothing wrong and Valley High of Lonaconing could do nothing right as Clark Glotfelty led the Northern Huskies to a 33-6 rout of Tri Valley conference foe Valley at Lonaconing last Friday evening.

Glotfelty romped to the first two Huskies scores within minutes of each other to open the game and chewed out 148 yards on 17 carries to pace the game's gainers. He went over tackle on the first play of the Huskies' second series of the game. Wayne Georg, senior Huskie signal caller, operated the team from every offensive angle. He hit on 8 of 14 passes for 90 yards and two touchdowns.

Eddie Bach and Larry Brenneman broke loose for long gainers and sweeping end runs. Brenneman averaged 11.8 yards on eight carries while Bach hit the Valley defense at a 7.7 clip on 11 carries.

Northern handled the ball on eight series and scored on five of them. They led 28 to 0 before losing the ball on downs late in the third period. A two-pointer came when, after turning the ball over on the Knights' four-yard line, Huskie Ken Gilpin blocked Jim Duncan's punt, the ball rolling out of the end zone bounds.

Following his 70-yard sprint in the first quarter Glotfelty tacked on a second score early in the second period. Seconds before the first half gun Georg made it 18-0 with a five-yard flip to end Gary Reichenbecher. That score climaxed a 90-yard march.

On the Knight's first play from scrimmage in the second half quarterback Larry Miller bobbled the ball and Reichenbecher recovered on the Valley 33 and four plays later Brenneman went over for the fourth score. Only then, following the safety and trailing 26 to 0 did the Knights seem to generate an offense. They drove 90 yards to their only score, aided by four long Huskie penalties, two each on personal fouls and pass interference.

The Huskies marched back to make their final touchdown on a pass from Georg to Bach. The loss was the second for the Knights against two victories. Northern is now 3-1 after dropping the opener to Bruce 18-6. The Huskies will meet Mountaineer high of Davis on the home gridiron on Friday night, October 4.

County Is Fifth In Bond Sales

Garrett County was in fifth place this month in percentage of Series E and H Savings bonds sales throughout Maryland, according to the monthly tabulation for January through August issued by the State chairman.

Freedom share note sales were still gaining, according to the report, a part of the increase attributed to relaxing of treasury regulations which now permit individuals to purchase the E bond freedom share combination over the counter.

Garrett County was one of ten counties congratulated on obtaining 66 percent or more of their yearly quota, through August. Garrett County's quota was 71.2 percent, with Somerset, Charles, Baltimore and Queen Annes counties having a greater percentage.

The 1968 quota for the county is $358,000. Sales during August amounted to $24,817. Total sales, January through August totaled $254,961, compared to $217,228 for the same period of the previous year.

Somerset county, heading the list, has a quota of $156,000, and has a total of $123,006 for the eight months period.

Before you buy any Color TV, give Philco Color TV the Face Test and compare!

Model 6650WA
23" picture measured diagonally.
295 sq.in. picture

How to give THE FACE TEST:

1. Look closely at some faces on the screen. Are they too red? Too green? Philco's special color circuit produces a wider range of flesh tones. It catches the subtle shades of color that make faces more life-like.
2. Try the tint control. Do the faces jump to violent red or green? If so, you'll have a hard time adjusting that set. Philco's color circuitry provides a wider range of flesh colors—gives you room to adjust skin tones more accurately.

Philco gets the faces right. The rest is easy.

Now with Philco Tuning Eye plus A.C.T. (Auto-lock Channel Tuning) Now you can fine tune Philco Color TV in an instant. Just turn the tuning dial until the lighted Tuning Eye narrows and flick the A.C.T. switch. Picture and sound come in sharp and clear every time.

NOTHING IN THIS SUBTITLE SHALL AFFECT THE POWER OF ANY COUNTY, MUNICIPALITY, OR OTHER LOCAL GOVERNMENT TO ENACT ORDINANCES ON ANY SUBJECT COVERED BY THIS SUBTITLE; PROVIDED THAT NO SUCH ORDINANCE SHALL PERMIT THE DOING OF ANY ACT WHICH WOULD BE A DISCRIMINATORY OR UNLAWFUL REAL ESTATE PRACTICE UNDER THIS SUBTITLE.

It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that this subtitle would have been adopted if such illegal, invalid, or unconstitutional provision, sentence, clause, section or part had not been included therein, and if the person or circumstances to which the ordinance or any part thereof is inapplicable had been specifically exempted therefrom.

Complimentary 4-H Baby Beef tickets are being presented to Mr. Courtney Tusing, Vice President of the First National Bank of Oakland by Miss Alice E. Hevner, as the first event in observance of National 4-H Club Week. The steer was purchased at the 4-H Baby Beef Sale at the Garrett County Fair by the First National Bank of Oakland, and donated to the Garrett County 4-H Council. It will be awarded October 12, with proceeds to be used for the council's scholarship fund and for educational activities.

National 4-H Week Set For Oct. 6 to 12

National 4-H Week, October 6-12, will be observed across the nation by more than three million 4-H youths, a half-million volunteer leaders, thousands of professional workers and friends of 4-H. Several activities are planned by County 4-H groups, according to Miss Alice E. Hevner, Extension Agent, 4-H and Youth.

One of the advances in 4-H project work has been more emphasis on science, experimentation and efficient farm and home management. Personal development and leadership also have been accelerated, she said.

Introduction to 4-H via television is another major advance. Projects such as general science, automotive, electric, dog care and training, and emergency preparedness are among the TV series offered by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Any boy or girl can be a 4-H'er: as a regular club member, a TV member, or a short term project member. The Extension Service has worked out simplified programs to fit families in isolated or low income communities, it was ponted out.

Among some 50 programs which carry awards for outstanding achievement, are home economics, health, safety, field crops science, conservation, livestock, marketing, photography and veterinary science.

Support comes from private industry in the form of scholarships, educational trips, reference books and technical assistance.

"There's something for everyone in 4-H, including parents, and everyone gets something out of 4-H" observed Miss Hevner. Working on projects of their own choice often paves the way for a college education or a future career, she added.

The slogan for National 4-H Week is: "Join 4-H . . .A World of Opportunity". Parents are invited to learn more about 4-H and enroll their youngsters. Information can be obtained from Miss Hevner, at the County Extension office, post office building, Oakland.

Fiddler's Taxi Gets Magazine Story

"Small World" magazine contains an article in its recent issue about Fiddler's Taxi Service in Oakland. The magazine is a quarterly for Volkswagen owners in the United States.

The fall issue contains an article about Otis Feather, owner and operator of the taxi service, who uses a Volkswagen sedan as his means of transporting his customers.

Feather had said he had considered calling his cab "Feather's Fiddler's Taxi Service", but the words were longer than the cab, so he simplified the title to "Fiddler's Taxi", the magazine relates.

Eleven Are Killed On State Highways

Eleven persons were killed on Maryland highways last week, according to the weekly survey published by the State Police. Five of those killed were drivers; three were passengers; and three were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in six of the deaths; speed in five; and "driver error" in nine.

"With the passing of time it it becoming increasingly evident that many of us who have driven for years and consider ourselves 'good drivers' because of our experience would do well to realize that new highway designs and increased traffic problems have made a 'driving refresher course' necessary. Such a defensive driving course is readily available", noted Lt. Col. George E. Davidson, Deputy Superintendent of the State Police, "and every driver can gain much by exposure to this training program.

"It is suggested that drivers who have not already taken the course contact the State Police for arrangements to enroll".

Japan's oldest man is said to be 116.

Events Above The Mountain Top

By Paul S. Frank Jr.

October 3 3- 9

On Sunday, October 6, the moon will put on quite a show for us. At 8:05 a. m. it passes through its full phase.

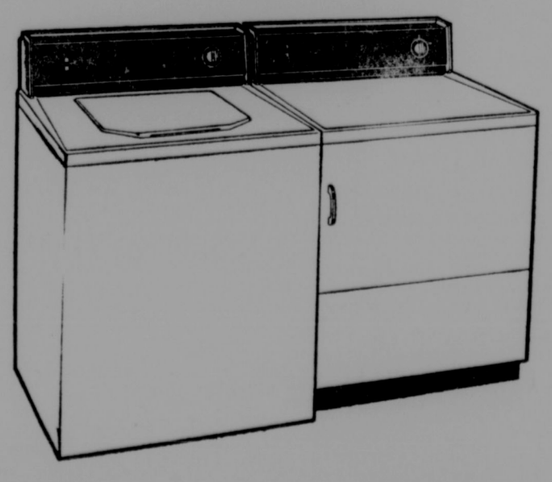
Earlier that morning the moon entered the earth's shadow. This entry at 5:02 a. m. may be seen from Garrett County. Slightly over an hour later at 6:13 a. m. this satellite enters the dark portion of the shadow, the umbra. As it passes into this part of the shadow, it will gain a reddish hue. Unfortunately the moon will set before this lunar eclipse is completed. To see the beginning of the eclipse one must look toward the southwest.

When the moon rises Sunday evening as the sun sets, it will appear sooner than a full moon generally appears. This is because it rises more perpendicularly to the horizon at this time of the year. For several days, both before and after Sunday, this will occur. The moon is near the point in the sky termed the vernal equinox during this period. Since this full moon offers bright light early in the evening, which is a help to harvesters, it has long been named the harvest moon.

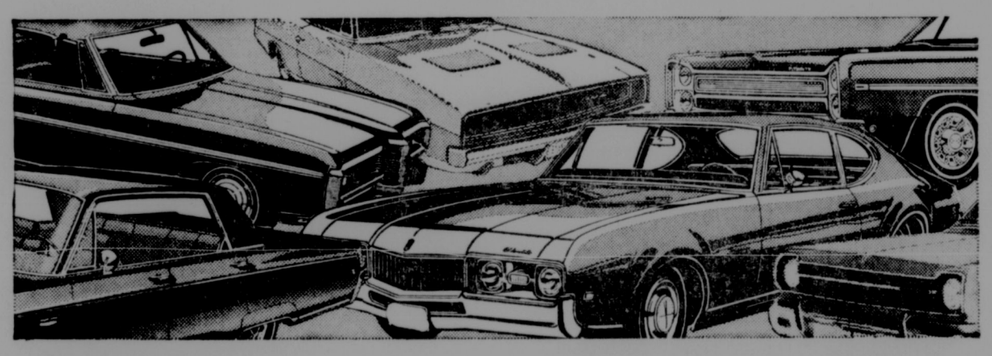
The visible planets to the unaided eye are Saturn, Venus, Mars, and Jupiter. Saturn rises shortly after sunset in the constellation of Pisces. Venus sets an hour after the sun sets. It is in Virgo. Mars rises several hours before the sun in the constellation, Leo. Jupiter has been behind the sun for the last few months. It rises about an hour before the sun during this week.

Today the sun chases night as it rises at 7:16 a. m., but the darkness returns as the sun sets at 6:58 p. m. Next Wednesday sunrise is at 7:22 a. m., and sunset is at 6:48 p. m. During the week the daylight fives sixteen minutes to the night.

Yesterday Mrs. Blake and Mrs. Myers' fifth grade classes from Dennett Road were introduced to the solar system by the science center planetarium. Today the Allegany County Outdoor School made its fourth visit of the fall. On Tuesday Mr. Lovelace's sixth grade from Accident will study constellations. Next Wednesday the kindergarten and first grade under Mrs. Minick an Miss Hughes of Rt. 40 School will study the phenomena of day and night.



Quartet To Sing



The Jubilators quartet will present a musical program on Friday, October 4, at 8 o'clock at the Cherry Grove Church of the Brethren, located at the intersection of the New Germany and Avilton roads, just off Rt. 40.

FLIES ARE DIRTY AND A HAZARD TO HEALTH
The common house fly is an ill-bred, badmannered, pesty insect. They wade around in outdoor filth, garbage, sewage and manure. Then they fly to the nearest human home and get in through a crack in the door or a hole in the screen. Among the diseases spread by flies are bacillary dysentery, typhoid, staphylococal food poisoning and amebiasis.
Flies are a nuisance at mealtimes. They crawl over anything from food to the baby's face, always depositing some of the filth picked up outside. Greet them with a shower of insect spray. We would like to help you select an effective product that will kill every fly.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 92. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., OCTOBER 10, 1968 PER COPY 10c NUMBER 32.

Nixon's The One . . .

Unqualified backing to the presidential candidacy of Richard M. Nixon is being given by more and more influential newspapers, and this newspaper is in complete agreement. Many more are expected to follow the trend.

The Scripps Howard chain of seventeen large dailies is backing the Republican candidate as well as the Richmond News Leader and the Birmingham News. He is being endorsed, not as the least of three evils, but rather he is considered the candidate most capable and the most experienced. He has 14 years of experience at the high reaches of national life. He offers no radical, or unusual departures from good government, and he is safe and honorable.

One hears in some areas and from Hubert Humphrey, Nixon's Democratic opponent, that this country never "had it so good". But as the Richmond paper pointed out, "in what areas?" And it points out, "Is U. S. better off than eight years ago? Have taxes declined? Did American operation at Bay of Pigs succeed? Are farmers better off? Has Vietnam war been won?

Given 16 Years In Rape Case

Queen Anne Co. Youth Found Guilty Last Wednesday

Michael Eugene Conway, 19, of Queen Anne's County, who was found guilty last Wednesday afternoon in Garrett County Circuit Court of the rape of an 18-year-old Stevensville girl, was sentenced to sixteen years in prison last Thursday afternoon.

The sentence was passed by Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill after the petit jury which included two women had found him guilty and gave a verdict that requested no capital punishment.

Judge Hamill ordered Conway to be turned over to the State Commissioner of Correction.

His initial trial in Oakland last April ended with the jury hopelessly deadlocked after deliberating five and one-half hours. Last Wednesday the jury was out just one and one-half hours.

The assault was declared to have occurred January 5 in a service station owned by the defendant's father.

Attorneys for the defense included Edward Turner and James E. Thompson of Queen Anne's county, along with William W. Grant of Oakland.

Fred A. Thayer, State's attorney here, assisted the state's attorney of Queen Anne's county, J. Thomas Clark, in the prosecution.

After the jury's verdict Wednesday, the defense attorneys filed a motion for a new trial but this was denied by Judge Hamill. The sentence was set to begin January 6, 1968.

Three days were taken to select the jury and try the case.

All were given probation without verdict and placed under supervision of the County Department of Juvenile Services. Each was ordered to make restitution to the telephone company of $30.99 each.

An adult, Robert Eugene Suter, Friendsville, was tried on charges of allowing youth to hide stolen soft drinks in his car August 23 and furnishing transportation to steal property of Carlton Sisler. He entered a plea of not guilty and the court found him not guilty.

National 4-H Club Week Is Observed

Garrett County 4-H'ers are joining 3 million other young people across the United States as National 4-H Club Week is observed this week, Oct. 6 to 12. With "Expand 4-H" as the National theme, Garrett's 500 4-H'ers are helping to promote 4-H to the residents of the county and to visitors.

In publicizing 4-H, window displays have been set up in the local communities having 4-H clubs. These have been judged and awarded ribbons and prizes by the County 4-H Council.

In carrying out the "Expand 4-H" theme, an enrollment contest is being sponsored by the council during the month of October. This contest is based on percentage of increased enrollment over last year.

Many 4-H'ers are combining efforts to observe National 4-H Club Week and help with the Autumn Glory Turkey Festival celebration of Garrett County, it was explained by Miss Alice E. Hevner, extension agent for 4-H and youth. Several clubs and the County Council have designed floats for the parade on Saturday October 12, in Oakland.

Voices of 4-H'ers can be heard over the local Teenage Disc Jockey show each evening this week as they dedicate records and explain the 4-H program. The voices include those of James Crabtree and David Ingram, Southenders 4-H Club; Sharon Fike, Southwesterns 4-H Club, Becky Carroll, Red House; Debbie DeWitt and Linda Dodge, North Glade; Rodney Glotfelty, Bittinger Boys 4-H Club; Linda D. Glotfelty, Bittinger Girls 4-H Club, Liz Sharps and Libby Stover, Monte Vista 4-H Club.

for Oakland by the Mayor and Council, who also granted permission to the Promotion Council to hold its Turkey festival parade on Saturday, October 12.

A motion was made that in the future any major parade must be planned in cooperation with the Mayor and Council 30 days preceding the parade date.

In response to a letter from the Business and Professional Women's club of Oakland, stating the need for a community recreation center, Mayor H. D. Swartzentruber and the chairman of the Building and Grounds committee were appointed to serve as committee representatives of the Oakland governing body. The club also requested a contribution pledge from the town.

It was noted that the Oakland water works received an award of Merit from the Chesapeake Section of American Water Works association for having had no lost time accidents during the year.

Mrs. Lewis Jones asked that the county work on the alley behind the Ruth Enlow library be okayed by the Street Superintendent. Compliance was given.

A letter from the Department of Forests and Parks regarding the Little Youghiogheny Recreation area reported that the project has been qualified and approved for Land and Water Conservation Fund act monies totaling $10,180.50.

Chester Engineers, of Pittsburgh, sent the town a letter saying the Soil Conservation Service has very nearly completed plans for construction of the required dam, and that it would be possible for them to ask construction bids by the first of the year. The letter reminded that the town is required to acquire the land and take action necessary to dewater the present pond on Broadford Run downstream from and adjacent to the proposed embankment. The town must also make arrangements to finance the local share of the project's cost.

The Department of Forests and Parks wrote requesting the total acreage acquired for conservation and recreation during the year ending December 31, 1968, and also the estimated dollars spent both during the year and also in previous years.

A water sample taken August 26 from the Buick garage and analyzed in Cumberland showed the water to be safe for use.

Collections, Expenditures

Collections for September amounted to $18,217.10, including $279.25 from June water; $451.81 from taxes; $367.50 for water and sewer taps, and $3,733.64 from gas tax fund.

A total of $11,168.33 was paid out during the month, with $190 going to the Maryland Municipal League; $112 going to the scale; and $302.95 for water plant electricity.

The collections added to the balance of $1,787.44 on September 1 amounted to $20,004.54. That amount minus the month's expenditures left a balance of $8,836.21 in the treasury.

Other letters received by the Mayor and Town Council included one from the Garrett County Community Action, which was a reply to a request that it restore Washington Spring and replace the pillars at Cornish Manor. The Community Action officials said that lack of available manpower at present necessitated that they turn down the request for the present.

Sharps Motor Co. informed the town of the theft of two bucket seats on September 11 from their used car lot beside their establishment.

Among the building permits granted was one to Garrett County Memorial hospital, to construct a four-story addition at a cost of $1,078,054; one to Ralph Pritts and Sons, to erect an addition 89 by 50 feet to their present garage building at a cost of $18,000; and one to Charlie Brown to construct a 28 by 16 foot addition to his structure at 702 E. Oak, at an approximate cost of $3,500.

It was also noted that the Pennsylvania Electric company was granted a rehearing appeal regarding its lake license.
